Those students who made a mistake, last September, in registering for some courses that they did not want should profit by experience and arrange their courses definitely for the next semester. Too many plunge blindly into their work and grope through the year with no other aim than to have gained so many more hours of credit. The old adage, "Hitch your wagon to a star," means much. The future will bring no disappointments, if the present contains a definite purpose with the means of reaching it well planned.

The last few weeks have certainly given proof of the statement, often made, that the University student has a great many advantages over the student of other educational institutions of the state. At the last meeting of the state teacher's association, the students were permitted to listen to very able discussions of educational questions. The session of the State Horticultural society just closed was full of highly instructive as well as entertaining addresses on topics of interest to the student. The same may be said of the meeting of the State Horticultural society. And especially has the student body been fortunate in the matter of the art exhibition. For a nominal sum he has been permitted to enjoy the productions of America's greatest artists. All these opportunities go far in the way of education and come rarely to any but the State University students.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The Y. M. C. A. of Michigan publish an independent paper known as the "Association Letter."

Alumni of Cornell have organized an association in the Philippines.

The invested funds of Harvard as reported by the treasurer amounts to $13,119,538.61.

The Stanford glee and musical clubs have been giving a series of concerts for three weeks in southern California.

Stanford has established a club boarding house called the "Inn," and it has proved so far very successful.

The Yale basket-ball team recently returned from a trip of twelve days which was the longest ever attempted by a Yale athletic organization. The team defeated all college opponents but Minnesota.

At the finals of the intercollegiate games of chess, the Yale team was victorious; Columbia second; Harvard third; Princeton fourth.

The Japanese students at Yale have organized a debating society. The debates will be given in English.

The faculty of Harvard is composed of 337 men. It is the largest in the country.

Instead of the cane rush as the annual contest between the two lower classes, Rutgers has adopted the rope rush. A number of strands of rope are distributed among the contestants and, at a given signal, attempts are made to tie each other. The class tying the greatest number wins.—Cornell Daily Sun.

The Y.M.C.A. of Oregon University is having a college building erected. It is valued at $10,000.

Stanford University is having a large Mechanical Engineering building erected.

By the defeat of Stanford by Michigan the latter has the football score for the season of 550 to 0.

M. Edwards, a former Princeton guard, is the most likely candidate for coach of the Wisconsin team for next year.

The new chair of Chinese at Columbia will probably be offered to Wu-Ting-Fang, present Chinese minister to the United States, as soon as it is established.

An epidemic of small-pox is prevalent at Pennsylvania and all the students are being vaccinated.

Stanford at its recent mid-year commencement granted diplomas to twenty-nine students.
