Turquoises in Asia.
 Turquoises are the favorite stones of all the Mongol races, and are generally worn in their original state, except by the Chinese women, who have them roughly cut, and wear them mixed with pearls and coral. Both the Tibetan men and women ornament themselves with lump turquoises, the men wearing them attached to their single gold earrings, which are worn in the right ear only. The women of Ladakh carry their fortunes on their hands, in the shape of a broad strip of red cloth studded with huge tur-quoises, which, starting from the forehead, is carried over the head, and hangs nearly to the waist. These peraks, as they are called, sometimes cost as much as £20. By the Ladakhis those turquoises are preferred that have little black specks on them.

W. J. BRYAN

"Tumble Weeds."

"Tumble Weeds" is a collection of original poems by Will Reed Dunroy, the author of "Corn Tassels." While some of these poems have special reference to western life, most of them are upon themes as broad as humanity, and they give evidence of an unusual degree of poetic talent in the author. W. J. BRYAN, in the Commoner.

At all good bookstores or of the University Publishing Co., Lincoln, Nebraska, $1.00, postage prepaid.
