LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1902.

THREE CENTS

NOW FOR COLORADO

First Debating Contest of the Year Will Take Place Friday Night.—Men are in Hard Training.

Now for the Nebraska-Colorado debate—the first of the year's exhibitions of what the University of Nebraska can do in the line of intellect. There have been many opportunities this year for Nebraska to show what her brawn and her athletic skill of various kinds can do. Friday night, in Memorial hall, the public and the college world will have a chance to see what Nebraska brain can do when pitted against Colorado logic.

Last year Colorado came out ahead—which was a pity. What three trained judges think of the comparative merits this year will appear late Friday evening.

The judges for this debate will be the Hon. John H. McIntosh of Omaha, a graduate of Harvard ('84), Mr. Albert Watkins of Lincoln, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin ('71) and Judge S. H. Sedgwick of York, an alumnus of one of the western colleges and a member of the Nebraska supreme court.

The university band will be present to help Nebraska start the fight in earnest and to enliven the evening generally.

Governor Savage will preside and join the students in greeting the representatives of the state of Colorado.

Nebraska's team, the members of which are Neil M. Cronin, 1903; Charles A. Kutcher, law 1903, and Thomas A. Maxwell, 1903, ends its preparation this evening with a practice debate in Memorial hall—secret practice. Tomorrow and Friday the team will rest up for Friday night's battle.

Last Friday night the team and other members of the debating squad debated before a crowded chapel at Cotner university.

The interstate debate will be opened for the affirmative by Mr. Maxwell, a practical speaker, well known in Lincoln. Mr. Kutcher will reply to Colorado's lead-off and Mr. Cronin will wind up the case for Nebraska. To Mr. Cronin has also been assigned the ten-minute speech in refutation.

The Rocky Mountain News of Denver has sent here for the photographs of the Nebraska debaters.

The Colorado logicians, whose pictures show them to be a fine looking trio, are Chester F. Hoyt, Eric J. Lake and C. William Weiser.

Chancellor Phillips went to Aurora last week to preside over an election held by the company of state militia of which he is captain.

THE COLLEGE SETTLEMENT.

At the last convocation before the Easter recess Professor Caldwell, treasurer of the College Settlement board, gave his report of the finances of the association. From Professor Candy, the former treasurer, he received, in November, 1901, the sum of $763.83, which was money collected from citizens, faculty and students. He has also received since then $118 from subscriptions, and $29.45 from entertainments. Of this amount, $1,003.20 has been paid on the house being constructed, besides $50 which has been donated in the way of labor and material. There is $16.08 on hand, with pledges for $12. In order to successfully carry on the work of the settlement, $800 more is needed, which the authorities expect to obtain by popular subscription and from the proceeds of

OPENS NEXT WEEK

Base Ball Season to be Ushered in by Games With the Omaha League.

—Some Probable Positions.

The first ball games of the season will be played April 7, 8 and 9 with the Omaha league team. The varsity team is made up of students, and not professionals, and consequently the two teams are not considered as belonging to the same class of ball players. The games with the Omaha league have always been looked upon as merely practice games, and a defeat from their hands is not really recorded against the nine. If the varsity can defeat the league team they should receive all the more honor and credit. The men are all showing up well in their different positions, and some of

As all the speakers were students, the addresses were received with vociferous applause. Though small in attendance, the meeting was very enthusiastic.

C. R. Cushman was elected into the society.

J. A. Green, a student of the civil engineering department, has accepted a position as instrument man with the Chicago Great Western Railway company. He will be in charge of a party on reconstruction. Last summer Mr. Green was engaged as assistant in similar work with the C. R. I. & P. in New Mexico. He will leave Friday for Fort Dodge to take up his new work.

Professor Chatburn of the civil engineering department has gone to Iowa to attend the funeral of his father.

Professor Evans has gone home on a short vacation. During his absence Mr. Hunt will have charge of his classes.

H. C. Kendall and J. E. Brooke, two seniors in the electrical engineering course went to Fremont and Omaha during vacation, on work connected with their theses. They made the journey on their wheels.

S. D. Clinton and W. M. Kallasch have been engaged in a very lucrative business of surveying lots in East Lincoln during vacation.

GRADUATION RECITAL.

The graduation recital of Miss Alleyne Archibald, pupil of Mr. Henry Eames, will be held Thursday evening, April 3, in Memorial hall. The program follows:

NEBRASKA VS. COLORADO, FRIDAY NIGHT.

a lecture to be delivered by Mr. Adams of Chicago. There will also be a play given May 2 under the auspices of the department of elocution, from which it is expected that a neat little sum will be netted. The leading parts of the play will be taken by Coach Booth and Miss Howells.

Professor Candy spoke of the support rendered the settlement by the business men of the city. In consideration of the fact that one-half of the money contributed comes from them, it seems only right, he said, that they should be represented in the board of control. Professor Candy moved that the board of control consist of ten members, of which there should be three faculty members, four representatives from the students and three business men.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

W. J. Bryan was introduced and discussed at some length the benefits to be derived from college settlements.

Three hundred specimens of West African fungi were received Saturday by the botany department. They were collected by Dr. Griffiths, a graduate student here some years ago.

the places are already assured. Raymond will undoubtedly play first base. Hood's swift work makes him an indispensable article on third, and De Putron's steady eye and ability to cover ground will be the main feature in center field. Rhodes is a permanent fixture as shortstop. Captain Bell will undoubtedly play his old position in right field. Shelmer is showing up well on the right. Townsend and Gaines will probably alternate in the box and on second. Bender and Doane are both good men behind the bat. Besides these men there is an abundance of other good material to draw from. Wright, Thompson, Roth, Mulliken, Clum and others are good men and much can be expected from them.

ENGINEERING NOTES.

The engineering society held its regular meeting last Wednesday eve. H. C. Searles spoke on the "Characteristics of the Missouri River." This was followed by a talk on the new Platts-mouth bridge by W. M. Kallasch. Mr. Kallasch, along with the other members of the bridge class, visited Platts-mouth while the work of sinking the new pier was in progress and was shown the plans in detail by the engineer in charge.

Mr. Pepperberg next gave a short talk on "Co-operation vs. Corporations."
