Nebraska's victory over Colorado now appears to have been all the more pronounced because at least two of the judges are now known to have been prejudiced against municipal ownership and operation of street railways. Nebraska won, then, by sheer force of convincing arguments.

The last game of the series with the Omaha league will be played on the campus this afternoon and everyone interested in the university should make it his or her business to attend.

The varsity makes no pretensions of being in the same class with professionals, but nevertheless they are showing Omaha that they can play ball. So far the games have been rather poorly attended, and the ladies especially have been conspicuous for their absence. The bad weather has been partly to blame for this, but every one should make a special effort to be out this afternoon.

Come prepared to cheer Captain Bell's men on to victory, but if they are again defeated do not think it is because they cannot play ball. A baseball game with professionals and one with a college team are two different things.

A small collection of western specimens, rocks and minerals, recently sent to an eastern college by Miss Edith Webster, has brought a letter asking for $300 worth of material, which will be furnished from the collections of the Hon. Charles Morrill. The proceeds will be used to pay the expense of future expeditions.

The address this evening before the engineering society will be given by Hugh Wilson on "Railroading as a Profession for College Men." Mr. Wilson graduated from the civil engineering department of the university in 1897. He went to work for the B. & M. as section hand and worked his way up to the position of roadmaster, from Lincoln to Kearney, the position which he now holds.

Professor Bruner and Mr. Cary, who for the past two months, have been in Costa Rica in the interest of the department of ornithology and entomology, left that country on the 31st of last month and will return via New York in order to avoid quarantine. They are expected to be at home about April 11. The other members of the party will remain to continue their investigations.

FRESHMEN MEETING.

The Freshmen were called together yesterday by President Sawyer to consider the question of having a freshman hop. It was determined that the class would give such a social affair Saturday evening, May 3, either at the armory or auditorium.

A committee will be appointed by the president to take further action and make the proper preparations.

The significance of the crepe bow, which happened to be above the picture of Mr. Hoyt, the Colorado debater who could not debate on account of a severe cold, was amusingly misinterpreted by one student, who, the story goes, gravely ejaculated to a member of the debating squad, "That Colorado man who was sick is dead. They have crepe over his picture."

The freshmen and sophomores of Kansas university are having trouble. Twenty-eight students were suspended last week by Vice Chancellor Spangler for participating in a class fight. Most of them have been suspended for thirty days. The boys of both classes have voted to leave school if the action is carried and are supported in the position they take by some of the faculty members. The worst injury is reported to be a black eye administered to a student by a professor who was attempting to quell the disturbance. The students contemplate instituting proceedings against the professor for assault and battery.

Jollification over the victory still continues. The faculty bulletin board, on which the pictures of the Colorado debaters were hung before the debate, has been attracting much attention this week. Over the photographs of the vanquished team droops a crepe bow. The pictures of the victors are also there, decorated with the scarlet and cream, and underneath them is the Colorado tombstone quotation referred to by Hon. Paul Clark at convocation last winter, when he urged members of the faculty to interest themselves in city politics so that when they die it may be said of them, as it was of the Colorado miner, "He done his damndest. No angel could do more."

BIG HORN BASIN.

Are you interested in the Big Horn Basin of Wyoming?

It's a rich but undeveloped portion of northwestern Wyoming. It contains marvellous openings for small ranches along good streams in the valleys, with one million acres of government land open to settlement under the United States land laws.

The Burlington Route has just published a folder descriptive of the Big Horn Basin. It is illustrated and contains an accurate map. It tells about the lay of the land, character of the soil, products, yield, irrigation and opportunities.

If you're interested, better write for a copy. It's free. J. FRANCIS, General Passenger Agent, Omaha, Neb.

Modern Languages

Taught by the Phonograph. Why does one learn to speak and understand French by going to France, or German by going to Germany, etc., without the aid of books or instruments? Why do foreigners learn our language so quickly, when coming to this country, even though they cannot read or write.

THE SECRET OF IT ALL

is, they cannot help it. Wherever they go, wherever they turn, to whom they might speak, they hear only the language of that country.

Should your teacher come in your room and talk for one hour each day in a foreign language, you could not help imitating his pronunciation, and soon learn to recognize the meaning, no matter how fast it is spoken. A teacher you do not like to ask to repeat it too often. By our system, you can listen for 24 hours each day, if you choose, and at the end of that time the enunciations come to you just as fresh and cheerful as at first. Call at store and let us demonstrate to you at any time.
