Several additional boxes of apparatus for the department of botany were received yesterday.

Jerry Rebneau, '98, writes that he is just entering the Yale forestry school for a year's study. He has been with a forestry party in Pennsylvania the past summer.

The principal classes in botany are much larger than last year, and in some cases great difficulty has been experienced in securing sufficient room for the laboratory work.

Arthur Welch, '02, is recovered from a four weeks' seige of typhoid fever in a hospital at Chicago. Mr. Welch went to Chicago last summer and began a course in shorthand with the purpose of securing a newspaper position.

Malcolm Campbell is confined to his room as the result of a painful accident which happened evening before last. While lighting a fire in the grate with what he supposed to be kerosene, but which, through a mistake of the oil man, was really gasoline, the oil flared up and painfully burned his face. A physician was summoned and his wounds were dressed. The burns were not found to be serious.
