Foot Ball Players Who Will Probably Wear the College Colors—General Prospects.

A few unpatriotic disbelievers seem to have the erroneous idea that Nebraska's team for the season of '02 will not be up to its usual high standard. Although, happily, these misguided persons are decidedly in the minority, a little mistake may do great harm, and it behooves the athletic editor to correct the impressions that the aforesaid misguided persons have received.

One of these impressions is that a good team means the return of all the old players, and that Nebraska will be deficient in this line. Now, while old players contribute greatly to the success of a team, it is quite possible that new men may have new ideas and improved methods of playing. Minnesota will lose half of her old men this year, and yet no one expects the gopher team to be a failure. On the contrary, her opponents are looking forward to a harder proposition than ever before. Even if it were important to have old men back, we need not be ashamed of our showing. Nearly every position can be filled by men who have previously played in university games, and plenty of good men stand ready to fill the positions that are left vacant.

A person seeing the first squad work out might imagine that he was viewing the practice of a team collected from the various teams who have, from time to time represented the Lincoln high school. Over half the men who will play this year are Lincoln men, and it is considerably due to the effective work done in the high school that the varsity owes her success on the gridiron.

Captain Westover, Tobin, Ringer, Hubbard, Benedict, Eager, Mickle, Fulmer and Shedd are all Lincoln men, whose work is efficient enough to place them in the first squad.

The position of quarter, left vacant by Drain, will probably be filled by Benedict, the famous punter; Eager, Bell, Bender and Hewitt are all contesting for honors at half, while the position at full seems to lay between Ollie Mickle and Englehart, a former captain of the Omaha team. Shedd has his old place at right end, the place left vacant by Cortelyou, the other end so far being filled by Jean Fulmer, who, although rather light, fills the position with credit.

Koehler, champion center for several years on the team, is in Chicago. Hubbard and Borg are working out for his position. Both are heavy men and will play the game for all it is worth. Borg has had little experience, but Hubbard formerly played the position on the Lincoln team. Brew, captain, '00, and the swiftest man on the team last year, is out of school. Kingsbury is also an absentee. Moloney, Tobin, Ringer, Westover, Briggs and Wilson are all playing in the line, while there are plenty of good men among the scrubs to draw from. Cotton, Hunter, Nicodemus and Reynolds are all heavy men and may be relied upon.

With such men to draw from, the prospect is very encouraging. The team is probably lighter than it was last year, but apart from that there seems to be no material difference. They are better coached and are supplied with everything that can possibly be of any assistance to them. The training table will be started next week. The only drawback seems to be in the fact that two of the heaviest games are played so early in the season. The game with Colorado will be on October 4, and that with Minnesota on the 18th.

Foot Ball Mass Meeting.

A part of this morning's chapel hour will be devoted to the interests of football. The "rooters" will be organized for use. The meeting will be in the hands of enthusiasts. The Doane game will be discussed. Mr. Wyer will have some important remarks to make. The season of '02 will be given a heavy push.

SETTLEMENT REPORTS

College Settlement Board Tell of What Has Been Done During Year—Student Members Election.

The time at chapel yesterday was given over to College Settlement work. Professor Candy, president of the College Settlement board, presided. He said that owing to the fact that the board could not procure a suitable house, very little had been done in Settlement work during the last two years. He was of the opinion that there could not be too much publicity in regard to the affairs of a treasurer, accordingly Professor Caldwell, treasurer of the board, was called upon for a financial statement, and created considerable merriment when he announced that he had on hand now $9.91 of unexpended funds.

Revival of Tennis.

The enthusiasts of tennis were on hand yesterday afternoon and the courts were filled most of the time. The wet weather for the last week prohibited any playing and the men made their appearance at the first opportunity. The grounds were a trifle damp and almost slippery in places. If there are any meets this fall the probability is that there will be more players than usual to compete for positions on the team. A notice is inserted at another place in this sheet calling to tennis players' attention a business meeting of the association to be held on next Monday in University hall.

College Settlement Tonight.

Students new and old, as well as the university faculty, are invited to attend the opening meeting held by the College Settlement this evening. There will be short addresses by Rev. H. O. Rowlands, Prof. A. Ross Hill, Prof. H. J. Caldwell and Mr. I. M. Raymond. The musical entertainment of the evening will be under the direction of Prof. Willard Kimball.

The purpose of the meeting is to mark the opening of College Settlement work in the new building and to bring together students and instructors who are interested in this phase of university life. The entire house will be open for inspection.

The house is easy of access, being only one block east of the pavement on N street, and one block south of the cars on O street. Those coming on O street should, however, turn south on Nineteenth street, or on the Rock Island track. The Settlement house is between Twentieth street and the Rock Island on N street.

More Needed at Chorus.

The university is threatened with the loss of Mrs. Raymond, who has so successfully conducted the chorus work for several years. She has been extended a very flattering offer by a church in a city of considerable size, whose name is not known, to take charge of the music. Mrs. Raymond feels that she can hardly ignore this if prospects for a larger work in the city do not offer themselves.

Mrs. Raymond particularly dislikes leaving the college chorus work, as it should offer a very broad field for labor. However, the registration for the chorus work has not come up to expectations and the advanced class is no larger than last year. Particularly is this a fact in the registration of male singers. The possibility for chorus registration has been aided by the new official announcement and the hopes are that it may result in a sudden registration for chorus.

The "Messiah" will be taken up immediately for study. It is especially urged that every gentleman singer in the university should identify himself with the chorus. The matter of credit will be settled in a short time.

Mrs. Easterday, state secretary, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. meeting in the lecture room, Memorial hall, at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, September 28th.

report, stated that from various sources $1,730.58 had been collected.

The first fund consisted of $100, contributed by the students, and $300 contributed by the faculty. The board thought that since the city received the benefit from the Settlement work, they should assist in its support, consequently a canvass was made of the business men of the city, which resulted in an additional $300. Three gentlemen from the city were added to the board. A play was given last spring which netted $400. Under the supervision of the board, a house has been built at Twentieth and N streets, costing approximately $2,000. The house is complete save for a furnace, which the board hopes may be donated.

The following student members of the board were elected: Misses Abba Bowen and Elva Sly; Messrs. C. E. Phillips and Sam Anderson.

In closing Professor Candy said that about $1,500 would be necessary to conduct the work this year, which he hoped would be forthcoming.

Miss Alice Sparks, '02, will take post-graduate work in chemistry.
