- Oct. 3.—University Club Dance.
- Oct. 4.—Boulder College vs. Nebraska, at Boulder, Colo.

In order to secure a large crowd the price of admission Saturday has been reduced to 25 cents. This will be the last 25 cents game and will also be the last one to be played in Lincoln until the Grinnell game on the 11th. Everybody get out and encourage the team.

Only a week remains until the Colorado game and as yet nothing has developed in regard to an excursion. If anything is to be done, it should materialize immediately. The railroads are certainly at fault in their failure to open negotiations with the management.

Evidently debating will not take a back seat in Nebraska this year. The debating clubs have already organized for work, or expect to this week. The season starts out with considerable enthusiasm. Debating in general has taken a forward step in the last year and as soon as those of an arguing frame of mind get into training something will be doing in the university to awaken the intelligence of the student body. Debating is one of those departments of collegiate work which are of more direct benefit to the world at large and which manifest themselves most openly in a university's output of trained men.

The matter of the Boulder excursion can stand some talk. The more talk the better until the railroads begin to see they ought to be up and doing. So far the rate given out stands at $15. We can count on a few fingers how many will accompany the team at these figures. As the date of the game comes nearer there are more manifestations of interest in the matter of results.

It is known perfectly well that the eleven will be laboring under the difficulty of getting acclimated to the higher altitude. They might become "wind-ed" before they could show what they really can do. Boulder thus has the advantage. In case an excursion is arranged, a larger number of "rooters" than ordinarily necessary should support the team to offset the scarcity of air in that region.

Columbia University Notes.

A chair of Chinese has been established at Columbia University.

President Butler of Columbia University proposes the establishment by Columbia of two annual scholarships of $1,200 each, the holders of which shall pursue advanced studies in France, and the establishment of two fellowships by the French government for advanced study at Columbia.

George Willis Botsford, Ph.D., has been appointed lecturer on ancient history at Columbia university.

Dr. Botsford took his A. B. at the University of Nebraska in 1884 and in 1889 was granted a master's degree by the same institution. He received the degree of doctor of philosophy at Cornell and has since taught history in Worcester Academy, Bethany College, West Virginia; Radcliffe College, and Harvard.

His best known publications are "Development of the Athenian Constitution," "Trial of the Alcemonidae," "History of Greece," "History of the Orient and Greece," and "History of Rome." The three last named are text-books widely used.

The nearest approach to a daily paper at Columbia is the Spectator, which appears semi-weekly. The need of a daily paper has long been felt and plans are being laid to begin the publication of one this fall. There are a number of literary publications, some of them monthly, some semi-monthly and some weekly.

Mission Study 1902-3.

Several courses are offered by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in the study of foreign missions this year. About thirty students have expressed a desire to enter them.

A meeting for organization will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms today, Friday, at 1:30 p. m. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend, when any further information will be cheerfully given. Below is a list of the courses outlined, and the leaders of the classes:

- I.
  1. Effective Workers in Needy Fields.
  2. The Healing of the Nations.
  3. (a) Dawn on the Hills of Tang. (b) The Cross in the Land of the Trident.
- II.
  1. Africa Waiting.
  2. Japan and Its Regeneration.
  3. Evangelization of the World in this Generation.
- III.
  1. Introduction to the Study of Foreign Missions.
  2. Geography and Atlas of Protestant Missions.
  3. Ditto.

LEADERS.

- Course I—A. Elmer Turner.
- Course II.—Emma Shinbur.
- Course III.—Sam'l Anderson.

The class in bacteriology (botany 37) has been divided so that one division will meet for lecture at 8 a. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays in room 107, Nebraska hall, and the other division at 9 a. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, in room 102, Nebraska hall. This has been necessary on account of "conflicts" with other studies which could be avoided in no other way.

The laboratory work in pharmaceutical botany (botany 38) has been arranged so that one division of students will work on Saturday mornings from 8 to 12 o'clock. This division is for those who have laboratory work in anatomy on the afternoons of Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The Returning Student Is Wise Enough to See This. The New Student Ought to Be Posted

In your college career it is of immense assistance to you if your clothes proclaim the sterling worth inherent in every young person of sufficient ambition to secure a college education. The day when seedy clothes or unfashionable wear were considered the offspring of necessity has passed. Good clothes today are within the reach of any college student's purse. A big part of the duties of the clothing buyer here is to secure worthy wear at just such prices. There are valuable lessons in economy all through our great clothing stock; lessons easy to learn and lessons you should learn.

It would please us to have you spare the time to personally investigate the splendid values and styles we can furnish you at
