The new venture made by a number of university men on Saturday night can stand some commendation. This seems to be a move in the right direction. For several years there has been a growing idea in the student body that some movement should be begun looking to a building up and fostering of college spirit and united effort in sustaining university affairs of worth. Factional lines were crossed in the new movement and there will be an effort to a closer union among all college men.

For the information of those who don't know, we volunteer the information that Nebraska has one of the few daily papers published by colleges in the United States. These include Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Brown, Cornell, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, California, Stanford, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Nebraska.

Some of the well known schools in the country do not have them at all, although there are those who publish bi-weeklies, tri-weeklies, weeklies and monthlies. This is only one of the things where Nebraska takes rank with the best of them.

It was generally supposed that the crowd of Saturday night was out in celebration of the football victory. This impression is erroneous, as it was not the idea at all that the victory should have attention. There was nothing to celebrate in the victory, for Doane was outclassed.

The crowd of students were all fraternity men and had come together it seems, in an entirely unexpected way. The idea from the beginning was a serenade upon other fraternities and it was carried on until all the fraternity houses were visited. The latter part of the evening brought some definite conclusion to the whole affair.

There was a feeling of "soreness" among some of the boys because when they called in a friendly way at the home of the Chancellor, they were turned down by him and advised to wait until they had something to celebrate before they turned out in such fashion. It was regretted at the time that an explanation was impossible.

It was through no particular fault of Doane that it lost the game on Saturday. They were pursued by hard luck especially in the loss of the left tackle. However, the team was clearly outclassed by the varsity eleven. Their line was light and of course could not hold the university team. It was therefore no fault of theirs if they lost the game.

The little rub between the teams was good for both of them;—for the university, because the coaches and men will know where the weaknesses of the team are, and people who understand will know more what to expect of the men; for Doane because their team will have had the experience of going up against the real thing. They will see where they are weak and prepare for other games.

As a game there was no more interest shown than is sometimes evident at a scrimmage with the "scrubs." The varsity had too easy a walk-away. But while we came out on top this time and piled up a mighty encouraging score, we can not estimate the coming games from the present results.

New Debating Secretary.

The Debating Association held its first meeting of the year Saturday evening. About twenty-five members were present. The announcement of the resignation of the secretary was made and W. Frederick Meier was unanimously chosen to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Meier ought to be well qualified for this position. He has been allied with the organization for four years, and besides has represented the university again in Kansas in 1901, and was a member of the invincible team that laid Missouri low last spring. Mr. Meier undoubtedly will take hold of the work with vigor, and before long plans will be formulated for holding the preliminary contests.

The young ladies residing in the Conservatory of Music entertained Friday evening at an informal dancing party. The halls and parlors were open to the young people and were decorated prettily with palms and cut greenery. About twenty gentlemen were invited to enjoy the hospitality of the young ladies. The party was chaperoned by Miss Barbour and Miss Morse of New Haven, Conn. The ladies and guests present were:

Misses Perkins, Nellie House, Eleanor Barbour, Era Cooper, Ethel Doubrara, Ethel Green, Blanche Roberts, Laura Palquist, Minnie Hoburg, Mame Moore, Mable Kimball, Vida Leamer, Myrtle Mitchell, Sadie Morse, Winifred Howell, Mayme Kilhan, Ruth Johnston, Olive Dobson, Mae Biltgen; Messrs. Morse, Hawley, Stanley, Ritchie, Parker, Appleget, Grigsby, W. Kimball, McGeachin, Shallenberger, Wilson, Holman, Peters, G. Kimball, Sumner.

The Dellans held an informal reception in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Friday evening. It was planned particularly for the new students in the university. A very pleasant evening was spent with games, chat and general good time. Light refreshments were served during the evening.
