FOOTBALL MEN RETURN

Victors Home from Boulder—Moloney's Shoulder Dislocated—Palmer Talks to the Scrubs.

The football team returned yesterday afternoon safe and sound with the exception of Moloney, who suffered a dislocated shoulder during the Boulder game. While it is still sore and bothersome, he will be ready for business shortly. The team went west by the Burlington road and returned by way of the Rock Island. The men are generally pleased with their trip.

Some of the players have expressed their disgust at the way some of the papers had the game written up. Either the reporters did not know much about the game or didn't know their business. Some of the statements made were rather far-fetched and misleading, while not, in some cases, in western papers, giving the men a decent mention.

The showing put up by Colorado was more or less surprising. Some have expressed the opinion that the Colorado game was a rather poor proposition since Nebraska gained nothing but her expenses. It was a matter of winning or losing and nothing to gain. If reports be true as to the crowd who witnessed the game, Colorado made a good thing of this game.

Scrubs Should Work.

The most discouraging feature of Nebraska's football prospects at present is the lack of spirit among the scrub players. They are all anxious enough to make the 'varsity and willing enough to work hard with that end in view, but do not work as a team. About this time of the year as the personnel of the 'varsity becomes somewhat definite, many of the best players on the scrubs lose interest and quit practice just when they are needed most. This is, of course, because it means but little to play on the scrub team here. In the big eastern schools where the scrubs have their own training tables and their own games the competition is just as keen and fierce for places on the scrubs as for places on the 'varsity.

If we are to have a championship team this year we must give the scrubs something to work for.

Coach Palmer stayed at home from Boulder in order to get the scrubs into better shape. After each man that was out Thursday being told personally to be sure and get out, despite notices in the Daily, the gymnasium and U hall, but five men met Palmer for indoor signal practice Friday and ten Saturday.

Coach Palmer has said, "It is up to the scrubs to win that game from Minnesota the 18th. The scrubs' playing last week was ragged and entirely lacking in team work. Many of them do not even know the signals yet. There is plenty of good material, but it is not out regularly. A man shows up well in the play one night, the next night I look for him to put him in, but can't find him. Unless the scrub team gives the 'varsity some good stiff opposition the next two weeks we might as well stay at home the 18th. As soon as I get in shape I intend to play end on the scrubs myself. I played on the scrubs two years at Princeton and consider that I did just as good work for the university as I did when I played on the 'varsity, because it is impossible to have a good 'varsity without good scrubs."

Coach Palmer suggested as a remedy for the lack of spirit among the scrubs that some games be scheduled for them, either to be played as a curtain-raiser to the 'varsity games, such as the third team or dubs at Chicago, played last Saturday before the Knox game, or as independent games.

There are more than sixty candidates out for a place on the Harvard football eleven; of these only seven weigh over 190 pounds.

Glee Club Practice.

The Glee club met in University hall last evening. A good-sized crowd were out and the final business in getting organized was finished. A permanent association is now an assured fact and promises a good future. The constitution and by-laws adopted appear elsewhere in today's paper.

Communications have been received from Nebraska alumni congratulating the university on the new club and extending their support where it can be of any use. Omaha alumni are already asking for a club date for that city sometime during the winter, and they promise to push things along.

Captain Chase in Command.

Captain Chase appeared for the first time at drill last evening. He took active charge of the battalion from the start and ordered the companies out to drill. Before drill, however, he expressed himself as pleased with his appointment as commander at the university. He spoke of the good report Nebraska cadets had filed in the war department and expressed the hope that the high standard should be continued while he was detailed here.

Captain Chase is a man of pleasing personality and about thirty-five years of age. His regular command is with company A, Twenty-first United States Infantry, now stationed at Fort Snelling, Minn. He has formerly been commandant at the State Agricultural School at Washington, and has also been stationed at Fort Kiel, Montana.

Captain Chase has also seen active service in both Cuba and the Philippines. He was in the battle of San Juan hill and was one of Colonel Wykoff's staff members when the latter was killed. Being a regular army man and yet having had former duties in connection with cadet battalions, Captain Chase will be well fitted to command at Nebraska.

Local Tournament.

Drawing for places in the tennis tournament will take place this afternoon on the courts at 1 o'clock. Playing will begin immediately afterwards. The winner will go to Kansas this fall to compete in the annual tournament between the two states.

A number of prizes have been obtained, and are hung up for the winners in this week's local tournament.

First prize—Fine sweater, offered by Magee & Deemer.

Second prize—Pair tennis shoes offered by Perkins & Sheldon.

The tennis club has several additional new members this fall and the tournament promises to be a lively one. The honor in representing Nebraska in Kansas is not inconsiderable and contestants for the lucky places are plenty.

It is safe to say that no department is more overcrowded than that of domestic science. It has been found necessary at times to conduct classes in the extension of the hallway which serves as an excuse for the office. This scarcely affords standing room to some of the classes, to say nothing of convenient room for taking notes. In the laboratory every place is taken.
