Nebraska and Minnesota are the only two strong western teams which have not been scored against yet this season. The game Saturday then will be a game royal. While Nebraska is not even confident, yet there is a feeling that Minnesota may run up against a hard thing on Saturday. In fact it is stated quite confidently that we will get revenge for past defeats.

At any rate the game will be a contest between teams which are each determined to win.

The university students now have had an opportunity of seeing and hearing both candidates for governor of the state in this fall's campaign. Further than this, they have appeared in our very midst. Whether or not either one took the trouble for reasons concerning themselves particularly, we are not permitted to say.

At all events it is a wise man who makes it a point to appear among college men for most of them, especially the voters, are in a position to know what they are doing when they cast their ballot. What the actual number of voters is, in the university, is not known, but it is certain it includes about half of the male students registered. There is some political power then centered in a state educational institution.

The chorus will meet this evening at 5 o'clock in University hall. There is no reason why there should not be a large attendance. Also there is no good reason why more students in the university are not registered in the chorus. The members for one thing, receive credit, they appear in the semi-annual concerts and above all they receive the training necessary to a consistent understanding of "good" music. There are many people who, although they are good soloists, can not sing with other people, because they have not learned how. Chorus work is designed to reduce this to a minimum.

Chorus work is not at all a charitable act on the part of the individual unless it be to himself. Out of more than selfish reasons then, those who know anything about singing should make it a point to belong to the chorus in order for self-cultivation at any rate.

A feature of the Grinnell game on Saturday which was appreciated at the time and yet not mentioned was the music furnished by the band. This was one of those things which make a football game more attractive and lively. The band can in this way be of the utmost use to the university. We are familiar with the ease with which "rooting" can be carried on with the aid of a band and it is now an opportune time to put his knowledge into practice.

Music lends a certain charm to certain sports and especially in time of constrained excitement it can be considered good on the nerves. It gives strength to a man on the gridiron as well as on the actual field of battle. The band then has performed a prominent place to fill in college life.

Efforts are being made by the authorities of the Minnesota Uni. to purchase the land east of the Northrop field in order to enlarge the field. The first set of appraisers appointed to value the land set the price at $3,000. This did not satisfy the owner, and a second committee was chosen. They raised the appraisement to $3,500. The lot has been condemned by the courts, yet the owner still refuses to release his claim.

Minnesota's new physics building is now ready for occupancy. The Minnesota Daily says concerning the building:

"In many respects this is superior to any physics building in the west and even in the country. Great credit is due to the untiring efforts of Professor Jones, who planned many of the novel features to be found here. Among these is the sliding shutter which is used to cover the sky-light in the lecture room. This shutter covers an area of 512 square feet and is manipulated by a rope from behind the instructor's table. It can be shut in six and opened in five seconds. The shutter is run on a number of ball bearing wheels which are so adjusted that the immense shutter is opened and closed by the slightest effort. When the building is fully equipped it will be safe to say that it will be a credit to any university."

Clifton J. Platt, '99, is president of the Pasadena Real Estate and Commission company, at Pasadena, Cal., the finest residence city in the world. Mr. Platt has cleared over $35,000 since graduation. At the university he was manager of the first publication of the Faculty and Student Directory, a leading member of the Union society, and also city circulator of the Lincoln Evening News. Mr. Platt intends making a trip to the university next spring.

C. E. Bell has been chosen manager of the university baseball team for next season.

A shower bath has just recently been put in at 12th and P streets, in the rear of the block formerly occupied by the city Y. M. C. A. for the use of the Lincoln Academy football team.

Prospects are good for a strong football team at the Lincoln Academy. About twelve were out at their last practice and a squad of twenty is expected to appear today.
