The Week's Convocations.

The following is the program for convocation hour for the ensuing week. Dean Ward leads religious exercises:

Tuesday, 21—Dr. Stein on "Mysteries."
Wednesday, 22—Dr. Wharton, Prof. Caldwell.
Thursday, 23—Music.
Friday, 24—Prof. Stout.
Monday, 27—Gov. Savage.

The clipping now printed is by Carl M. Green of the Chicago Record-Herald. He seems to take more cognizance of Nebraska's worth:

"Minnesota's defeat at the hands of Booth's strong Nebraska eleven was in some respects the greatest shock of the day to the dope fiends. With last season's form as the basis the Gophers have generally been rated as in a class but little below that of Michigan and Wisconsin, with the latter two leading the middle west.

"Nebraska is not in the college conference, and Minnesota does not point its team for the game with the Cornhuskers, so that there is still a chance that Minnesota may redeem itself. It stands a defeated eleven, however, and is so far the only one of the "Big Nine" teams which has suffered a reverse from other than a conference college. The Gophers will have to win all their big games to regain their prestige. While Nebraska is admittedly stronger—stronger in fact than several of the conference teams, Minnesota's defeat indicates that the Gophers are still troubled with their old fault of slowness, and unless this can be remedied they have little chance with the real leaders."

If all that has been said since last May about a new enthusiasm for oratory means anything, it means that the men who go into the home contest and its preliminaries will have more than a mere prefatory audience at all of these events. There is the enthusiasm which vaunts itself after a victory has been won by another man's effort, and the enthusiasm which is shown by continued hearty support and interest. It will take the latter kind to keep up last year's record.—Wisconsin Round Table.

Candidates for the Harvard baseball team began fall practice on September 30th.

St. Paul Hears of Fun.

The following appeared in the Sunday morning edition of the St. Paul Pioneer Press:

"The triumph of the Cornhuskers over the Gophers at Minneapolis today touched off a mine of enthusiasm in Lincoln, the like of which was never even approached in the town. Tonight the demonstration was at its height. A thousand or more students in military formation with the cadet band at their head, marched through the streets touching off roman candles and sky-rockets, and testing their lungs to the utmost. Bonfires were kindled and cannon, borrowed unceremoniously by the students from the state capitol grounds were charged and round after round fired off.

Against a sign made of red electric light bulbs, the letters arranged in the formation of "6 to 0" the score by which Nebraska won, shone forth from the top of the spire of the administration building at the university. A monster reception awaits the victorious Cornhuskers on their return to Lincoln Monday, in which the entire university faculty with Chancellor Andrews the leading spirit, will participate."

The Pioneer is a little mistaken in the details, but it seems to have the right idea.

Congratulations from Yale.

The following was received at the executive office yesterday afternoon: New Haven, Conn.

Chancellor E. B. Andrews,
For Daily Nebraskan, Lincoln.—"Nebraskans at Yale congratulate their alma mater on glorious victory.

"C. H. Fisher.
"D. E. Thomas.
"C. C. North.

Professor Dann's new class is studying Egyptian art, preparatory to that of Greece. The students are taking up this preliminary work in order that they may gain, by comparison, a better idea of the value of Greek art.

One new course has been instituted in the Latin department, that of Roman mythology. The class is for post-graduates only, and is quite well attended. The purpose of this study is to examine into the origin and meaning of the Roman myths, although three or four sessions of the class will be required before the actual work will begin.

The following editorial, taken from the Minnesota Daily, complains about the abuse of library privileges practiced by the students of that university:

"It is shocking, to say the least, to hear that there are students in this university who will take away books and magazines from the library and not return them. The fact that many of the magazines have disappeared from time to time has become very noticeable and the authorities have called the attention of the students to it and that this practice must be stopped. Whether it is carelessness on the part of individuals or deliberate intention to appropriate them as individual property, is not known, but that they disappear is certain.

"Oftentimes it also happens that students take out books without leaving slips for them and keep them for several days. This is also an abuse which is harmful to other students who need the books. It is hoped that these practices will stop, otherwise the authorities will have to do some detective work, and those who are caught will be dealt with accordingly."

If class squabbles, hold-ups and room-stackings must be the order of the day, pray, let us have them conducted under the strict parliamentary rules of gentlemanly conduct.—The Wooster Voice.

GOLF GLOVES. | Some of the Newest ..Kinds..

The newest Golf Gloves are of canvas or cashmere ware, with clasp or pearl buttons. They come in all colors but one particularly liked is a dark, rich red. The cashmere gloves are lined with gilted silk in pretty contrasting colors.

The Golf Gloves vary in price from 25c to $1.00. Some of the medium priced ones have a honeycomb weave picked out with a silk stitch of the same color.

Handkerchiefs.

Our initial handkerchiefs are just the thing for girls who are prone to leave them under the desk or dining room table. Some of Irish linen, unbleached, are hand-embroidered, with a small script initial, 12½c.

Heavier and larger ones, 15c. The quality of linen in a 25c kind is really surprising—the sheerest possible. They are of medium size and one could add a lace edge and have a very dainty affair.

Belt Pins. You should see our new ones at 25c, 35c and 50c. They are in antique or green gold, gray silver, or oxidized finish. The designs are quite artistic—Gibson Girls' heads; Indian heads; or conventionalized girls' heads with the hair sweeping round to form the rim.

Girls' Sweaters.

Have you been wanting one of these nobby and comfortable garments? Here is your opportunity to possess one at slight expense.

We are closing out a line of 4 or 5 dozen girls' sweaters at cost. They are all this season's goods, in white, yale, blue and red.
