The Week's Convocations.

The following is the program for convocation hour for the ensuing week:

Dr. Hill speaks at convocation this morning.

The students of the university in a large number of cases seem to think that they can get anything they want for nothing. Particularly this is the case in regard to the paper. If all those who read this paper every day and who are not subscribers should be counted they would far exceed the actual number of subscribers on the books.

More or less investigation has also revealed the fact that some students are appropriating papers which do not belong to them, and which are placed in the students' exchange. If it is necessary a watch will be made to detect these parties.

As long as the student body as a whole does not support university enterprises these can not be successes. This is a note of warning to those who are not subscribers and who still read the paper.

The management does not enjoy this harping so much on the same subject as it would seem, but finds it necessary as a means of protection to the paper.

The special rate now on is held out as an inducement for more students to place their names on our books.

Applications have been made to the executive office by a large number of weeklies of the state for university news. This indicates an increasing interest among the people throughout the state in university affairs and a desire to keep in touch with the institution. These publications will be furnished regularly with news by student correspondents.

Some law students will call down upon themselves the wrath of the student body if they are not careful. At last Saturday's game several laws were seen to jump from the windows of the law library onto the football grounds. This is equivalent to crawling under the fence. The students who pay their money will not tolerate this. The football management can not conduct games successfully with such exhibitions of freedom by student members. Any such practices need looking into.

The Sophomores of the University of Illinois recently issued a proclamation to the Freshmen laying down a number of rules which they were to follow. About 500 posters were put up during the night in conspicuous places. The proclamation reads as follows:

Proclamation by your exalted superiors, the Sophomore class, to the insignificant and inferior Freshmen of the University of Illinois.

It is hereby decreed by your Lords and Masters, the class of 1905, that all Freshies (wise and otherwise) must obey the following orders, rules and demands:

Freshies must not carry canes.

Freshies must not cut corners on the university grounds.

Freshies must not wear their prep suits to Sunday school.

Freshies must not wear jerseys or sweaters on Sunday.

Freshies on approaching a Sophomore must remove all pipes, cigars, or cigarettes from their mouths.

Freshies must not be out after curfew without a chaperon.

Freshies must remove their hats in the library building.

Freshies must not wear fuzz on their upper lips.

Freshies must not wear high school monograms or class colors.

Freshies must not smoke cinnamon, cubeb or cornsilk cigarettes.

Female Freshies must send their jack-stones home.

Freshies must not attempt to fee members of the faculty.

Freshies must not wear loud caps or socks unless gagged.

Freshies must not appear on the university grounds in feminine company.

Freshies must not practice equestrian feats on cows or other domestic animals except under the direction of competent Sophomores.

If the above commands are not obeyed there'll be something doing.

Cornell and Grinnell have drawn up a two year compact for debate. Cornell has a record of six decisions without a single loss, winning twenty-two out of a total of twenty-four points.

The M. A. C. Record devoted a column of its space last week to the defense of football. It maintains that "football is the logical evolution of the forces that have been at work in college life for the last two decades."

The Minnesota Magazine has offered $100 in prizes for the encouragement of literary work among the student body. There are four prizes: $50, $25, $15, and $10. The contest is open to all undergraduates of the University of Minnesota.

The shops for C. E., E. E. and M. E. students are in ideal shape this year. A case has recently been made that the records of students and general work might be kept with less trouble. This cabinet is 4 x 6 feet and well supplied with shelves roomy and very convenient.

Mr. O. J. Fee, superintendent of grounds and buildings, spent Sunday in Omaha.

The Freshman and Academy football teams will meet on the gridiron Saturday morning. A fierce contest is expected.

The Pershing hop will be given at the Lincoln Hotel, December 19. Russell Harris is chairman, and Dan McCutchen master of ceremonies.

Chancellor and Mrs. Andrews, Dean and Mrs. Henry Ward, Dean and Mrs. Harold Gifford, will give a reception to the faculty of the College of Medicine at Omaha Friday evening, December 5th.

The Freshman hop committee met yesterday morning and decided to give the class hop on December 5th, in Fraternity hall. Great interest is being taken in the affair and a large crowd is expected.

Arthur Maine, '02, is engaged in electrical engineering at Schenectady, N. Y.
