Some of the Chicago papers are still inclined to discredit the work of Nebraska.

The Kansas City Star says that if Minnesota defeats Michigan Nebraska will have a right to claim the western championship.

The advance sale of tickets for the Thanksgiving game is unprecedented in the history of Nebraska football. The game on that day will be the biggest Lincoln has ever seen in point of a crowd. Large sections of seats have already been engaged by crowds, clubs and parties from neighboring cities. The tickets were placed on sale today and the rush was general at all the places where tickets are held.

There is a great tendency to give individual members of the football team credit for good plays, leaving out of consideration the work done by the team as a whole. We do not want to discredit the work performed by individuals, but if they were to speak they would hesitate little in crediting the others with making it possible for them to do good playing.

Many spectators and those not familiar with a game will see the man with the ball and will shout for a spectacular play. But they very seldom think of the men in the line who are at the bottom of the pile, and who stand many of the hard knocks. Every man has to work hard and should be credited with his work, even though he does not make spectacular plays.

Team work, not individual playing, is what makes a winning team.

Many students persist in standing inside the lines while the minor games are in progress. At the Junior-Sophomore game yesterday fully twenty-five men were crowding around the contestants. Their place is on the bleachers, from which they are content to watch the big games. If they have no respect for the spectators whose view they are obstructing, they should at least think enough of the players to keep out of the way.

Five hundred students of the University of Colorado refused to attend classes during the quarto-centennial celebration. They held a mass meeting, at which they voted almost unanimously not to attend classes while the celebration was going on. Since nearly all the students of the university are involved it is believed that the authorities will not adopt severe measures.

of it again and their opponent's goal was once more in danger. Only a few moments of time remained and the Juniors attempted a place kick which was blocked and the pigskin was returned a short distance. Time was soon called with the ball in possession of the Sophomores on their 17-yard line.

The teams will play again next Tuesday and an attempt to decide the class championship will be made.

Second Eleven vs. Medics.

The second eleven will play the Omaha Medics next Saturday on Nebraska Field. The scrubs defeated the Medics by a score of 16 to 0 earlier in the season, and the latter will attempt to retrieve their defeat. A good game is expected and the students will undoubtedly support the men who have been so instrumental in making it possible for Nebraska to have a winning team this year. Come out and see the game, your presence will help along the cause.

The Academy team has not disbanded, but will play another game next Saturday.

With the best team of scrubs in the history of the university and the assurance that Booth will remain with us, the outlook for football next year is certainly bright.

The football suits were given a good bath and taken into the boiler house, where they were dried. The boys will again appear in their victorious suits and several new plays will be taken up this week for the Northwestern game.

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity held their fifth annual banquet at the Lincoln last Saturday evening. About forty members were present, including several Knox college men, who came to attend the Saturday game.

Frank Miller, '00, was an interested spectator at the battalion formation Friday evening. Mr. Miller was first lieutenant of Company C during his Senior year. At present he has charge of a surveying party working for the B. & M. railroad.

THERE are those, Mr. W. Burley Guy among the number, who believe that the Michigan bunch can clean up anything in the east. Personally we regard the Nebraska team as the best in the world—Chicago Sunday Tribune.

Reports of the engineering departments are now being made out on blue print paper, making them handy and convenient.

No Excuse

For not ordering a suit this week. I can have it ready by Thanksgiving if you want it.
