THE LINCOLN BOOK STORE
1125 O STREET.

We are busy people, but before school closes for the holidays we want to have a heart-to-heart talk with the candy-buying students, lest they forget who we are, where we are, and what we do. We are still making chocolates, good chocolates—chocolates which we believe are the equal of any on earth. We can make as good chocolate as Nebraska can grow corn, or "cornhuskers," and you know they are right at the top of the pile, even if some people do not like to admit it. If you find that our goods are not equal in appearance, in flavor and general goodness of anything beyond the Missouri, we will refund your money and ask no questions. Our goods on sale at your book stores.
