WALTER FREDERICK MEIER.

Allen S. Nelson was held up and relieved of $4 in small change near the corner of Nineteenth and A streets, early Tuesday evening. He had noticed two persons following him for a number of blocks, but paid no attention to them, until the muzzle of a revolver was pressed into his ear and his funds demanded. Fortunately he had left his watch and $25 that he had received that afternoon in his room before starting out, so his loss was not as heavy as it might have been. He promptly notified the police and was able to give a partial description of the robbers, but has small chance of recovering his money.

We are busy people, but before school closes for the holidays we want to have a heart-to-heart talk with the candy-buying students, lest they forget who we are, where we are, and what we do. We are still making chocolates, good chocolates—chocolates which we believe are the equal of any on earth. We can make as good chocolate as Nebraska can grow corn, or "cornhuskers," and you know they are right at the top of the pile, even if some people do not like to admit it. If you find that our goods are not equal in appearance, in flavor and general goodness of anything beyond the Missouri, we will refund your money and ask no questions. Our goods on sale at your book stores.
