DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS

"David Garrick" Introduced to a Friendly Audience—A Creditable Performance.

The Dramatic club presented "David Garrick" at the Oliver last night before a good house, composed mostly of university people.

Several boxes were filled with parties of professors and wives and young ladies. Chancellor Andrews also occupied a box. The fraternity crowds turned out en masse and the lower floor was quite gay with its many young ladies.

The play in itself was given in faultless style and speaks highly of the work and interest put into it by the players. The play is comedy in nature, with strains of heavier work throughout. Miss Howells, Walter C. Booth, Rex Morehouse and R. B. Morgan easily carried off honors, theirs being the most difficult parts. The play was divided into four acts. The cadet band occupied the orchestra's seats and tried to furnish good music, but were unfortunate in not having the leading instruments present.

Those taking part in the play were W. C. Booth, R. B. Morgan, Rex Morehouse, T. J. Hewitt, F. E. Ptak, G. F. Dobler, H. C. Filley, J. R. Bender, Misses Bessie Brown, Ruth Bailey and Alice Howell.

Senior Girl Players.

The team which will represent the senior class in the basket-ball tournament tonight is not an organization of veterans. Only two of the players, Miss Sly and Miss Minnie Guile, have been long associated with girls' athletics at the university. Miss Cook and Miss Ballard played their first match last year in the interclass tournament, while Miss Schaper and Miss Bowen are new material. As a comparatively untried team, therefore, the seniors are saying little about their hopes for success in the game against the juniors. The contest will not be too easy to be interesting, however, for Miss Sly's guarding is a formidable thing for a forward to face, and the center work of Miss Guile and Miss Ballard has been brilliant in the practice matches. The positions will be as follows: Centers, Miss Minnie Guile (captain), Miss Clara Ballard; forwards, Miss Caroline Cook, Miss Meta Schaper; guards, Miss Elva Sly, Miss Abba Bowen; substitutes, Miss Margaret Honeywell, Miss Clara Craig.

Dr. Fling has an article in the November number of the American Historical Review, proving that Duquesnoy was the real author of the Memoires attributed to him. This article has an important bearing, as it contradicts a claim adhered to by a number of noted historians.

Miss Ethel Tukey, '01, of Omaha, visited the university yesterday.

Academy Notes

The chapel exercises next Tuesday morning, will be led by Miss Weldy, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. She will make recommendations respecting the religious life of students.

The students of the academy apparently appreciate the freedom which is extended to them. There are no published rules. No case requiring discipline has come before the principal, and but one instance of misappropriation of property has occurred. This is a source of great delight to the management.

The Girls' Social Hour club of the Academy, met last Monday afternoon. Miss Nellie Dean a teacher in the academy, surprised the young women by taking a group photograph. A confidential and instructive talk was given by Dr. Flanagan of the Bally Sanatorium. Light refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be held January 12, 1903.

The Letter "N."

Considerable criticism has arisen because the seniors voted to wear an "N" upon their hats. It is urged that only those winning places on athletic teams should wear their university letter. This is customary in all the large eastern schools. The matter will be brought before the athletic board next Monday night.

Election of Managers.

Nominations for manager and assistant manager of the football team must be in the hands of the athletic board on or before Saturday, December 13:

Eligibility—Article IV., section 1, of the constitution of athletic board: No person shall be eligible to the position of manager who is not at the time his duties are begun a senior in good standing, pursuing a regular course. No person shall be eligible to assistant manager who is not at the time his duties are begun a junior in good standing, pursuing a regular course.

Send in your nominations.

The University club will give a dance at Fraternity hall tonight.

Pedagogical Meeting.

The Pedagogical club met last night at 7 o'clock. The meeting was called at an early hour in order to complete the program in time for the play at the Oliver.

After a short social intercourse, the meeting was called to order by Professor Luckey and State Superintendent Fowler was introduced. The address was on the personal characteristics that prove an advantage or a disadvantage in the success of the school teacher. Superintendent Fowler drew from his own wide experience as a teacher and gave some valuable advice to those who contemplate entering the profession. He thinks that the personal characteristics of the school teacher do not count for so much after all, because the ordinary school board does not inquire into the matter of personal recommendations. Teachers were advised to take some interest in the finances of the school and to place a high value on their own services. By doing so, Mr. Fowler thinks, the teacher gains the confidence of the board.

The school teacher does not meet many Elsie Dinsmores nor many very bad boys and girls. Most pupils are common, ordinary children and their acquaintance must be cultivated outside of school hours if they are to be understood. In closing, the speaker left the thought that the student will quickly forget much of the subject-matter taught him, but he will never forget the personality of the teacher.

Academy Debaters.

The Michigan-Wisconsin debate will be held at Madison on March 20, 1903. The question for debate is, "Resolved, That the adoption of a general income tax, levied by the United States government, would be for the best interests of the nation."

It is mutually conceded that the government stands in need of revenue, that such a tax would be constitutional, that the system could become a law, that it shall remain in operation at least fifteen years, and that it shall be conducted under an efficient civil service.

DR. FLING'S TRIP WEST

Professor of European History
Talked to California Teachers and Visited Interesting Points.

Dr. Fling of the European history department returned Sunday noon from a three weeks' tour of California, on which he visited some of the most important educational institutions of the state, and delivered a number of lectures before students and teachers.

Dr. Fling left Lincoln Thursday, November 13. En route he stopped for a day at Salt Lake City, where he visited the Mormon colleges. These schools are developing rapidly, and a number of fine buildings are being erected.

His first stop in California was at Willows, where he lectured on Tuesday evening before the county teachers' association on "The Task of the Teacher." On Wednesday morning he addressed them on "The Teaching of History."

On Wednesday afternoon the county association at Willows adjourned to Redding, where the teachers' association of northern California was in session. The territory included by this association is larger than the area of Nebraska. The program was distinctly a history program. Dr. Fling addressed one evening session on "Mirabeau and the Frenche Revolution." He gave three afternoon addresses on the following subjects: "Natural Sciences and Historical Scenes," "How is History Written?" "Why Should History be Taught?" On Friday afternoon he spoke before the historical section on "Teaching of History."

A number of normal schools were represented on the program; President Wheeler of the California University, delivered the second evening lecture. Two professors from Leland Stanford addressed the teachers. The reports of the meeting speak very highly of Dr. Fling's lectures. He met a number who were acquainted with the work in the University of Nebraska.

On Saturday night Dr. Fling went to Chico, where he was the guest of President Van Liew of the Chico Normal, and of President Miller, history instructor of the school, and president of the Northern California Teachers' association. On Monday afternoon he lectured in the hall of the Normal on "The Teacher and Teaching of History."

On Tuesday he set out for Stockton, where he lectured on Monday morning before the teachers on San Joaquin county on, "What History is." In the afternoon he discussed, "Why History is Taught, and How."

From Stockton he proceeded to San Francisco, where he spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday. He visited Berkeley, but saw none of the instructors, as he was there during the Thanksgiving recess. He met Miss Fossler, a
