CHARTER DAY EVENTS. All those who will enter athletic events for Charter Day report in the gymnasium today at 4 p. m. The following events are open: Sprint, 25 yards, high jump, pole vault, shot put, bar vault, high kick, and rope climb.

SENIORS ATTENTION. Seniors in some cases have been derelict in the matter of having their pictures taken. The book committee has been lenient in the matter. Though pressed for time, the committee decided that owing to pressure during examination week, it was best for student interests that the week following should be used to gather the delinquents into the fold. Today and tomorrow, then, constitute the last chance. Don't paste this in your hat, but do pace to Townsend's.

A FIFTH COMPANY.

New Orders Create a New Cadet Company.

The following orders, with reference to new courses and a fifth company, were read last night before the University battalion:

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 4.

"Cadets who have had four semesters of drill and who desire to take one of the three elective courses offered this semester should report to the commandant at his office tomorrow (Friday) at 5 p. m., so that arrangements may be made in regard to the same. This only refers to cadets who have completed their required drill. Cadets who have not had four semesters of drill and who are now drilling in the battalion are cautioned to take the theoretical course prescribed for them as a failure in this matter will result in their military work for the semester being declared unsatisfactory."

GENERAL ORDER NO. 5.

"For this semester only a fifth company (E) is hereby established in the battalion. The purposes for which this company is credited is to eliminate from the different companies of the battalion cadets who are not proficient in drill, who are continuously absent, or for any other reason.

"The captains of companies A, B, C, and D will submit to the commandant by Monday evening, the 9th inst., the names of all cadets in their companies in excess of 71 men for transfer to company E. The cadets so transferred may, upon obtaining proficiency and upon application to the commandant, be transferred back to the original companies. Company E will not participate in any parade or other formation with the other companies of the battalion. The company is formed for the purpose of drill only. Major Hall will assume temporary command of company E."

Details of Denver Game.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 4, 1902.

Special Correspondence to The Nebraskan:

The University team arrived in Denver at 9:30, or two and a half hours late. They immediately went to the Y. M. C. A. rooms, where the management had held the crowd by various methods of entertainment. The game was fierce throughout, but Nebraska was at no time in danger of defeat.

There was a crowd of about 100. Nebraska outclassed her opponents at all points of the game.

The features of the game were Hewitt's goal throwing and Elliott's foul throwing. The game, however, was unnecessarily rough, in which feature Denver excelled.

Between halves the physical director of the Y. M. C. A., assisted by two of his pupils, gave an excellent acrobatic exhibition, and after the game the team was treated to a lunch by the management of the local team.

The line-up:

Highlands.	Pos.	Goals.	Fouls.
Hussey	F	2	..
Wills	F	3	..

Referee—Parmlee.
Umpires—Stuart and Newton.
Score—Nebraska, 44; Denver, 29.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Engineering Society held a special meeting Wednesday evening, February 4th. The business of the 1902 Blue Print was satisfactorily settled. J. C. Stevens, assistant state engineer, read an interesting paper on "Irrigation Laws." The problems connected with the administration of irrigation laws and the lack of irrigation laws in the arid and semi-arid states was thoroughly discussed.

The following books have recently been installed in the engineering library and should be of interest to all mechanical engineering students: The "Materials of Machines," Smith; "Steam Boilers," Halladay; "The Balancing of Engines," Dalby; "Locomotive Management," Sinclair; "Pumping Machinery," Davey; "Refrigeration, Cold Storage and Ice Making," Wallis-Taylor; "The Slide Valve," Bigtrup.

The Graduate Club will meet on Saturday evening at the College Settlement house. The program will consist of a paper on "Lamprecht's Historical Method," by Dr. Kuhlmann, and a discussion of the Rhodes' scholarships and graduate work at Oxford, led by Mr. C. W. Wallace. Mrs. Ensign Haggenow will play and the college songs will be sung as at former meetings. Take East O street cars and get off at Nineteenth street.
