CHANGE PLANS

Summer School Will be Enlarged and Improved.

LARGER NUMBER OF COURSES GIVEN

Efforts Put Forth to Increase Number of Teachers Attending.

While the posters have been out some time announcing the summer session of the University, few probably have noticed the important changes that are to be made over programs of former years, and the significance of the new policy announced. Following the established custom, credit to the amount of six hours will be given to those taking full work in the summer school. These credits will apply toward a University degree for students in the University who wish to continue their study through the summer months, or for teachers who have work to make up or intend to complete a University course later.

Heretofore the program of the summer session was planned as much to meet the needs of regular students in the University, as it was to meet the demands of the teachers who came in from the state schools. This year, however, the object seems to be to arrange a program that will especially attract the teachers, without particular reference to the needs of the University student proper. It will be noticed by the posters that the special feature of the summer school will be the attention paid to educational work. Some of the most prominent educators of the country have been secured to lecture on topics that especially concern the teacher in secondary schools. The posters announce that there will be "special lectures by Prof. M. V. O'Shea, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin; Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, and others." Professor O'Shea will be here on June 18th, 19th and 20th. Other educators who have been secured since the posters were printed are Wilbur Jackman, dean of the School of Education, University of Chicago, who will lecture twice daily on July 20th, 21st and 22d, and Zenia Baber, principal of the elementary department of the School of Education, University of Chicago, who will also speak twice a day on July 16th, 17th and 18th.

A new feature of this summer program will be practical work in physical education. The course will be designed especially for teachers in the public schools, and will supply a want that is coming more and more to be felt in the schools of the state. The work will be in charge of one of the assistants in the department of physical education.

Domestic science is another subject that will be introduced into the summer session this year for the first time. This, too, will be adapted to meet the needs of public school work and will furnish a valuable addition to the program for the summer. Besides these new and special features, all the subjects usually offered will be included in the program, and instruction offered in two or more branches of the same general subject where but one branch has been open to registration heretofore.

An effort will be made to entertain the teachers who come to the University to pursue the summer work, as well as to furnish the best of instruction. Excursions will be arranged to points of interest, such as the state fisheries at South Bend. Concerts and special musical programs will be additional attractive features.

The session will open on June 12 and will continue until July 24. The regular Summer Session Bulletin will be ready for distribution by the first of next month. The Nebraskan also hopes to add to the general interest in summer work by a special summer school number, which it is now planned to publish the last week in May or the first week in June.

Juniors Meet.

The Juniors met in U. 206 yesterday during convocation for the purpose of electing officers, but failed to elect even a president. Before proceeding to election, Chairman Tobin of the finance committee reported progress in the work of securing the class assessment for Junior annual expenses. President Myers then announced that the Juniors had won the Junior-Senior debate by a unanimous decision on the night before, and the hall rang with cheers and applause. Mr. Myers then made a few fitting remarks in well chosen words, and the class started in to election of president.

Dwight Pierce and Roy Bickford were the only nominees for the presidency. On the first ballot neither received a majority of all votes cast, and John Tobin received sixteen complimentary votes. Mr. Tobin informed the class that it would be impossible for him to serve were he elected. On the next ballot neither Pierce nor Bickford received a majority and Tobin received twenty-two complimentary votes. He then explained that he expected to graduate in June and his friends saw the point. Some yelled "Senior" and then all joined in "What's the matter with Tobin? He's all right."

This news comes to the Junior class as a surprise, as Mr. Tobin has been one of the strongest men in this class and had already been agreed on by the class politicians as one of the senior presidents for next year.

The time was up and the meeting had to adjourn without any election. Another meeting will likely be held next Wednesday.

COMMENCEMENT

The Full Program of Charter Day Exercises.

MONDAY IS THE HOLIDAY PROPER

Sigma Xi Banquet and Lecture. Monday Evening Exercises. Athletics.

The thirty-fourth mid-winter commencement of the University of Nebraska takes place on Monday, February 16.

On Saturday evening, February 14, at 6 o'clock, will occur the annual banquet of the Sigma Xi Society, which will be followed, at 8 o'clock, by the annual address before the society. This address, "The Arctic Highlander," by Prof. L. T. Dyche, of the University of Kansas, is looked forward to as one of the best events of the school year. Professor Dyche is a well known scientist and has made several trips into the cold northern regions. Besides being a scientist and an explorer, he is known as a hunter of big game. He has traveled over the entire North American continent, from Mexico to Greenland and Alaska. The lecture will be illustrated by about fifty lantern slides, from photographs taken by him on his trip through northern Greenland. The address will be given in Memorial hall and will be free.

The following program will be carried out on Monday:

2 p. m. Annual meeting of the board of regents. At this hour all departments of the University will be opened to the public. Students will be found in the various laboratories who will direct the visitors and impart information regarding the work. A small electrical exhibit will be given in the laboratory of the electrical engineers.

2 p. m. Music by the cadet band, followed by drill by the Pershing Rifles and presentation of the Pershing cannon. Grant memorial hall.

3 p. m. Annual indoor athletic contest, followed by a class basket-ball game or an inter-fraternity relay potato race.

8 p. m. Annual commencement exercises in Memorial hall:

Music by the University cadet band.

Invocation—Dr. J. E. Tuttle.

Music—University Glee Club.

Charter Day Oration—"Promising Phases of Education," by Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago.

Music—Baritone solo, by Wilbur Starr.

Music—University Glee Club.

The names of those who receive degrees will appear on the back of the programs. Sixteen will receive the degree of bachelor of science or of arts, one doctor of philosophy, and one doctor of medicine.

The athletic part of the Charter Day program will be composed of eight events, as follows: Twenty-five yard sprint, running high jump, pole vault, shot put, fence vault, running high kick, rope climb and either an inter-fraternity relay potato race or a basket-ball game. Thirty men have already registered to enter these contests and more will likely do so today. Entries close at 6 p. m. today. A University pennant will be given to the winner of first place in each event. Preliminaries are to be held Saturday at 3 p. m., at which time the number of candidates for the sprint will be cut down to eight, for the rope-climb to four, and for all other events to five. The fraternity teams are to be composed of four men each. This will make an exceedingly good program and will afford a fine afternoon's entertainment.

TOMORROW.

The second number of the Saturday Nebraskan will be still better than the first one, upon which many congratulations have been received by the management. Among the special features will be—

Part II of Miss Glover's "Against the Tide."

"The University and the Legislature"—the condition of University affairs before the legislative assembly.

"The New Sorority"—an account of the new girls' frat now being organized in the University.

"The February Seniors"—where the mid-year seniors go this year.

"St. Valentine and the Uni"—a timely cartoon by Mr. Severin.

In addition to these will appear the regular Saturday features: Summary of the week in Lincoln and in the various lines of University activity, society notes, departmental items, alumni notes, and Uni humor.

A special endeavor will be made to get the Saturday edition in the postoffice by 11:45 Saturday forenoon. If it becomes necessary to appear later, placard will be posted in Station A, announcing the time of distribution.

The heads of the different departments of the University have been requested to have their estimates of expenses for the next biennium ready for submission to the chancellor by the 20th of this month. These estimates are expected to cover all the running expenses of each department for the next two years, including the amounts required for teachers' salaries, hired help and incidental expenses that are apt to arise. While great care is being taken by those making these estimates to reduce their demands to the lowest amount practicable, some departments have grown to such an extent during the past two years that they will be compelled to ask more than heretofore.

$3.00 commutation ticket for $2.70 at the Merchants' Cafe, 117 No. 13th St. Students are cordially invited.
