No Second Team.

According to latest developments in girls' basket-ball, both Kansas teams wish to meet the Nebraska varsity team Friday night. Kansas University, especially, sends word that while accepting and planning to come, it must insist on playing the first team, and no other, that night. It prefers, in case of winning, the name of having defeated the Nebraska team. In fact, it makes "no second team" a condition of coming. In view of this and the necessity of playing a strong team against Haskell, the stronger Kansas team, it has been decided to do away with "first" and "second" teams altogether Friday night. The matches will then be Kansas State University vs. Nebraska, and Haskell vs. Nebraska. Possibly some players may be crossed over from one team to the other until the original varsity is unrecognizable, giving Nebraska two fairly strong teams, instead of one stronger and one weaker team. In any case the objectionable "second" team will be done away with for the night. This seemed more satisfactory than to call off the match with Kansas University altogether, and substitute a match with Nebraska Wesleyan, the only alternative outside of giving up the original match with Haskell. Meanwhile the second team has still been showing up poorly at practice, exhibiting slow and weak team work, much aimless throwing, and general disorganization. Its players are good individually, but do not as yet get on well as a team. Those coming from Kansas University will be Alice Rose, Edna Henricks, forwards; Jessamine Connely, Grace Boyle, centers; Bessie Eckley, Jessie Morton, guards; Jessie Bennett, substitute; Rachel Mentzer, manager.

The Gorham press of Boston has issued circulars announcing the immediate publication of a collection of poems, "April Twilights," by Miss Willa Siebert Cather. Miss Cather is a native of Nebraska and a graduate of the University in 1895. She went to Pittsburg, where she now resides, shortly after her graduation. She was employed for several years on the Ladies' Home Journal, and later as telegraph editor on the Pittsburg Leader. Miss Cather has had poems or stories published in most of the leading magazines of the country. She has many friends in Lincoln and throughout the state who will be pleased to learn of the publication of her first volume of poems.

A new experiment class, which meets every Saturday afternoon in the dairy laboratory, has been established at the state farm.

Robbins Favors Publicity.

Prof. C. A. Robbins of the law school spoke before the Candle Light club of the city Monday night on the subject of "Federal Legislation for Publicity in Corporate Affairs." The subject was thoroughly covered, especially from the legal point of view, and the purpose and tendency of present legislation fully explained. Professor Robbins expressed his own opinion as decidedly in favor of publicity as adequate remedy, making the following argument for that policy:

"We can destroy the corporations, or the government may own them, or the government may control them. We have laws in most states against over capitalization and against discrimination in rates and prices as to public utility corporations, against official misconduct, and against bribery. The greatest need is information as the basis of the enforcement of these laws. The principle of publicity in corporate management is already accepted as to banks, insurance companies and building and loan societies and while the law governing these corporations has not prevented all loss it is unquestioned that it has very much improved those lines of business."

Changes in Tennis Rules.

(Cornell Daily Sun.)

The annual meeting of the United States National Lawn Tennis association was held in New York this week. The committee to revise the rule on "let" balls, decided to make no change in the present rule, but the rule in regard to service was altered so as to conform to the one now in use in England. The rule now reads: "The server shall serve with both feet behind the base line, and within the limits of the imaginary continuation of the center-service and side lines. He shall place both feet upon the ground immediately before serving, and shall not take a running or walking start. He shall deliver the service from the right and left courts alternately, beginning from the right in each of the service games, even though odds be given or owed."

It was also decided to call a fault on the server if he misses the ball entirely in serving. The rule concerning the changing of sides was amended so as to permit special agreement between players.

A request has come to the department of botany from the bureau of forestry for the Philippine islands, for several well-trained foresters to take charge of some of the work now opening up on the islands. The salaries range from $900 to $2,400 per year, with transportation paid. Here is a chance for our forestry students.

Class Game Postponed.

The senior-freshman game has been postponed until Monday, March 16. The postponement is made necessary by the delay of the freshmen in advertising their men. The lists of men as given in yesterday's Nebraskan presage a hard fought game. The freshmen are all men who have had high school training, and most of them have practiced in the basket-ball squad regularly this season. The senior players have not practiced as regularly as their opponents, but they will doubtless regain their old time form before the game.

The manager of the freshman basket-ball team wishes to add the name of Corlett to the freshman squad.

Base Ball Progress.

Baseball enthusiasts may rest assured of one thing, and that is that when the season arrives Nebraska's twirlers will be in unusually good condition and ready to do good hard work from the start. The men have now had a month's daily practice in the cage. Material is so plenty that competition is very strong and every candidate has been doing his best. Every man has developed, and some have made great improvement. Especially is this true since Coach Gordon began his work. The pitchers no longer deliver the sphere in an awkward fashion and all are now throwing in good form. This week harder work will be done than ever. The men will be allowed to throw their best and the coach will instruct them in curving. A diamond will be laid off at the earliest opportunity.

Dr. Kuhlmann, of the European history department, is distributing the just-printed copies of his thesis presented to the University of Zurich (Switzerland), for his doctor's degree last spring. The thesis is entitled "Influence of the Breton Deputation and the Breton Club in the French Revolution, April to October, 1789," and makes a neat-looking monograph of about ninety pages. It is the outcome of personal investigations by Mr. Kuhlmann of original and unprinted documents found in the large French libraries.

In the current number of the American Quarterly, Prof. Paul H. Grumann, of the German department, has a lengthy article upon "Sunderman and Hauptmann and their latest plays, 'Es Lebe das Leben' and 'Der Rote Hahn.'" An interesting coincidence is the appearance of Professor Grumann's article during the same month in which Mrs. Patrick Campbell will appear at the Oliver in "Es Lebe das Leben," or, in English, "The Joy of Living."

Prof. A. L. Haecker is attending a farmers' institute meeting at Rushville this week.

The band has been provided with a number of new pieces and is practicing them this week.

Misses Ida Kinyon and Carrie Wurts are among the latest victims of the mumps epidemic.

Professor Nicholson has responded favorably to the request of the medical society for a speech before them during April.

Professor and Mrs. T. M. Hodgman will give dinner parties Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. Twenty-four guests will be present each evening.

Prof. H. W. Caldwell is being groomed for the race for member of the board of education on the fusion ticket. University people will appreciate an opportunity to vote for the professor.

The initiation of the recently-elected seniors into the Nebraska Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa will take place next Saturday evening at the residence of Prof. T. M. Hodgman. Supper will be served at 6:30 to the seniors-elect and the active members of the chapter, numbering some seventy in all. After the banquet the initiation services will be held, followed by the usual social features.

Mr. E. E. Blackman of the state historical society, secured several valuable acquisitions for the society's library and museum on his recent visit to Millard. Most important among them was a find of five barrels of old newspapers, found in the garret of Dr. Harvey Link, and containing files of the Omaha Herald from 1870 to 1880. Another relic obtained was the skull, with horns attached, of the last buffalo killed on the Platte.

Last week Dr. White of the chemistry department learned of the serious illness of his father, who lives in Baltimore, and started east at once, but arrived at the old home only to find his father had already died. Yesterday Professor Nicholson received a communication from Dr. White stating that his mother, who was quite low at the time of the funeral, was entirely overcome, and had followed her husband to the grave, being laid to rest last Sunday. The Daily joins Dr. White's many friends in tendering heartfelt sympathy in this double bereavement.
