NEBRASKA VICTORIOUS.

First and Second Teams Win from Haskell and Baker.

The Nebraska girls' basket ball team remains undefeated, and Coach Pound has reason to take great pride in her team of '03. The swift and plucky Haskell Indians went down in defeat last night at the hands of Nebraska, by the overwhelming score of 42 to 8. The second team took Baker University into camp to the tune of 22 to 1. About three hundred people witnessed the games. Coach Plank of the Haskell team refereed both games in a very satisfactory manner. This is the first time a man has ever officiated here at a girls' game. But little cheering was done for either side. The senior girls, attired in their class gowns, ushered. Baker brought nine people and Haskell eight.

The event was pronounced the finest exhibition of its nature which ever took place in the gym. While both games were one-sided, each had very fine features on both sides. The team work and cool deliberation of the Indian players brought out considerable applause, as did also the plucky manner in which they fought to the last. The sensation of the other game was when after time had been called at the end of the game Miss Weley saved a shut-out for Baker by throwing a foul. Miss Jansa made a wonderful record at forward, having 30 of the 42 points to her credit. Miss Everett made the most points for the second team, throwing 4 goals. The Indian girls were all small, and Nebraska had a great advantage in height, as well as in the fact that our court is about one-third larger than Haskell's. The other two teams were about evenly matched in physique. The 'varsity made 21 points in each half, and Haskell 4. The first half of the game with Baker ended 14 to 0 in favor of the second five. In the second half Baker took a decided brace and held their opponents down to 8 points, but the ball repeatedly refused to enter the basket for them. Nebraska threw 20 goals and Haskell 4. The second team threw 10 goals and Baker none.

The Games in Detail.

Play began at 8:20 with the local team throwing for the south goal. Ivas Everett threw a goal in less than 30 seconds and the scoring had begun. Miss Gittings soon added 2 more for the second team, and five minutes later Miss Everett found the basket from the side line. Nebraska fouled and Baker missed the foul. Miss Ames soon threw a pretty goal. Baker was fouled Miss Shinbur threw the foul, and the score stood 9 to 0. Some rooters cheered Baker and the Methodists braced, and it seemed for a few minutes as if the tables would be turned; but the plucky Nebraska guards would not permit a goal. Miss Everett finally came to the rescue with another goal. Baker fouled, and Miss Shinbur added a point for the second six. Time was soon called and the score stood 14-0 for the 'varsity.

Then came the first half of the big game. Miss Jansa started the scoring with a goal in less than one minute. Each side was soon fouled alternately and Nebraska netted one point and Haskell none. Miss Setter made the first score for the Indians with a goal from field. Miss Jansa increased Nebraska's score by 4 points, and Miss Craig soon followed her example with 4 more, which Miss Jansa duplicated, and the score was 15 to 2. Then Miss Hauser located the basket and Haskell had 4 points. Miss Jansa piled up two more. Haskell held and Nebraska missed the foul. Miss Jansa threw the longest goal of the evening from the center of the field, and repeated the dose from a closer point. Haskell fouled and Miss Jansa missed the basket. The half ended 21 to 4 for Nebraska.

The other teams came on at once. Baker had been far outclassed in the first half, but now took a decided brace. Miss Bryan succeeded Miss Woodsmall at guard. In this half Nebraska missed five fouls out of five and Baker threw one out of 4. After some fouling on both sides, Captain Shinbur led out with a nice goal. The game progressed with no further scoring. After a time Miss Ames, forward, threw two consecutive goals. No more points were made in the next few minutes, and then the clever center, Miss Everett, found the basket from far out in the field. No more goals were thrown. After a series of fouls and five minutes of hard play, time was called just after the umpire's whistle had sounded for a foul on the second team. Haskell this time made the foul count and saved a shut out. Score, 22 to 1.

The Haskell girls came on the field with the determination of retrieving themselves, but odds were too great against them. This time there were only five on a side. Haskell fought fiercely against her strong antagonists, but to no avail. The half was an exact repetition of the first in the matter of scoring. Haskell's attempts for goal fell short as usual. Misses Jansa and Scott made all the points for Nebraska, the former making 13 and the latter 8. Miss Sorter did the scoring for Haskell, making two goals. Time was called and the score stood 42 to 8 in Nebraska's favor.

For Nebraska Miss Jansa made 30 points, Miss Scott 8 and Miss Craig 4. For Haskell, Miss Sorter made 4 points, Miss Hauser and Miss Sutter 2 each. For the second team, Miss Everett made 8 points, Misses Shinbur and Ames 6 each, and Miss Gittings 2.

Senior-Freshmen Monday.

The second of the series of interclass games will be played Monday evening. The game will be called at 8:30, immediately after the evening gym class. Both teams have been practicing the past week and considerable enthusiasm is being manifested in this game. Class spirit is an essential concomitant of University spirit, and this is an excellent opportunity to show you still have a little of the former. Although this is really a post-season series of games, the inclemency of the weather has prevented active work in other sports, so basket ball still has the floor. Give your fellow classmen your support. The line-up is as follows:

Leonard (Capt.)	F	Krake
Golden	F	Mathewson (C.)
Milek	C	Horn
Spafford	G	Clark
Buck	G	Reid

Noted Reader April 7.

One of the rarest treats University people will have an opportunity to enjoy this year will undoubtedly be the reading to be given Saturday evening, May 7th, by Mrs. Jessie Eldridge Southwick, one of the most accomplished elocutionary artists of the country. In addition to her natural genius, Mrs. Southwick enjoys the advantages of preparation and equipment coming from many years of practical classroom experience in the well known Emerson College of Oratory at Boston, in which institution she has been instructor in dramatic and Shakespearean interpretation.

Mrs. Southwick appears in the Y. M. lecture course April 9th, and while here will be the guest of Miss Howell, at whose special request Mrs. Southwick appears before a University audience.

There will be no admission fee charged at the reading, and it is hoped that University people will turn out en masse. Further particulars will be given in later issues of the Nebraskan.

This has been another week of good development and progress in baseball work. The pitchers have all acquired good form and are now twirling the sphere as speedily and scientifically as they are able, with one new man registered as a candidate. They will be ready to do good hard work as soon as outdoor practice begins. Progress in track work is not what it might be, as the men do not turn out as well as they should. Nevertheless, many men are getting into shape for field work as soon as the weather permits. Nothing has as yet been done in regard to tennis.

April 17—Senior Prom.

Dr. Bolton was an Omaha business visitor Thursday.

Mr. E. H. Clark, of the executive office, is down with the grip.

Dr. Gain's class in veterinary science, formerly held at the state farm, is now meeting at the University.

Mr. Blackman of the historical society delivered a lecture on "Indian Customs" Friday evening at the church at Belmont.

The University Dramatic club will render two small plays on Wednesday evening of next week in the old chapel. Everybody is welcome to attend.

Photographer Hamilton took a picture of the Palladian basket-ball team yesterday. This team won the intersociety championship. The picture will be hung in Pal hall and will probably appear in the junior annual.

A day or two ago a specimen of the "rattle-box," a poisonous plant of the Missouri river bottoms, was sent to the botanical department for examination. It produces a serious disease among horses when eaten in hay or in the field.

Professor Bessey is lecturing to his class in plant pathology on the diseases of forest trees. There are more diseases of the native forest trees than is supposed by most people, and it is to these diseases that much of the rotting of timber is due.

The Palladian Boys will discuss the following question this evening: "Are union men justified in refusing to work with non-union men?" Affirmative—Morrow, Anderson; negative—Clark, Le Groh. The Union club will discuss the question: Resolved, That the tariff should be removed from trust-made articles. Affirmative—Baldwin, Ludden; negative—Black, Strayer. Every one interested in debating and parliamentary training will find the work of the clubs especially helpful.

Professor Nesbitt, the eminent teacher of "French in Five Weeks" without home study or drudgery, gives his free opening lecture in the First Christian church, corner Fourteenth and M streets, next Thursday and Friday at 10:30 a. m., 4:30 and 8 p. m. each day. The regular course begins Monday, March the 23rd. Professor Nesbitt comes to Lincoln from Omaha, where he so successfully taught a class of four hundred pupils that they have guaranteed to him a large class for advanced work in the French classics. He will return to Omaha after giving a five weeks' course in conversational French in this city. You are cordially invited to attend the free opening lectures.
