

The Social Week

Company B Hop.

Over one hundred couples attended the company B hop last night. The dance was by far the largest attended of the year, but the ample accommodations of the hall were sufficient to meet the requirements of the large numbers who attended. Weslett's orchestra furnished the music for twenty dances and two extras.

At 9:30 Lieutenant Mansfield and Miss Whitcomb started the grand march, but the number of couples was so great that little progress could be made and the march soon ended in a scramble for programs. It is certainly a deplorable matter that the young men who attend dances of this sort are not gentlemen enough to act at least half way respectable in the matter of securing programs. It is certainly no fault of the committee in charge that the rush for programs ended in a free-for-all fight. It seemed to make no difference to those engaged in the rough house that a couple of ladies were in the road of the mob and narrowly escaped being trampled under foot.

In spite of the deplorable beginning, the dance was carried on very successfully, and the dancing was continued until a late hour.

Lieutenant R. J. Mansfield was chairman of the committee, and Lieutenant R. B. Davidson master of ceremonies. The committee consisted of C. A. Mohrman, F. R. Beers and R. S. Campbell.

Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Brock gave a very successful afternoon tea and reception Monday afternoon. The tea was given under the direction of the art department and the officers of the Woman's club, and was held in the studio rooms of the library building from 2 to 4 o'clock. About thirty-five ladies were present and passed the time pleasantly in inspecting Mrs. Brock's collection of painted china and Miss Hayden's pictures. Mrs. G. E. Barber, president of the club, and Mrs. Eli Plummer assisted in receiving, Mrs. Francis Gibson served tea from a Russian samovar, and Miss Mundy and Miss Muir passed the cups.

Miss Jennie May Barber, Pi Beta Phi, '98, was married Tuesday evening at 7:30 to Mr. Francis J. Plym of Kansas City. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, 1700 B street, and was attended by the members of Pi Beta Phi and Phi Gamma Delta. Only a few other intimate friends were present. The wedding march was played by Miss Anne Stuart, pianist, and Mr. Mortimer Wilson, violinist. Rev. Mr. Tuttle performed the ceremony.

Two social events of interest will take place this afternoon. Pi Beta Phi will give a musical and reception to all the sororities at the home of Miss Waugh, 1640 G street; and a luncheon to the basket-ball players will be given at the home of Mrs. C. E. Bessey for the girls of the Kansas basket-ball teams. The latter will be under the direction of Mrs. Bessey and Mrs. Barbour.

The sophomore hop, which will take place in the near future at a date not yet determined, promises to be an important event in University circles. The following committee on arrangements has just been appointed by the president, Frank Beers: H. K. Lehmer, chairman, Ray Gould, master of ceremonies, Miss Loraine Comstock, Miss Casebeer and A. Wellenslek.

Mr. H. P. Leavitt, U. of N. '96, called at the college during the week in the interest of the Daily Nebraskan. The enthusiasm he aroused resulted in the building up of a large subscription list and the organization of a department in the paper by the election of an editor and a manager, as well as class reporters. Mr. Truelsen, '03, was selected by the joint committee from the classes as editor for the present year, and Mr. Panter, '04, as manager for the college. The junior and sophomore classes each held meetings and all present in each gave their subscriptions for the Saturday issue, in which the college will have a regular department each week. Much interest was shown in the Nebraskan and the hope was expressed on all sides that it would serve to link the medical department more firmly to the University, to stimulate college spirit and loyalty to a common alma mater.

The baseball enthusiasts are already getting in motion and pedestrians along Pacific street are also forced to get in motion to avoid those twirlers that whiz across the street. So far, however, no one has run against the horsehide, which is to be credited solely to those pretty out-curves. The juniors have been talking of organizing and steps are under consideration looking toward several games before the close of the year. But the sophomores have taken the initiative and commenced the organization of what promises to be a successful team. At a meeting of that class Thursday Mr. G. McDonald was unanimously elected captain and manager of the sophomore team, and his election is regarded as a guaranty of a good team. When seen by a Nebraskan reporter Friday afternoon, Captain McDonald was just going out for practice with his men. "It is a little early," he remarked, "to tell what we can do on the diamond this spring, or what games we shall play, but I am much encouraged at the prospects, and there is some good material in our class for a team. We would like to organize two teams in the class for practice games, but we cannot count enough sophs who will turn out just yet. Regular practice begins next week and I hope to see the fellows turning out and getting into the game." The following beside the captain have been out lately exercising their joints and chasing wild balls: Walsh, Miller, Pederson, Potter, Adams, Wainwright, Morrison, Swoboda, Rumery. A game with the junior dents is already scheduled and is looked forward to with much interest. The showing already made promises a good game and plenty of enthusiasm on both sides.

Several members of our class are very desirous of changing the class work. They wish papers prepared to be discussed by the class. The debating ability recently displayed by several members augurs well should definite arrangements be made.

Dr. Bridges leaves about the second week in April to attend the meeting of the International Medical society at Madrid. His lectures will be closed about the first of the month, and the examinations in his classes will accordingly be held early.

We wonder if "laws governing the practice of medicine in various states" and "mapology" are a part of the senior course. They certainly are the most discussed subjects with that august body just at present.

"The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse."

Anderson: "Why, any man with ordinary intelligence can understand that," etc., etc.

When a man like Mason, who is long on argument, gets to unwinding, the lecture hour may come and pass but the argument still goes on, resulting in no great increase in class attendance.

Most of the juniors are anticipating a prosperous summer, whether it be carrying a medicine grip for a physician or following the plow.

Dr. Jonas left last Tuesday for a two weeks' trip over the Union Pacific system in connection with his work as chief surgeon.

The nearer the time comes for examinations the larger faces our boys have—and we wonder why.

Baker (classifying waste): "There are three classes, garbage, sewage, and refuge."

Manlove of the dents visited the Medic side of the house last Thursday.

We were glad to see Miss Stull back again after a week's illness.

McDonald spent the early part of the week at his home in Pierce.
