CHICAGO CHALLENGES.

Wishes to Play Nebraska Nine at the Big City.

Manager Bell of the baseball team is in receipt of a challenge from Chicago University for a game to be played in Chicago on any one of the four following dates, May 4, 5, 6 or 7. Whether this challenge can be accepted or not remains to be seen. Nebraska already has a heavy schedule and these dates are practically filled. Nevertheless an attempt to take on this game will likely be made. The Cornhusker nine will be in Illinois according to the present schedule on the 6th and 7th of May and Chicago could be made at this time with but comparatively little extra expense and time. At any rate, Nebraska has reason to feel complimented over a challenge from Chicago University. It indicates stronger than ever the growth in athletics made at Nebraska in the past four years and gives evidence of her present high standing in college athletics.

Joint Party Tonight.

The joint party of the three literary societies, Union, Delian and Palladian, will be held at the art hall this evening. The entertainment committee has kept the exact nature of its plans secret in order that their novelty may be more fully appreciated. Chancellor Andrews will be present and deliver a short address. At odd times during the evening the following numbers will be given:

Trombone Solo.....Mr. Cornell
Reading.....Mr. Bates
Guitar Solo.....Mr. Daughters
Piano Solo.....Miss Sargent
Quartet.....Delians
Violin Solo.....Mr. Husted

It is understood that the committee has made very extensive plans and all the society people are looking forward to a most delightful evening and one which will mean much for society life in the University.

School of Music Locals.

Miss Donbrava has returned from North Bend, where she visited her parents.

Miss Nellie Houtz and Miss Marjorie Guilfoill went to Omaha to attend the concert given by Kocalan.

Miss Olive Dopson has been ill this week with the grip. Her sister from Newman Grove has been with her.

The executive committee at Leland Stanford has forbidden the annual class rush, and the classes have agreed to accept the ultimatum.

Dr. Ketchum, Oculist, Richards blk. Glasses fitted and guaranteed.

Minnesota is discussing the advisability of reducing the combined academic and medical courses from seven years to six.

May Meet The Gophers.

Enthusiasm is running high in track team circles over the probability of securing a meet with Minnesota this year. The management has been negotiating with the Northmen for some time, but no definite arrangements have been made as yet. It is sincerely hoped that the Nebraska athletes may have an opportunity of coping with her strongest athletic rival in the field of track athletics as well as football and basket ball.

Short Practice Yesterday.

Baseball practice lasted little more than an hour yesterday. The field was in poor condition, being slippery from the effects of the forenoon's rain. Besides, it was cold and damp, but it is so late in the season that the men felt they had to practice anyway, and so about twenty-five candidates reported. The men were instructed in batting the first part of the hour, and line-up for a four-inning game during the last half

Military Department Makes Favorable Ruling.

The difficulty that recently arose between the baseball boys and the military officers has disappeared suddenly and completely. The commandant announced to the battalion Wednesday night that those who had taken three semesters of drill previous to the opening of the present semester, and have been carrying their five hours this semester, will have completed all requirements by April 1st, and can then drop out of the battalion. If they abandon drill at that time, however, no credit will be given for this semester's work in the military department. This ruling, it will be seen, is made on the old regulation, not on the new. The old system required four semesters of drill, but this was for three hours per week only. Under the present system, three semesters of drill are required and the battalion falls in five days in the week. For the additional

Campus Cleanings.

Jennie had a little dog
And it was black as coal,
And everywhere that Jennie went
That dog was bound to stroll.

It strolled with her to school one day,
And raised a dreadful racket.
The teacher grabbed it by the tail
And tanned its little jacket.

He danced that dog around the room,
By its caudle long appendage,
And when it came to school next day
Its tail was in a bandage.

J. L. Van Burg has just recovered from a severe attack of the measles.

Miss Mildred Slater is convalescent after a hard tussle with the measles.

Professor Sweezy is busy arranging lantern slides to be used in some of his lectures.

Vernon Lovitt has been called to La Harper, Ill., where his sister is quite seriously ill.

The Delta Upsilon fraternity will give an informal dance at their chapter house this evening.

Miss Jeannette Burlingame left yesterday for an over-Sunday visit with her folks at Sutton.

Prof. H. R. Smith and S. W. Perin have returned home from their trip to Manhattan, Kan.

Mr. Joe T. Miller of the Tennessee historical society, Nashville, called at the Nebraska historical society rooms Wednesday.

Professor Barbour has received from the Santa Fe a splendid panoramic view showing some of the most beautiful scenery of the Grand Canyon.

Mr. A. L. Hopkins of Oakdale, who has collected many stones and Indian relics in Antelope county, is in Lincoln, the guest of the historical society.

Miss Edith Landis has been given a leave of absence from University work for three weeks, on account of ill health. Her unwelcome vacation will be spent at her home in Waverly.

Professor Dann is still detained at his home in Ohio by the lingering illness of his father, and it is uncertain just when he will be able to return. During his absence Professor Elliot has charge of his classes.

S. R. Cook, M. S., A. M., a former fellow in physics here, has just prepared for publication a paper embodying the results of investigations of special problems in fluid motion, performed here several years ago.

Secretary Ross of the Y. M. C. A. is still confined to his room with the grip, having but recently experienced a relapse that will postpone his recovery some time. He has been ill for a month past and was improving rapidly when he suffered this last back-set.

A Sample "Colors" Song

Nebraska has a "colors" song, which we shall publish next Saturday. Keep "A Knot of White and Blue," Columbia University's song, which we give below, and compare it with Nebraska's "Scarlet and Cream." The date for the close of the $100 contest is drawing near, and something must be doing if the prize song is to win popular favor as well as the prize:

"A KNOT OF WHITE AND BLUE."

One dainty badge we'll ever wear,
Till college life depart,
It nestles in his lady's hair,
And on the student heart,
And eyes grow bright, and hearts grow light,
And spirits rise anew,
To see the colors that we love,
A knot of white and blue.

CHORUS:

A little knot of white and blue,

The badge our fathers knew,
Our sons in turn its charm shall learn,
A knot of white and blue.

No lapse of time can hope to harm,
Nor after years dispel,
The fresh, unfailling, tender charm
Of what we love so well,
Of days that fly in rapture by,
Of friends so staunchly true,
And alma mater's dainty badge,
A knot of white and blue.

hour. Two teams were picked and about an even score made. It began to rain about 4 o'clock, and the men were compelled to leave the field.

The track men were not outside, but took a workout in the gym. The men were also drilled inside in the pole vault, high jump, and those events which could be practiced indoors.

Medical Society.

The medical society met last night in room 301. Owing to the stormy weather the attendance was small, but the program rendered was heartily appreciated by the listeners. Mr. Harger read an article on "Art Ideals in Medicine" by Norman Bridge, M. D. Mr. Sturdevant read the paper on "Medicine" in a series of articles on "The Choice of a Profession." The society decided to accept an invitation from the Nebraska section of the American Chemical society to attend its meeting on the 30th. This will take the place of the regular meeting of the society.

Chemists to Meet.

The Nebraska section of the American Chemical society announces its thirty-first annual meeting for next Monday evening, March 30th, in room 4 of the chemical laboratory. The evening's program will consist of a discussion on "The Physiological Chemistry of Uric Acid," by Prof. A. C. Stokes, of the School of Medicine, at Omaha. All interested are cordially invited to hear the address.
