Editorial Remarks

It's a long semester that has no vacations.

Quite a number of University people have from time to time since February volunteered to "remember The Nebraskan" in their down-town buying for the remainder of the year. We would like to call the attention of these—and of all other loyal Nebraskanites—to our present list of advertisers, as they appear during the week. The field has now been pretty thoroughly canvassed, and practically every business firm of importance has been given an opportunity to display its desire for University patronage. Will our readers kindly endeavor to reciprocate by directing their patronage toward those who have shown themselves thoughtful of University enterprises?

Sometimes a man's a man, for a' his frat.

For a "hand-made" campus, Nebraska does pretty well—about as well as nature, limited finances, and numerous more or less thoughtless students will permit. It will be too bad if one of the new buildings should, as rumored, make a "back yard" of the main part of it by being placed on the south end of the central quadrangle, and facing south. By all means, let the space from R street to University hall remain open, and group the new buildings about it on the east and west until the time comes to replace the old main building with a magnificent new one. The outlook to and from Eleventh is one of the chief charms of the campus. It ought not to be unnecessarily sacrificed.

The Union Club met Saturday evening and indulged in a lively parliamentary drill and spirited debate over the question relating to the introduction of the modern industrial system into China and its reference to the best interests of the Chinese. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: J. M. Paul, president; A. I. Baldwin, vice-president; Mr. Towne, secretary; C. A. Kutcher, sergeant at arms; Messrs. Waltman and Melick, attorneys.

Some forty hackberry trees have just been planted along the outside of the walk on the east of the campus. They are from the farm, coming from the spot where one of the new buildings is expected to be located. When a little larger they will be a very agreeable addition to both the looks and comfort of the east border of the campus.

Kansas-Nebraska Tournament.

The tennis association has received propositions from Kansas for an interstate tournament here on May 8th. Reply has been made that this date is impracticable, owing to extensive counter-attractions, and that May 14th would be a much more convenient and acceptable one. So little playing has been done yet this year that there is practically no indication of who will prove the strong men of the season. Of old players, Wright, Tyner, and Peters will probably be rivals in the finals unless new material of unsuspected quality appears. The grounds are now in about as good shape as may be expected for this season, and a spell of fair weather will undoubtedly see a rapid development of talent.

Theophanian Program.

The seniors of the Theophanian literary society of Wesleyan university gave the following program before the Delian society, Friday night, in the old chapel:

Vocal solo, Miss Hubenthal; character sketch, J. C. Jensen; paper, Miss Hilton; instrumental solo, Miss Dora Carroll; story, Miss Lindstrom; reading, J. M. Burk. This program was given in return for one by the Delians at Wesleyan a few weeks ago. Attendance was good and the exercises were greatly appreciated. A social time followed and light refreshments, consisting of punch and cake, were enjoyed. The affair was pronounced by all a most pleasing one.

Nebraska Field is a little more secure now from the non-ticket-holding spectator than heretofore. A substantial wooden gate now fills the gap between the main building and the shops. The old days of "two-dollars-a-time canvas" are over, and the small (and larger) boy has one more obstruction to free sight seeing. The gate was erected Friday and Saturday.

Exclusive
Neck
Wear

The daintiest neck wear that girls ever dreamed existed anywhere is here in wonderful variety.

There is something new every day. Only this week we put on sale twenty new stocks, many of them of linen. Just the smart tailored kinds you have in mind, stylishly shaped, and priced at 75c to 1.50. Don't fail to see them.

Never was so much importance attached to pretty neckwear. The stocks the turnovers, the collar and cuff sets, the boas—are most deftly shaped and unsparingly decorated with hand work in the shape of point lace, faggoting, drawn work, embroidery and French knots.

The bright colored Bulgarian embroidery is very new and fashionable; anything with drawn work on it is eagerly sought after; the liking for linen stocks keeps pace with the craze for linen waists.

Washable stocks, plain or with tabs, in white and spring colors, 25c to $2.00

Collars and cuffs in sets, in fancy hemstitching. Swiss embroidery, point lace, silk embroidery, white and colors, 25c to $3.50.

Top collars, new shapes and outlines, of embroidery, drawn-work, point lace, chiffon, etc., 10c to $2.00.

Ruffs of black or white liberty silk, in round or large cape effects, $1.15 to $15.00.
