UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1903.

No. 132.

REGENTS MEET.

Hold Two-Days' Session and Adjourn to May 13.

The board of regents of the University of Nebraska met at 2 o'clock p. m. on Friday last. The session continued until Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. All the members were present at the Friday session, and all except Regent Kenower at the session on Saturday.

The special committee to secure the lease of some additional land for the use of the farm departments reported leases for 170 acres in all.

Frank G. Miller was appointed professor of forestry, services beginning September 15, 1903, and extending to April 15, 1904, of the next college year. The remainder of Mr. Miller's time is to be spent in the service of the United States government as an expert forester.

Guy G. Frary was appointed honorary fellow in chemistry, Geo. F. Miles, honorary scholar in botany, Homer L. Shantz, honorary fellow in botany, as well as instructor in botany at the farm. Miss Esther Pearl Hensel was made fellow in botany with stipend.

A leave of absence was granted to Professor Bessey from June 26 to October 24, 1903. Professor Bessey contemplates a trip to Russia in the interest of his department.

The following changes in titles and promotions were made, taking effect September 1, 1903:

H. R. Smith, to be professor of animal husbandry.

J. H. Gain to be adjunct professor of animal pathology.

F. E. Clements to be assistant professor of botany.

C. R. Chatburn to be assistant professor of civil engineering.

A. L. Haecker to be associate professor of dairy husbandry.

Frank W. Smith to be adjunct professor of education.

G. E. Condra to be adjunct professor of geology.

R. A. Emerson to be associate professor of horticulture.

A. L. Candy to be assistant professor of mathematics.

R. E. Moritz to be assistant professor of mathematics.

C. C. Enberg to be adjunct professor of mathematics.

R. S. Lillie to be adjunct professor of physiology.

H. H. Waite to be assistant professor of bacteriology and pathology.

T. L. Bolton to be assistant professor of philosophy.

Clarence Skinner to be assistant professor of physics.

Bert Spencer to be instructor in construction.

R. H. Wolcott to be associate professor of zoology and demonstrator in anatomy.

W. A. Willard to be adjunct professor in zoology.

Geo. H. Morse to be professor of electrical engineering.

Paul H. Grumann to be associate professor of German languages.

Amanda H. Heppner to be adjunct professor of German.

The resignation of R. S. Hiltner, instructor in chemistry, was accepted, taking effect March 31, 1903.

The matter of the three year law course and Dean Burnett's suggestions as to farm improvements were referred to committees, to report at the meeting of May 13.

Upon the recommendation of the medical college faculty for the courses at Omaha, changes in the faculty were confirmed, subject to the approval of Dean Ward.

A communication was received presenting to the board a plan of co-operation between the University of Ne-

Nebraska and the Lincoln Dental college whereby the students of the latter are to matriculate as unclassified students of the university in certain special subjects, paying tuition and other fees, according to the usual custom for professional students. The plan was approved. A like plan was presented for co-operation between the university and the Lincoln medical college for the accommodation of students of the latter institution and upon similar conditions. This plan also was approved.

At the session of the board on Saturday morning the president and secretary of the board were authorized to complete the negotiations and procure title for university to the three lots at the southeast corner of Twelfth and R streets, near the southeast corner of the campus.

The board considered in detail the financial budget for the current year, including salaries, wages and current expenses, as submitted by the chancellor and the secretary. The greater portion of the day was thus consumed. With slight amendments the budgets were approved. Salaries were raised in only a few instances.

The board then took up the consideration of the suggestions of the secretary and the chancellor concerning methods of procedure in relation to proposed new buildings and other permanent improvements at the farm and on the campus. The building committee of five named above was appointed, consisting of Regents Ernst, Teeters, Forrell, Chancellor Andrews and Secretary Dales, said committee to have charge of all new building and other works of improvement at the farm and on the campus and to make its first report to a meeting of the board to be held in May.

The board adjourned to meet on May 13, 1903, at 2 o'clock p. m., to consider the recommendations of the medical college faculty of candidates for the degree of doctor of medicine and such other business as may come before the board at that time.

German Chorus a Success.

At the German chorus class last Friday about one hundred were present. H. G. Langley led in the singing, and R. E. Cochran played the accompaniment in the absence of Miss Hagenow, who has been secured as organist. The organization will be known as the "University Liederkrantz," and will meet for rehearsal every Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock, in the old chapel. Nos. 27, 48, 58, and 63 will be practiced next Friday, in addition to those of last time. An extra supply of books has been ordered and may be secured at the Uni book store soon. More singers will be welcomed by the organization.

Class Meetings.

Three classes of the University met yesterday, the seniors in 110 University hall, the juniors in Memorial hall, and the sophomores in the old chapel.

The senior meeting was a session to settle class appropriations for the entire year. The different committees reported the bills incurred by them. The budget was made up and necessary appropriations made. The program committee reported that only about half the members of the class have ordered programs and urged that the rest of the orders be sent in by tomorrow. The chairman of the class party committee reported a deficiency, which was promptly made up by an appropriation of money from the class treasury. The Ivy day committee reported the progress of arrangements for that event and made an estimate of the amount that will be required to cover expenses. The money was appropriated. The Ivy will this year be planted at the northeast corner of the library. A part of the program will be given at that part of the campus and the rest in Memorial hall. A half holiday has been granted by the chancellor, from 12:30 to 8, and it is expected that the exercises will be well attended. The committee is putting forth every effort to make the day a memorable one.

With reference to the class play, the seniors were well pleased with the liberality of the regents in aiding the class by raising Miss Howell's salary $100 to help pay for coaching those who take part in the class play. The rest of the amount that Miss Howell asked for her services, $150, was cheerfully allowed by the class.

An assessment will be made upon the individual members of the class to meet the requirements of the budget.

The sophomores in their meeting made provision for the class party next Saturday night and arranged for the convocation program tomorrow. The class will meet in the basement of Memorial hall and attend the exercises in a body. A tax was also levied upon the class for baseball supplies.

The junior class met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in Memorial hall and disposed of several matters of business. It was decided to allow the members of the class football team to wear the letters '04 on their caps and sweaters. A committee was then appointed to take up a collection for baseball supplies. Messrs. Allen and McNown then made a few remarks on behalf of the Sombrero. Mr. Allen stated that the liabilities were at present $1,500, and unless the members of the class made a supreme effort to sell the books the management would not come out even. There are by far a larger number of pages, he said, and a larger number of engravings than have been in any previous annual. He announced that in order to sell all the books the board had decided to offer a Sombrero to every junior who would procure twenty bona fide subscribers. He then distributed a large number of contract blanks to those who wished to procure subscribers. Mr. McNown took a few minutes to describe the book and gave a glowing description of the athletic department, which will be one of the chief features. The book will be on sale next Monday and the price will be $1.25.

AN EASY ONE.

Nebraska Wins Second Indian Game by 14 to 2.

Three bad errors allowed the Indians to make two scores in the game Saturday. Beginning with the third inning, when the colts knocked Hopinkah out of the box and ran in nine scores, the game was all theirs, and if a couple of the men had played the game a shut out would have resulted. Morris was in the box for the 'varsity and did splendid work. With good support he held the braves down to a low number of hits and greatly increased his prospects for being one of the trio of twirlers to make the trip. In the absence of Bell, Gore filled his position in left field. The day was a good one for baseball, and a large crowd was present.

The 'varsity did its work in the third inning, batting all around the pitcher and forcing him to retire before the inning was over. Fetz went to bat and made a two-base hit. Townsend fanned and Bender walked to first. Wilson knocked a two-bagger and Steen landed one in right field that made three scores before the ball could be returned. Shelmer made a nice hit and Gore walked. Morris kept up the work. Hood went out on a fly to right field, and Fetz, to bat for the second time, made another hit and scored. Townsend went to third on a hit, Bender sacrificed and brought Townsend in. Wilson made a nice hit in the next inning and scored on a series of errors. Hood, Townsend and Bender scored in the seventh, and Gore in the eighth.

Hopinkah for the Indians hit Morris for a single in the seventh and scored on an error by shortstop. Sprague, in the eighth, went to first on a safe hit, stole second and reached home on a series of errors.

The team has reason to feel especially jubilant over its two victories and that the scores are as decisive as they are is all the more encouraging. The Indians have a reputation for being hard players, but were clearly out-classed when they met the frisky colts.
