Miss Laura Whaley is enjoying a visit from her father, who came down from Osceola yesterday to attend the meeting of the State medical society, now in session here.

The executive office is in receipt of an invitation to the annual competitive drill of the Yale corps of cadets, under command of Captain Smoke, last year's commandant of the University of Nebraska battalion.

Professor Haecker took his "animal husbandry" class out to the farm yesterday afternoon and showed them the different breeds of stock. The boys all came back with great armfuls of violets, lilacs and other pretty flowers.

Willis Sawyer and Leroy Sawyer, electrical engineering '94 and '98, respectively, have been called to their home in this city by the death of their father, H. B. Sawyer. Mr. Willis Sawyer is working for the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., and Mr. Leroy Sawyer for the Bryan-Marsh Lamp company of Chicago.

While the Glee club was in Wahoo last Thursday some of the members looked over the prospective cadet camp site, and pronounced it very good. The difficulty is however that in case of a heavy rain the cadets will find themselves very wet, because of the low ground. The Wahoo people are generally very much interested in the camp and prospects are good for a proper reception for the cadets.

Mr. Frank B. Sanborn will deliver his lecture, "Emerson as I Knew Him," at All Souls' church tonight. Mr. Sanborn is the author of "The Personality of Emerson," and also the biographer of Emerson, Thoreau, Alcott, and John Brown. The price of tickets for the lecture is 25 cents. Tickets may be secured at the registrar's office.

They were at the baseball game and the umpire had just called "foul." "I don't see any feathers," she whispered. "No, dear," he replied. "This is a plucked nine."—Colorado Tiger.

A disconsolate looking youth was seated in a remote corner of the library. A pile of books were heaped up before him and he gazed at them sadly. He was a freshman and had not yet become wise, as the nature of his discourse indicated. "I wish," he quavered, "that every prof did not have the notion that his special subject was the only one. Here I have been instructed to spend two hours on each of my five studies. That means from six to ten hours perditious labor a day. It seems to me that it would be a good thing if the professors would come to realize there are other subjects taught in the University besides their own. And to the regular lesson some of them tack on a lot of supplementary reading which, of course, will be boundless in its benefits. I am hard pushed to find time to eat and to sleep, and if I follow out the instructions given me, I will sooner or later have to quit school or commit suicide."

Teacher—"A fool can ask questions that a wise man can't answer."

Pupil—"I suppose that's why so many of us flunk."—Colorado Tiger.
