TO FACE ELEVENTH KNOX TRACK MEET

Committee Will Recommend this Location for New Buildings.

The regents of the University will meet today to pass upon the recommendations of the Omaha medical students for degrees, and incidentally to consider some other matters that have been in the hands of committees. Several committees were appointed at the last meeting of the board, one to look into matters at the state farm, another to consider the proposition of extending the course in the law school to three years instead of two, and a third to recommend locations for the new buildings. The latter committee met yesterday in the executive office of the University and tried to settle on a plan for arranging the campus, for the location of the proposed new buildings involves a consideration of the prospective future of the institution as well as the present.

What conclusions the committee finally reached have not been formally announced, but it is understood that they will recommend to the board today a plan that will locate the administration building in the center of the open space in front of University hall. The situation does not furnish good opportunities for reaching the building with carriages and wagons. It is proposed, however, to put in driveways around the sides, reaching the north entrance, which will be used to a large extent, in the immediate future at least, as a general entrance.

The committee will meet again this morning and put matters in form for recommendation to the board this afternoon.

HINDERED BY BAD WEATHER.

Little Practice Possible for Knox Meet Next Saturday.

Track team men are beginning to get nervous about the coming Knox meet. They have hardly been able to appear on the field for practice since the home meet on account of the rainy weather. It has been raining almost night and day since Sunday and portions of Nebraska Field were covered with water yesterday at 5 o'clock. It is so muddy that two days of sunshine would be necessary to put the track in shape for use.

The big meet of the year is only three days away. The home meet had to be postponed once on account of rain and did not take place until a week ago, which resulted in a cutting down of the squad to fifteen men. It was expected, however, that by this time the team would be definitely made up and under systematic training. Until within the last few days the squad has been so large that it was possible for the coach to give but little individual attention to the men. Now that the difficulty has been removed practice can not be held at all. Nevertheless, whatever comes must be borne with the best of grace. If rain keeps Nebraska from making a good showing Saturday it can not be helped. The sprinters are becoming desperate, and Burg, Benedict, Manning, Cheney, and States were out on the campus green yesterday and the day before for a run. This, however, is a poor substitute for regular work.

In two days the men could likely get into fair shape for the contest, if good weather would only come on.

Tickets were placed on sale yesterday and will go at 35 and 45 cents. They can be secured from members of the team and the college athletic board.

A number of students of the Latin classes are preparing a program, which will be rendered at the residence of Dr. Johnson during the latter part of May. The program includes selections from Horace and Tertullian, which will be memorized and practiced upon until the various meters are mastered. Rehearsals are being held from time to time and the classes as well as those participating are greatly interested in the progress of the preparations now in order.

By a mistake (not ours this time!) yesterday's paper gave to Mr. F. J. Bates the Graduate club secretaryship which really belongs to Mr. A. K. Barnes. The error has been a source of much amusement to the friends of both the parties concerned, but has so far produced no breach of friendship between the two. An amicable division of the spoils is looked for.

Competitive drill will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, rain or shine. Duck trousers will be worn. Special interest is centered in the outcome of competitive drill this season, since the captain of the winning company is to be promoted to cadet major to fill the vacancy that will be caused by Major B. S. Hall going to West Point.
