WIN UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Unsportsmanlike Tendencies of Kansas Mar Track Meet.

Thus far the Nebraska track team of '03 has maintained the record established by the victorious football eleven of '02. Two dual meets have been won, and one of them, with Knox, was the best victory ever gained by a University track team. On Saturday, under most unfavorable conditions, Nebraska established her supremacy over her old rival, Kansas, in a meet at Lawrence, by 60 to 57 points. Nebraska scored in every event except the broad jump and 220 hurdles.

Three University records were broken, Benedict broke the record in the pole vault  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inches with a vault of 10 feet  $8\frac{1}{2}$  inches. Manning ran in excellent form, breaking the record in the 220-yard dash, formerly held by Pillsbury at :23 1-5, and making the 440-yard dash in :51 1-5, the University record being :51. Lehmer established a new record in the two-mile race by going the distance in 10:34 1-5, the corresponding record made on field day being 11:16. Johnson was unfortunate in the pole vault. After clearing the pole at 10 feet 6 inches he knocked it off with his foot. Benedict came within 1-5 of States' record of 2:6 2-5 in the half mile.

Nebraska contested with ten men, while Kansas entered fifteen. A fresh man was put in the relay, and several Kansas men of the type of Captain Boyle, of the Kansas baseball team, were on hand. The meet was hardly begun when Kansas began "knocking." The darker things looked for them, the harder they knocked, protesting the mile and two mile runs and the relay. The result of any of these events was not influenced in the least by the alleged "fouls." Nebraska won the relay race by forty yards, and the mile run by fifty feet, and in the two-mile the Kansas man crossed the tape several feet behind Lehmer. The protests were left to Former Coach Outland, who allowed the one against the relay. This cost Nebraska ten points.

The track facilities were very unfavorable. Kansas has a cinder track, but it is only about seven feet wide. This made it necessary for the hurdles to be run in heats, a very unfortunate condition for Nebraska's small team. It was also necessary to drop one man in the 220-yard dash, as but three men could run on the narrow track. Nebraska lost the toss and took Burg out of this race.

The methods pursued by Kansas in conducting athletic contests are radically wrong. Several comments have been made on the slowness with which the meet was pulled off. When the last event was over, the train on which the Cornhuskers were to have returned was many miles away, and the team had to stay over, returning Sunday night instead of Sunday morning.

The members of the Kansas track team were not "knockers," and the trouble was all caused by those who did not participate in the events. Mr. Whipple, the captain of the team, acted the perfect gentleman, and did all in his power to make the trip a pleasant one for the Nebraska men. Notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions under which the meet was held, the work done by Nebraska was very gratifying to those interested in athletics. The records were, almost without exception, very good and speak for themselves. The coach and captain are well pleased with the results, and are en-

Last Game Tomorrow.

Tomorrow afternoon the last baseball game to be played on the home grounds will take place between Nebraska and South Dakota. Only one more game remains before the season closes and that with Creighton, to be played in Omaha, May 30. A large student attendance will be looked for tomorrow. University baseball enthusiasts will avail themselves of a last opportunity to see "Townsend's colts" perform.

South Dakota University is one of our old rivals on the diamond. This team has this year made a good record and comes here with the determination of maintaining its reputation. It is the sole purpose of the Cornhuskers to make the last good hit of their season's work, one which will long be remembered. Every man will try to win his laurels in this game and the team as a whole—if South Dakota should prove easy—will aim to run up the score just as high on their opponents as possible.

President pro tem Sage of the class of '02, has appointed the following committee to make arrangements for a class reunion: Fred K. Nielsen, chairman; R. Harbor, O. G. Horne, Dot Druse, Mildred Parks. No date has as yet been fixed upon for the event. It is desired that all members who can will assist the committee by suggestions and by urging a good attendance.

JUNIORS TOOK IT.

Wrested Championship in Debate from Seniors Last Night.

In a warmly fought contest yesterday evening on the "Incorporation of Labor Unions," the affirmative, represented by the junior debaters, proved their superiority to the sophomores, being awarded the decision unanimously. In spite of the fact that a depressingly small crowd was present, both sides entered into the spirit of the contest with enthusiasm and determination. Each speaker was allowed eight minutes for argument and three for rebuttal. C. Wilburn opened the debate for the affirmative by analyzing his side of the question thus: The incorporation of labor unions would be of general benefit to society, as it would be beneficial to the unions, the employer and the public. Wilburn undertook to prove that it would benefit society, Paul that it would benefit the unions, and Johnson that it would benefit the employer. Each of these speakers cited strong authorities, and the whole debate hinged on the point whether or not the incorporation of unions would make them responsible or not. Kleckner opened for the negative by assailing the competency of the authorities cited by the affirmative. He admitted that responsibility in itself was a good thing, but questioned whether it would govern the actions of the trades unions if they were incorporated. Sawyer, second speaker for the negative, sustained him and introduced further argument snowing the incompetency of the authorities cited by the affirmative. Clark proceeded along the same lines and introduced the argument of arbitration. Wilburn closed for the affirmative and Sawyer for the negative.

The judges, Professors Fogg, Smith, and Aylsworth, announced their decision after only two minutes' deliberation, their verdict being unanimously in favor of the juniors.

Mr. J. F. Tobin, of the senior class, occupied the chair during the evening.

Chicago U. of N. Club.

The fourth annual banquet of the Chicago Alumni association of the University of Nebraska will occur May 30, at the Victoria hotel. A reception will be given Blon J. Arnold, '97, who will give an address on "Recent Developments in Electricity as a Motive Power." The Chicago club numbers about seventy members, mostly men who graduated from the University several years ago. Chancellor Andrews was intending to attend the banquet, but another appointment at Columbia, Mo., makes it necessary for him to change his plans. Professor Fossler will go as delegate from the University, and will give a talk on the "Modern University of Nebraska."

COLORADO TRIES A TRICK.

Evidence She Endeavored to Get Verbatim Report of Debate.

The University debating board claims that Colorado College has been caught in a flagrant attempt to steal Nebraska material for use against Nebraska in the debate to have been held at Colorado Springs, and which Nebraska called off two weeks ago. The unfair tactics, the breach of intercollegiate ethics in which it is claimed Colorado has been caught, is this: She tried, by liberal money offer, to get a verbatim report of Nebraska's and also of Missouri's, arguments in the contest in Memorial hall on May 1, when Nebraska had the affirmative of the trust question, which side Colorado was to have against Nebraska.

Colorado's plan failed. If it had not Nebraska at Colorado Springs would have been obliged to debate against its own team, against the results of its own study.

The general line of argument was reported by the State Journal. To such a report as that, the Nebraska team had no objection whatever; to her opponent's taking the detailed evidence, and its sources, it did object.

Of Colorado's guilt the executive committee says the debating board has conclusive evidence. This evidence, which came to the board a week after the debate was declared off, influenced the board in its action of last Friday, when it voted to discontinue debate relations with Colorado College.

The English Club.

The English club met with Mr. E. F. Piper, at 1731 D street, last Saturday evening, and enjoyed a pleasant and sociable time. Stories were read by Mr. Cronin and Miss Seely. Mr. Keene Abbott had been expected to read before the club, but owing to his inability to attend, he sent his story, which was read by Mr. Piper. The election of officers for next year took place, with the following results: President, Abba Bowen; vice president, N. M. Cronin; secretary, Dorothy Green; treasurer, J. D. Rice. Refreshments were served in the course of the evening, and the guests departed at a late hour with the consciousness that they had been splendidly entertained.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hesperian Publishing company will be held Wednesday, May 27, at 1:30 p. m. in U. 111, for the purpose of electing a board of directors, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.
