Campus Gleanings

P. J. Harrison assisted in the executive office during the rush of registration.

Claude Davis, of Lead, S. D., returned last week to take up work again after a year's absence.

A. A. Severin, who is now a member of the reportorial staff of the Star, has registered in the University again and will resume his work in the art department.

Miss Addie Reynoldson of Albion, who was obliged to leave school during the last semester on account of the illness of her sister, has returned to resume her studies in the University.

Jesse Whitmore, who was a Freshman in the University last year, spent the greater part of the summer in England, visiting Liverpool and other seaports. He does not expect to be in school this year.

C. A. Hancock, who attended the University in 1901-2, has re-entered school and will take work in the chemistry department. During the past year he has been in the employ of the Lincoln Paint & Color company.

John Hershey, of Omaha, who attended the University in 1901-2, has returned to resume his studies in the engineering department. He spent the past year in the employ of the B. & M. as draughtsman in Omaha and later in Lincoln.

George Shidler, '03, is stopping off in the city this week at the Sigma Alpha house and visiting with old University friends. He is on his way to Ann Arbor, where he will take a four years' course in medicine in the University of Michigan.

At a business meeting of the Palladian Literary society Saturday evening steps were taken toward improving the interior of the hall and the addition of more furniture. Arrangements were also made to give a reception next Friday evening in Pal Hall.

Dr. Luckey has about completed the task of correcting proof on his new work entitled, "Training of Professional Teachers." The book, which is being published by the MacMillan company, of New York, is a general work and will be out next month.

Up to yesterday evening the number of new students registered was 520. As regards the old students the figures are practically the same as last year. But as yet the figures for the latter have not been summed up and no definite facts can be obtained.

Charles Sawyer and Burdette Lewis spent the summer at Lead, S. D., delving in the renowned Homestake mine. This mine is the property of P. R. Hearst, of California, and is reputed to be the largest gold mine in the world, being valued at $43,000,000. The boys worked on a truck gang and were able to visit all parts of the mine and investigate its workings for themselves. Their party was made up entirely of college men, the foreman being a graduate of Clifton College, England, and hence they did not suffer from lack of suitable company.
