Among the Alumni

Sam Anderson, '03, who was one of the leading Y. M. C. A. workers here during his entire college course, is travelling in the British Isles, having stopped off for an extended visit there, on his way to Beirut, Asia Minor, where he will do missionary work. Recently he has been visiting relatives and old family friends in the southern part of Scotland, and his birthplace in the city of Glasgow. He will also visit in England, having a number of friends in that country. Later he will go to Paris, and thence up the Rhine to Edelberg, where he expects to meet a friend. He also intends making a tour of Switzerland and Italy before departing for Beirut. However, he is not in any haste to reach the latter place, owing to the unsettled conditions there, and it is doubtful if he would be allowed to enter the place as long as the present difficulties exist.

George E. Howard, a graduate of the University, and for many years one of our faculty, has just published a work entitled, "A History of Matrimonial Institutions." The book is a scientific account of the evolution of marriage, divorce and the family of the "three homes" of the English race, and is the result of more than twelve years' research.
