Editorial Remarks

It is intended to have in conjunction with the Olympic games at the world's fair in St. Louis in 1904, an Olympic football championship. There will be two series, one for colleges exclusively and another for other schools. It has been decided to have the college football championships commence Monday, November 21, and close Saturday, November 26, devoting the entire week to college football. This series will be open to teams from individual colleges and the members of the teams must be men entitled to represent the University. A handsome cup will be presented to the college winning the championship and Olympic gold medals to each member of the winning team. After the entries are in, should the schedule require a longer time, arrangements can be made to transfer football games to other days. The schedule will entirely depend upon the number of entries. If enough entries are not received to make up the Olympic series, the committee will arrange individual matches between the teams representing the east and the west. The inter-scholastic series will be held from Monday, November 7, to Saturday, November 12, inclusive. Each team in the inter-scholastic series must be made up of students that have been duly entered in the school they wish to represent for the season of 1904.

No movement has yet been started toward stirring up interest in class debates, and we do not believe that anyone has even made any suggestion in regard to the matter. It is regretted that by such an apparent consensus of opinion the question of arranging for inter-class debates should be allowed to lie dormant by the upper classmen. It seems that the Juniors and Seniors at least, might sign articles for coming to blows, as their meeting of last year stirred up considerable interest, and was—everything taken into consideration—quite a success. It seems only right that the matter should be brought up before the classes for consideration, and they should deliberate upon it, deciding for themselves, whether the undertaking is really worth the while or not.

Debating will go far toward stirring up the interests of both classes in their respective affairs, and a class feeling of this kind is much better than that sometimes displayed by non-representative individuals who stir up unpleasantness for their rivals at their parties or hops. And there is no reason why the underclassmen should not evince an interest in debating and take steps to promote a meeting. There is plenty of good material, and if the undertaking is but pushed tangible results of a substantial character will be accomplished.

The Cornhuskers are bracing themselves for a hard struggle with the Haskell Indians Saturday. Each year the Indians come fully determined to avenge past defeats. And each time they have come with increased strength and a bitter animosity to inspire them to hard and desperate effort. From all reports that have come to our ears the Indians seem to be stronger than ever. They are looking forth to this game with a ferocious anticipation, and the watch fires will blaze high around Haskell Institute if they could realize their dearest ambition.

The Nebraskan wishes to warn anyone desiring to publish a communication in its columns that he must either sign the article or acquaint the editor with his identity. We are willing to publish any article of sufficient merit, as long as it is accounted for, but can not assume the responsibility of printing matter that has nothing to indicate from what source it came. All who are willing to sign an article and assume the responsibility for it are welcome to hand it in for publication, but we reserve the right to make such comment upon it as we may deem best.

The Senior class has again set the example for class programs, the girls being as usual the pioneers in the movement. If possible they will compel the boys to help. Otherwise they will act on their own responsibility. It is to be desired that the other classes will fall in line and profit by their example. Such events bring out the individuality of the class and inspire a feeling of unity among the members, especially when they are all banded together in one movement. The greater the interest evinced by the class in the more successful will be the program, and it is the aim of those in charge of affairs to stir up an interest, in which every member of the class shall be a partaker.

Academy Notes.

Hereafter chapel will be held on Monday in order to avoid conflicts with the University convocation periods.

Still the registration grows. Some half dozen new students were enrolled the last few days. It now looks as though the principal's optimistic forecast will be realized.

The Academy pin, which was especially designed for the Academy by an eastern firm has proved so pleasing that the new students are already sending in their orders. The pins may be obtained from Tucker, the O street jeweler.

It is surprising how much trouble one small class can create. The Cicero division has compelled a total rearrangement of nearly every afternoon class. The principal has learned by experience that it doesn't pay to leave the hours unfixed in any instance.

Secretary Dean Ringer of the University Y. M. C. A. pleased the young people at chapel exercises Monday morning. He called attention to the many forms of activity in association work and cordially invited the young men to connect themselves with the association.

Miss Mabel Ashley sends word that she will return this week to resume her Academy work. Miss Ashley was detained two weeks at the opening of school by the serious illness of her mother, and had only been on the grounds one day when she was again summoned home. Teachers and students will be glad to welcome her back.

The Academy again went down in defeat before the vigorous onslaught of the husky sons of Bethany last Saturday afternoon. The score was 11 to 0, and still the fellows insist that they will yet bear away scalps. A game with Wymore is nearly arranged for

The Student Who Wins His Way

Must possess a winning way. No one factor will be of such vast aid to him as the stylish clothing that this store sells. There is a snap and quality to Armstrongs clothing that is not observable in other makes. Just as good garments can be bought here for $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 and $18.00 as can be had from a tailor for twice the amount. The cloth is the best. The weave is the prettiest. The tailoring is the most exact. The careful hand work leaves nothing to be desired. The result is the most pleasing. We take a particular pride in fitting out the young men for we know if we do our work well we will reap our reward in his patronage throughout future years.
