INDIANS IN TOWN

Anxious for Cornhuskers' Scalps. Comments on the Game.

Today is the day of the big game. Are you going? You most certainly can not afford to miss it, one of the big games of the season.

The Indians always have a team that knows how to make things interesting. Fleet of foot, nery and strong and understanding the game to a nicety, they keep up the play from the time the ball is kicked off until the referee's whistle blows for time in the last half.

They arrived in the city last night on a belated train, which did not pull into the station until after 12 o'clock. They are registered at the Lindell.

The game is called for 3 o'clock this afternoon. Follow up the band and go into the grounds and help to make things lively.

The two rooting squads, which will be stationed on opposite sides of the field, will bring back to memory some of the former games, when the team was cheered to an echo from start to finish, whether they went down to defeat or carried off the honors of the day.

If you are not already in one of the squads, bring along your megaphone this afternoon and test the power of your lungs.

The team went out to the state farm last night for the last final secret practice before the game.

Those who have not seen the team practicing for the last few days will find a surprise in store for them which will delight their souls. The marked improvement in their work since the Denver game has been nothing short of miraculous. Coach Booth has done wonders and the team has responded to his earnest work in a manner which can not help but be gratifying to him. The manner of attack of the back field has been greatly improved. There is much more unity and harmony in their work than has been shown before this year.

The line men are getting to know each other better and to understand each other's manner of play. This is one of the great secrets in successful line work.

You may have a line composed of all star men, men who know the game through and through, but if they do not know each other and do not have some unity in their manner of play in nine teams out of ten that crack line will fall back before one which is much inferior individually but which has unity and harmony in its play.

The Nebraska line has gradually introduced this phase, this unity, into its plays. Watch the results of it and see for yourself how true it is that unity and absolute harmony is the key note of success on a football field.

The open style of play this year throws new obstacles in the path of a coach who is endeavoring to perfect the "unity-playing" of his team.

For those who are anxious to become familiar with the finer points of the game we would suggest that they watch the playing of the Nebraska ends today. They are both men well grounded in all the more delicate points of the game and they will put up a style of play which will be a most palatable morsel for the most exacting.

Lastly, and by no means the least important, is the manner in which Bender handles the ball at quarter. His work there has proved him a true artist in every sense of the word and before the season is over he will take rank with the foremost quarters of the west.

In the line-up which follows will be found among the Indians the name of Archiquett.

It was stated that this valuable man would not be in the line-up this year. In the face of a fact we must acknowledge that we made a mistake through misinformation.

Although acknowledging an error we are not sorry that Archiquett is to play, as he is a good man and will most naturally strengthen the team, which only means more glory for Nebraska in defeating them.

Following is the line-up of the two teams:

Nebraska.	Haskell.
Wilson .....	Archiquette
Robertson .....	Lugo
Hunter .....	Kullin
Borg .....	Hunt
Cotton .....	Deegan
Mason, Cy. ....	Oliver
Benedict .....	Shoulderblade
Bender .....	Falls
Bell .....	Macker
Mason G. ....	Elkins
Eager .....	Moore

Medical Society Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Medical society Thursday evening a paper was read by Miss Fairchild on "Gathering Material," and one by Miss Winifred Tucker on the "Oxygen Cure." Dr. Ward's offer of giving up his home for a social October 30 was accepted, and a committee appointed to arrange the social.

The following names were added to the membership roll: John W. Roberts, E. M. Ware, Miss Darlyne Munday, E. N. Arnold, Ira J. Clark, Miss A. A. Tucker, Charles S. Stoakes and Jas. M. Woodward. The first year students will elect a quiz master next Monday.

Prohibition Association Organize.

Mr. D. Leigh Colvin, national president of the Intercollegiate Prohibition association, spoke to a fair audience of students Thursday evening on the prohibition movement among the students over the country.

An organization was formed and the following officers were elected: Miles R. Daughters, president; George Grobb, vice president; John D. Bradley, secretary, and J. B. Potts, treasurer.

Word From Dean Bessey

A postal card has been received from Dean Bessey, now in Halle, Germany, containing the following information: "We are just back from Russia, well and hearty. I sail October 3, and expect to reach Lincoln Oct. 24, all ready for work on Oct. 26. Have had a very interesting and profitable trip."

Palladian Meeting.

The Palladian Boys will argue the question: "Resolved, That private ownership of land should be limited." Messrs. Monroe and B. A. Anderson will have the affirmative, and Baird and Holensworth the negative. Meeting called at 8 p. m.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

Sophomores to Duplicate Freshman Admission Certificates.

Monday the warring interests of the Freshman and Sophomore factions will clash if the present outlook does not change. Certificates of membership have been mailed to all the Freshmen, and the Sophomores are making arrangements to fit themselves out in a similar manner. These certificates are printed on card-board and each is stamped with the University of Nebraska signature. The Sophomores are planning to have their tickets printed and stamped in the same manner for themselves, and expect to gain admission to Monday's meeting in this manner.

The attitude of the Freshmen toward this action of the Sophomores is best explained by the following statement made by one of the leading members of the Freshman class:

"The Sophs will find trouble if they expect to repeat in Monday's meeting what they did a week ago. This talk of duplicate certificates does not frighten the Freshmen at all. The Sophs will have a hard time making an exact imitation of one of our certificates, and where will they get the University of Nebraska signature? If they try to imitate it or use it without being authorized they will be guilty of forgery and will get themselves into hot water.

"And even if they do succeed in getting in by means of such a forgery, they will find small remuneration for their trouble. We expect to have a number of upper classmen with us—responsible men—who will help pick out any intruders, and all caught in this manner will be given the treatment they deserve.

"We expect to have our meeting Monday without the consent of the Sophs, and if they attempt to interfere in any way, we will make them wish that they had behaved themselves and left us alone. They say that the fact that our tickets are not signed by the registrar and that because these have only the signature of the University, they can not be held guilty of forgery if they imitate them. We have our own opinion about that and would advise them not to draw their conclusions too hastily. We are prepared to do all that we say, and if the Sophs are wise they will occupy themselves in some useful occupation instead of earning rough treatment for themselves.

There is certainly a tone of defiance about this, and if the Freshmen do all that they say, the Sophomores had better take their advice and keep out. But the Sophs do not seem to be daunted at all and they are busy telling what they expect to do. They think the Freshmen are wasting their money on the certificates, and hope to figure largely in Monday's meeting. They are confident in their ability to make themselves felt and are busy with designs aiming at the downfall of the "Unfortunate" Freshmen.

ARE ORGANIZING

Maxwell Debating Club is Set on Foot Once More.

The Maxwell Debating club, which has always held a prominent place in the University in debating and parliamentary drill, will be reorganized and a new constitution adopted. The club is primarily for law students and the training it furnishes is such as will be particularly valuable to a lawyer. The work of the club is to be conducted in a more systematic manner and its scope broadened. These steps are the result of a special meeting of the Senior laws and the matter is to be submitted to the Freshman and Junior classes. Reorganization will be perfected this evening in the law lecture room and all law students, whether members of the club or not, are urged to be present. A good parliamentarian will occupy the chair and a little preliminary drill will be indulged in. The meeting will be called to order at 8 p. m. sharp.

New Football Song.

Following is the new football song, and every student should make an effort to learn it. The rooting squads will set the pace this afternoon, and it is up to the rest of the student body to follow suit:

"In the Good Old Football Time."
(To the tune of "In the good old summer time.")

In the good old football time,
In the good old football time,
Rolling down the five-yard line,
Scoring all the time,
Around the end and through the line,
And that's a very good sign,
That Nebraska wins the Championship
In the good old football time.

It is the intention of the University Band to give a concert in Memorial Hall about January 1. The proceeds will go for the new building fund. The band, under the leadership of Prof. Hagenow, and with the assistance of a few vocalists, would be able to give a concert that would merit the support of every University student, to say nothing of the cause for which it is to be given.

The ten-minute song services held every day at 12:20 in the Y. W. C. A. room are increasing in interest and attendance. About forty were present at the meeting on Friday, which was addressed by Mr. Colvin national president of the Intercollegiate Prohibition association. Mr. Colvin gave a short and very interesting talk on the aims and work of the association.

The Palladian girls will resume their custom of holding social afternoon meetings within a short time. These meetings are held on Saturday afternoon of each month, from 3 to 5 at the homes or rooms of the girls. All Palladian girls are invited. Each girl takes a nickel's worth of something for refreshments.

The geological department has just received a fine large collection of specimens from Mr. J. P. Davis, of Nampa, Idaho. The collection was made by Miss Lyda P. Patterson, an assistant of Dr. Alexander Winchell, University of Michigan.

All Y. M. C. A. lockers have been rented. They are in such demand that new ones will be put in as soon as possible.
