SPIRIT DISPLAYED

Football Rally Calls Forth Spirited Speeches and Enthusiasm.

The Convocation period yesterday was devoted to the second and most enthusiastic football rally of the season. The meeting was opened by Clark Bell, who called for the University yells and met with excellent responses, especially from the left side of the house. Dr. Condra, who acted throughout as master of ceremonies, called for a selection from the band, which was rendered with an energy befitting the occasion.

Dr. Pound was the first speaker, and devoted his remarks to the subject of rooting. He considered the rooters as important for the success of the game as the actual players. Nothing is more discouraging for the team than to have a magnificent yell break off in the middle in an awed "Oh-h-h!" as some play of particular brilliance is executed. We must "root with one hand and yell with the other." Everyone should get out Saturday and yell the team to victory.

Captain Bender next took the floor, but confined his remarks to discussing Colorado's strength and the danger of over-confidence. Professor Bolton replied to some disparaging insinuations as to his knowledge of the game by relating some of his experiences in the University of Michigan, which created considerable amusement. Prof. Bolton pointed out, however, the lack of interest and spirit that exists here as compared with other colleges, and entered a vigorous plea for more and better rooting.

Dr. Ross was called upon to demonstrate the impossibility of his being hurled by Professor Caldwell in the coming carnival. He considered such an occurrence beneath his notice, however, and, instead, ably defended football as a moral and mental discipline, as well as a physical one. He wished Nebraska to bear victory with modesty and defeat with equanimity.

Manager Buckner began his remarks by the statement that an attendance of at least 2,000 will be necessary to defray the expenses of the next game. He repeated Captain Bender's warning that Colorado was no "cinch," and urged that the interest in football should not be confined to Knox and Illinois, but should be divided among the games where the team needs the support fully as much as in the larger ones.

E-Captain John Westover pleaded for a better "scrub" line-up. The attendance at practice which began so auspiciously with fifty-eight men has dwindled down so that the coaches now have to fill positions in the practice line-up. Men should not be discouraged by the seeming impossibility of making the first team, but should take advantage of the practice for the sake of the exercise, if for no other reason.

Clark Bell announced just before the closing selection by the band that fifty grandstand tickets would be distributed to rooters this morning at 10 o'clock from the south entrance to the main building.

CAPTAIN CHASE EXPLAINS

New Ruling of War Department Made Clear.

Captain Chase, in an interview with a Nebraskan reporter, has explained the new ruling of the war department and the effect this ruling will have upon schools with a military department, and more especially upon our own institution.

From the six institutions which have a military department with a regular officer of the army at the head of that department, and which stand highest in efficiency, six graduate students will be appointed as second lieutenants of the regular army upon the recommendation of the officer of the school from which they graduated. Regular officers of the army will from time to time inspect the cadets of every institution and report their standard of efficiency to the war department.

To a graduate student who secures this appointment, it means a life position in the army and a rank equal to the average graduate of West Point. However, he will not have the four years of military education. But if he is ambitious he may continue his studies after this appointment and be assigned to one of the schools for the advanced training of officers, such as is located at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Here he may obtain an education equal to that given at West Point, and at the same time hold his position and receive his regular salary.

Brilliant opportunities for bright and ambitious young men are thus afforded. A young man may be assigned to some foreign embassy or legation and thus have an excellent opportunity to travel and study in foreign countries.

A STUPENDOUS EVENT.

Faculty Preparing in Earnest for Field Meet.

Those in charge of arrangements for the Faculty Field Meet to be held October 31st, are working vigorously in bringing their plans to perfection. The process of organization is progressing rapidly and soon all those expecting to take part will be practicing zealously. The enthusiasm with which the faculty are taking hold of this matter and the spirit shown by each in accepting as an obligation a share in making the meeting a success is indeed commendable.

Dr. Condra and George Shedd have been busy picking out football material, and when they have made all the arrangements that they have in view the 'Varsity team will have cause to tremble for its reputation. Their efforts toward organization have met with surprising results. Dr. Condra's team expected to line up yesterday evening, and Mr. Shedd will not fall behind in putting his proteges into training.

Prof. Spencer and Dr. Ward have assumed the responsibility of arranging a baseball game. Mr. Spencer has already named the members of his team, who are as follows: Condra, Hinman, Barker, Stuff, Barbour, Fogg, Dean, Loveland and Westerman. Dr. Ward has not been able to look after picking his team thus far, but will take up the matter at once and contemplates securing the services of a professional battery if necessary. Both are profuse in their statements as to the merits of their respective teams, enthusiasm overcoming modesty. Prof. Spencer will have his team out tonight for practice.

Perhaps the most exciting events of the meet with the hammer-throw and the shot-put contests between Professors Ross and Caldwell. While both of these gentlemen are reticent in their statements, each modestly states that he expects to win.

A wheelbarrow race is being arranged. Professor Dann has been entered for this contest, and if no other entries are made it is quite likely that he will win. Prof. Hodgman will race against all comers and may be seen training any time upon the Uni. walks.

Prof. Stout and Morse will do some startling things in the way of sleight-of-hand performances. Prof. Clapp and his assistants will tumble, like the fellows we used to see in the circus, and Mrs. Clapp, together with members of her classes, will furnish some delightful entertainment, in presenting here the game of hockey.

GET CONSTITUTION

Sophomores Steal Valuable Document From Commitman.

Through the kindness of the Sophomores, who succeeded in purloining the Freshman constitution yesterday afternoon, we are enabled to reproduce what purports to be a genuine copy of that valuable document giving it as far as it was completed. We trust that it will be of news interest to many. The Freshmen seem to have the right idea in laying down measures regulating the administration of class affairs, and the wording and style of the constitution, shows excellent executive ability. We are not acquainted with the methods employed by the Sophomores in securing this document, except that they induced one of the committeemen to give it up. Following is a copy of the constitution as far as it goes:

PREAMBLE.

We, the members of the class of 1907 of the State University of Nebraska, in order to insure unanimity, do hereby formulate and establish the following Constitution and By-Laws:

ARTICLE I.

This organization shall be known as the Class of '07, of the State University of Nebraska.

ARTICLE II.

Officers.

The officers of this organization shall be a president, vice president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, treasurer, and class attorney.

ARTICLE III.

Duties of Officers.

Section I.

Clause 1. It shall be the duty of the president to preside at all meetings of the class, unless he desires to call the vice president to the chair.

Clause 2. Appointments—The president shall appoint all committees (a sergeant-at-arms for each meeting) and shall have the assignment of specific duties to any members unless otherwise provided for.

Clause 2. Vote of the President—The president shall vote on no question which comes up before the house except in case of a tie or in the election of officers.

Clause 4. Points of Order—The president shall decide all points of order.

Clause 5. Called Meetings—The president shall, at the written request of ten (10) members, call a business meeting, at which only the business for which it was called can be considered.

Section II.

Clause 1. Vice President—The vice president shall perform the duties of the president in the absence of the latter.

Maxwells Debate

The first regular meeting of the Maxwell Debating club will be held in the law lecture room next Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp. After a short business meeting the following question will be debated: "Resolved, That the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States should be repealed." The affirmative will be supported by Messrs. Beaver and Gibson, while Messrs. Kurz and Theobald will oppose them on the negative side.

A parliamentary drill will follow the debate.

Football Practice.

Owing to the rousing football rally at chapel yesterday morning six new men appeared on the field for practice last night.

Dean Ringer was out with a suit on to lend his assistance as a coach. Just before practice began he took the ball and kicked a few from the thirty yard line. It seemed like old times to see him out again and made some of the older men on the side lines grow reminiscent and compare this year's team with those of former years, and the team of the present suffered no evil from the comparison.

Those who saw the practice of last year will remember Hickle of second team fame. He was one of the new men who appeared last night and will be of great value this year during the practices.

This result of the earnest talks of the morning's rally were very pleasing to the manager and coaches of the team and show them that they have the spirit of the University behind them, which counts for a good deal.

The practice was even more snappy than usual, owing to the keenness of the air. The men were all keyed up to a high pitch and went into the work with a vim which was amazing.

Borg, the center, who has made an enviable reputation for himself, had the sad misfortune to have his shoulder dislocated a couple of nights ago and has not been able to take any part in the scrimmages since. There is a possibility that he will not be able to play Saturday against Colorado. He will, however, be in shape for the Knox game.

Robertson will be in condition for Saturday's game.

Bender is practically over his injury. Watch him do some work in Saturday's game.

The Colorado team will arrive this afternoon at 3 o'clock over the Rock Island and will register at the Lindell hotel.

Manager Buckner returned Wednesday from Omaha, where he has been in consultation with the Iowa management regarding the possibility of playing the Iowa-Nebraska game at Omaha.

Although not fully decided as yet, the probability is that the arrangements can not be made. The game will probably be played at Iowa City as was first scheduled.

This will be a disappointment to many of the students, but it is one of those things which can not be helped.

Be sure and come out to the game tomorrow and lend your assistance to cheering on the team to victory.

Game called at 3 o'clock. Admission, 50 cents.

Teachers Meet.

The opening meeting of the Nebraska Principals and Superintendents was held in Memorial hall last night and the following program was carried out: Business Men's Criticisms of the Public Schools.—J. W. Crabtree Lincoln.

Suggestions for a Revision of the High School Manual:

1. Should the order and arrangement of subjects be changed in standard courses.
2. Maximum number of recitations per week for each pupil.
3. What subjects not now accredited should be accredited?

—G. P. Griffith, Pawnee, City. Discussion—H. K. Wolfe, Lincoln; R. H. Graham, West Point; G. H. Thomas, McCook; Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, Lincoln.

The association will meet this morning at 9 a. m., in U. 107. The meetings are interesting and instructive, and all expecting to follow this line of work should attend.
