

The Daily Nebraskan

VOL. III. NO. 30

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1903.

PRICE 3 CENTS

MAY BE POSTPONED

If Flag Is at Half Mast, There Will Be No Carnival Today.

If the flag hangs at half-mast this morning there will indeed be cause for grief. News, sad and melancholy, would be heralded abroad, to sadden the hearts of the faithful and bring unspeakable sorrow to disappointed members of the faculty.

If the flag is at half-mast at nine o'clock and after this morning, the Athletic Carnival will be postponed until next Tuesday morning, when it is hoped the rain god will be more propitious. This is the means decided upon of acquainting the students of the lamentable fact, if it is necessary to postpone the Carnival, which will likely be the case. Indeed the occasion would be a sad one and the students would have as much cause to grieve as if one of their beloved friends or instructors had passed away, or if The Nebraskan was suspended.

The mere fact of the Carnival being postponed is the only cause for regret. If it were postponed indefinitely then the blow to us all would be hard to bear, but there is a comforting and assuring hope held out. If it can't be held today it will be held Tuesday, so that after all none of us will be deprived of a privilege which is both an honor and a blessing to possess and a priceless treasure into the bargain.

We may even look for a better class of entertainment. The professors will have all day Sunday to practice, being unhampered by work or detracting considerations. Improvement acquired at their stage in the course of training is noticeable indeed, and the delay will be for the good of the game. Nothing will be omitted from the program and we will get a half-holiday into the bargain; for who'll be there to teach us? The faculty won't for they will all be at the meet. Those who do not take part will arrange themselves along the wire fence in order of height, and boxes to stand on will be provided for those needing them.

Whatever happens, don't feel discouraged. If the rain does spoil our pleasure today, it will help the crops. What's our loss is someone else's gain. And our loss of today will be our gain Tuesday. Let us at least be philosophical and bear our disappointment in good part, keeping in mind the fact that the meeting will be held in spite of present discouragement.

PRIZES FOR MEDICS.

Dr. Orr Gives Incentive to Medical Students.

To encourage careful note-taking on the lectures in the History of Medicine and collateral reading with additions to the notes taken in the lecture room, it has been decided to make the following offer:

For the best set of notes submitted at the end of the course, a first prize of medical books to the value of $10 will be given. A second prize of medical books to the value of $5 will be given to the student who submits the set of notes which are considered to be the second best. The following rules shall govern the competition:

The notes when submitted shall be written clearly on index cards such as have already been recommended for use in this course.

They must be written carefully on one or both cards and one subject only to occupy each card. More than one card may be used if necessary for a single subject.

The prize will be awarded after hav-

FACULTY ATHLETIC CARNIVAL

Today or Tuesday

At 2:30 today if the weather permits, otherwise 2:30 Tuesday

HALF HOLIDAY IF CARNIVAL IS HELD TUESDAY AFTERNOON
University flag will be hung at half-mast after 9 o'clock today if carnival is postponed

ing been judged by the following points: Quantity of material collected, value of the notes and the care and neatness with which they are prepared.

The best three sets will be chosen by the lecturer and the best two of these will be decided with the assistance of Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, and Dr. H. B. Ward, dean of the department.

H. WINNETT ORR,
Lecturer in the History of Medicine.

The Union Debating club will discuss the following question tonight: "Resolved, That England should adopt Chamberlain's tariff policy." Milek and Schneider will uphold the affirmative, Brubaker and Daughters the negative.

J. A. Barrett is now engaged in preparing a list of the surviving members of the Nebraska constitutional convention of 1875, by correspondence with the survivors.

University Lecture Bureau.

Owing to the frequent calls from different parts of the state for University men to lecture, a lecture bureau has been arranged under the direction of the committee on University extension work. This plan is very similar to the lecture bureau in connection with Chicago University, which has become very famous and which sends men out to all parts of the country.

The work here was systematized this year under Professor G. W. A. Luckey, chairman, and Virginia H. Clark, secretary of the University extension committee. The names of the various lecturers are arranged alphabetically in the bureau over their topics. A number of the professors have already been out, and the secretary, Mrs. Clark, is in receipt of a number of communications asking for men in the near future.

Professor Barbour lectured Thursday at York on the "Yellowstone National Park." Professor Fossler will give his lecture on "Vacation Rambles in Europe," before the Richardson County Teachers' association, Nov. 6, at Verdon, and Professor Grummann will lecture at Hastings next week.

New Songs for University Use

OUR UNI.

Nestling in a fertile valley,
Neath Nebraska's smiling sun,
Rise the strong walls of our college,
Scene of many battles won.
From afar we see their outline,
Clear against the western sky;
Like some high and lofty purpose,
Seeming time's strength to defy.

Chorus.

So here's to our loved college;
May her gem of success ever gleam,
May her students be true to their colors,
Three cheers for the Scarlet and Cream.

In the battle of life still before us,
When far from the campus we roam,
We'll be true to the Varsity colors,
The banner that waves o'er our home.

Brave old Uni. How we love Thee,
How we cherish thy dear Fame,
How each student heart is stirring
At the mention of thy name.
All our hopes and aspirations
Found their birth within thy walls;
We have breathed the air of Freedom
In thy class rooms and thy halls.

Chorus:

When the daylight yields to twilight,
And the sun sinks to his rest;
Over all the world reflected
Are the colors we love best.
Far across the sky at sunset
We behold our colors gleam
O'er the fields and o'er the valley
Streams the Scarlet and the Cream.

Chorus:

Ah, we love Thee, Dear Old Uni!
With a love that will endure.
Time can only mould thy memory
Into purpose high and pure.
As it made us better students
So 'twill make us better men.
Our respect, our love, our friendship,
Will continue to the end.

Chorus:

ALMA MATER—NEBRASKA.

On the bosom of the prairie,
Far out in the west,
There are dear old college buildings,
All in glory dressed.

Refrain.

Hail, Nebraska, hail! Hail to thee and hail to the Scarlet and Cream.
Fairlest of all the colors—the Scarlet and the Cream.

When the wanderer disheartened,
Woods sweet memory;
From the shelf he takes a volume,
One that speaks of thee.

Refrain:

Standing by our Alma Mater
Till the day we die;
Ever will we fondly greet her,
Shouting to the sky:
Refrain:

THE UNI.

Let us shout for old Nebraska,
Let the trumpets loudly blow;
For the glory of the Uni.
That has conquered every foe.

Oh, the Uni. is a winner,
And she does it up so fine,
That the teams who dare confront her
Can not phaze her sturdy line.

Thus, if football is in season
She is ever at the front,
With a Bender for a long run
Or a Benedict to punt.

Or, perchance, 'tis on the rostrum,
Then again she towers high;
She can triumph o'er this section
Though she needn't half but try.

Let us cheer for old Nebraska,
Let the hills and vales resound;
Causing terror to the Uni's
For a thousand miles around.

AT A STANDSTILL

Football Affairs Dull in Absence of Team'

All affairs in football circles were at a standstill last night owing to the rain. A dull, misty, clammy feeling pervaded the atmosphere and filled the souls of the rain-coated, umbrellaed being hurrying "souzingly" across the damp campus.

This change of weather broods no good for the game at Iowa City tomorrow. The team will be in a strange place on an untried ground and possibly may be outweighed. On a heavy field a light fast team can not do as good work as a heavier slower one.

But we have faith in the ability of the Nebraska team to adapt itself to any conditions and to be able to rise above any obstacles. How big is our score going to be?

There will be bulletins of the game at different points about the city, both from the Daily Star and the Evening News. Owing to the courtesy of both these papers it will be possible for all who so desire to follow the game closely throughout.

The second team leaves this morning for Grand Island, where they will play the Grand Island College team.

The team is in good condition and will give the Grand Island boys all they want, and we think, a little too much.

The following men go on the trip: Laird, Striker, Barta, Frazier, Burns, Newon, De Bey, Myers, Foster, Drain, Craig, Stein, Weller, Calhoun.

The train leaves at 10:30 over the Burlington Route.

A splendid exhibition of the game of football was given at the F. & M. park yesterday afternoon by the Lincoln and York high schools. The field was slippery and in consequence all very brilliant work was eliminated.

The York team had the advantage in weight, which counted much in their favor owing to the condition of the ground.

Neither side was able to score. In the second half Lincoln took a brace and rushed the York team down to York's 10-yard line, where one of the Lincoln men was laid out and after the delay which this cause Lincoln was unable to strike the touchdown pace, and York held on her 10-yard line. This was the nearest to the making of a score during the game.

Today is the faculty field meet, don't miss it. It will go on record in the history of the University as one of the events of athletic interest. Unless the field is too bad the affair will happen as scheduled.

Freshmen To Meet Monday.

The Freshmen are making final preparations to complete their class organization. They will meet again in U. 107 to complete the necessary arrangements and choose their officers for the present semester. Every Freshman is urged to come and bring his green ticket, as this alone will admit him to the meeting. A large representation is desired in order that the officers elected may be the choice of the class as a whole. At the last meeting a constitution was adopted, but time was lacking for the election of officers. But Monday there will be a complete election, there being no other business on hand or in view to hinder. The list of candidates has narrowed down, so that only the following are in the field. Sunderlin, Scott, Voorhees and Grinnell.

If you want your feet to be comfortable and look trim and pretty, wear Sanderson's $3.50 and $4.00 Special Warranted patent colt shoes.

Support the faculty and the faculty will support you.
