Editorial Remarks

There is a lull now in debating affairs preliminary to a busy season. At present Kansas is being waited upon to announce her choice of a question, on which our team will be allowed the choice of sides. As soon as all the negotiations pending with her are completed, there will begin a busy whirl culminating in the two great big debates that make up the schedule this year. The preliminaries will soon begin, and they will call forth an unusual degree of effort among candidates for places owing to the prizes that have been offered and the additional honor of winning them.

Students should not neglect to call at the postoffice for their mail. The complaint is made that large quantities of mail accumulates every week through the failure of the owners to call, and much inconvenience is caused thereby. Each student should endeavor to call for his mail regularly, at least once every week or two, even if he can not find it convenient to be more prompt. Oftentimes valuable letters are allowed to lie for a long time before being called for and oftentimes they are neglected altogether. Hence each student should for his own best interests, if for no other reason, call regularly for his mail.

The pleas that have been made in behalf of the Art Exhibit should not be allowed to pass unheeded. Each student should make it a point to attend at some time before it closes, as he will be amply compensated for any trouble that he may be put to. The exhibit this year surpasses all former ones, and the work of the best American artists is presented. In fact the excellence of the features that have been provided are recognized, and that is all the more a reason why University people should attend. The expenses of presenting such an exhibit here are considerable, and all that those in charge desire is that the receipts be sufficient to meet these. They aim and lend their efforts to cultivate an art taste here and to give University people an opportunity to view a first class exhibit. All who attend will be fully compensated by the benefit received.

This evening both our first team and the faculty team will each engage in strife with opponents of corresponding rank and station from the high school. In the high school boys our first team will find a good opportunity for practice, perhaps the last that will be afforded before entering upon the regular schedule. Since the defeat administered to them by their fellow workers from Wesleyan the faculty team has reorganized and expects to make a stronger showing this evening. No charges of professionalism will be considered this time, and the faculty will frantically endeavor to undermine the hopes and expectations of the high school professors by sabduling, them completely. Both games will be highly interesting, and as but one admission will be charged they ought to draw a good crowd.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

Mrs. Naomi K. Easterday will address the Y. W. C. A. next Sunday at 3 p. m. in U. 101. Her talk will be on the work of the national convention held in Wilkesbarre, Pa. last April.

The efforts of the Y. W. C. A. girls to raise their pledge for the Temple Fund are beginning to show results. The treasurer, Miss Shinbur, reports that she has received this week about $80. All girls who have not made their pledge are urged to do so at once.

Liederkrantz Preparing Program.

The Liederkrantz is reporting good progress, and good results are being obtained under the leadership of Mrs. Raymond. The membership at the Wednesday period has been slightly better than on Monday. At present there are about forty members. A program will be given at one of the convocation periods soon.

Buildings Progress at the Farm.

Most of the buildings in process of construction at the State Farm are nearing completion. The dairy building, horticultural building, and the shops are almost completed. An addition has been built to the boiler house. Registration for the short term in agriculture has been going on all week. Thus far ninety have registered, and more are expected to stray in. Sixty students are taking the long course. At present class rooms are crowded and some difficulty is being experienced in accommodating all of the students. No relief can be expected until the new $60,000 building is put up. Work on it will not begin until spring.

All basket ball men not included in the original list will practice Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30. It is especially requested that all Junior men make it a point to attend this practice in order to strengthen their class team.

The Glee club is rounding into shape for giving a number of concerts, and good progress is reported along the whole line. Besides holding its regular practice Tuesday night, the club met at the home of Director Eames Wednesday evening. All the parts are full, new music has been provided, and the prospects are bright for a successful season. The club consists of twenty members, most of whom have served before. A concert will be given in the near future, and a trip is also planned.

The members of the Athletic Board have expressed a desire that all the students patronize the basket ball games that will be played here this season in order to ease the financial situation. As is well known a $500 deficit exists in the athletic treasury, and a liberal attendance at the games will contribute towards wiping it out. A strong schedule will be arranged and some good games will be played here such as will merit public patronage. The Minnesota Agricultural College has sent word to Manager Hewitt that it would like to meet Nebraska, and it is quite likely that a game will be arranged.

M. B. Campbell has recovered from a protracted illness, and is again attending classes.
