STILL HANGS FIRE

Question With Kansas Unsettled. Debating Notes.

The question for the Kansas-Nebraska debate is still undecided. The reply to Nebraska's letter of last Friday regarding the question Kansas submitted that day, Secretary Ryner received a note yesterday from Professor Frazier saying that Nebraska's reply would be taken up at a special meeting of the debating council yesterday afternoon. Of the council's action word is expected to arrive this morning.

For the interstate debates a new and larger bulletin board has been put up by the side of the faculty bulletin board in University Hall.

Amherst and Bowdoin have formed a two years' agreement to debate.

The inter-class debates at Brown figure prominently among the events of the year.

Missouri is arranging a debate with Texas to take the place of the Nebraska debate.

Missouri is out for the third straight victory over Illinois. The debate takes place at Urbana in April.

At Wisconsin the short-course Agricultural Debating society and the Dairy School Debating society are holding a series of debates on practical questions pertaining to the work in those departments.

For conducting the debates in the Columbia-Cornell-Pennsylvania league, Pennsylvania has suggested that all the debates be held on the same date and on the same question, each University having two teams.

At Iowa a board, similar to Nebraska's has been appointed by the University senate, to manage the inter-collegiate debates and oratorical contests. It is composed of the professor of public speaking and four other professors and two students.

For the Kansas-Missouri debate the justification of the Fifteenth Amendment will be debated. Missouri has the affirmative. The debate will take place at Lawrence the middle of April. Each institution has won three debates of the series so this year's contest, says "The Missouri Independent," will be of unusual interest.
