DAVIS IS MANAGER

Game With Grand Island. Dr. Pound Base Ball Chairman.

The Athletic Board met yesterday evening and elected E. F. Davis, of Lexington, manager of the football team for next year. The three candidates for the place were J. K. Morrison, E. F. Davis and P. J. Harrison, all competent men. Mr. Davis is well acquainted with the routine work of the Athletic Board, having served as student member of that body and being also a good business man, is well fitted for the place to which he has been elected. He was second assistant manager of the football team this year and proved a reliable man in this capacity.

The campaign has been a busy one, as all three of the candidates were able to command a large following of friends. The membership of the board was not present.

A game was scheduled with Grand Island College for Sept. 24th, which is the first game on the schedule. Dr. Pound was elected chairman of the baseball committee.

Charter Day men will meet in the gymnasium at 4 o'clock today. The track team men, also the gymnastic team men, will meet at the same hour.

The men who are working for the long distance running will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock. If the weather is too severe to admit of our door mittees will be held as usual.

Canines Must Suffer.

The watchman of the library has received orders to kill at sight any dogs that may make their appearance in or about the library. Yesterday the first victim met its sad fate, by suffering sudden death at the cruel hands of the janitor. This action has been necessitated by the frequency of dogs in the library and the disturbance they often cause. Any method of extermination from chloroform to a club will be employed. Students and visitors of the library, who care anything for their pets, may profit by a gentle warning to keep dogs away from the library.

Prof. Dann Gives a Lecture.

Professor Dann of the Greek department gave a highly interesting illustrated lecture at convocation yesterday morning on early Italian art. In the passing of religions with the different periods the place of art could readily be discerned, growing to greater importance until the ecclesiastical became the minor part. The lecture was very much appreciated by students of art as well as those who are not so conversant with this branch of education.

Answer From Kansas Expected.

Kansas has not yet sent a reply to the last communication of our debating council, who had entered into further correspondence in regard to a question. A reply is expected today telling what she desires to do about a question. It is planned to debate the same question with Washington as is used in the meeting with Kansas.

The regular cabinet meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the association rooms this evening at 7:30. Reports by the chairmen of various committees will be held as usual.

Ex-Chancellor Benton Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning university people will be given an opportunity of hearing a talk by Dr. Benton, former chancellor of this institution. Since leaving Nebraska, twenty-six years ago, Dr. Benton has been connected with Butler university, at Irvington, Ind., holding the presidency for a number of years, and continuing as an instructor in ancient languages up to within the last three years. Although eighty years of age Dr. Benton is as hale and hearty as a young man. His entire life has been devoted to education, and his strong point has always been his popularity with the students. His character as well as his devotion to this institution may be illustrated by an incident which occurred when he was chancellor here. An instructor was needed in chemistry, and as funds were low, Chancellor Benton offered to pay $500 if the University would pay the same amount. The offer was accepted and the first department assistant, G. E. Bailey, was employed. Certainly a good turnout is due Dr. Benton tomorrow morning, with a rousing University greeting.

The weekly prayer meeting in the Y. M. C. A. will be led this evening by Prof. F. W. Smith, who will discuss "Some Special Phases of Bible Study."

FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Several University Men Will Try. The Conditions.

A number of students of our university have expressed their intention of trying for the Rhodes scholarship and some of them are even now engaged in close study in the work of preparation. The actual time of holding the examination here is indefinite, although it is known that it will be held at some time shortly after the spring vacation closes. Chancellor Andrews will be chairman of the committee having in charge the arrangements of this event. The committee has not yet been announced.

A committee of the presidents of various colleges in the state met last week and laid down some general rules for conducting the examinations. They will be in charge of a committee consisting of representatives from each institution. Three half days will be devoted to the examinations. Uniform paper and ink will be used. After the response examinations the list of candidates will consist of those who passed them successfully, and the one having the best record in requirements will receive the honor.

This examination is not strictly competitive, but it is intended to give assurance that all candidates are fully qualified to enter on a course of study at Oxford University. It will therefore be based on requirements for Responses—the first public examination exacted by the University from each candidate for a degree. The Rhodes scholars will be selected from candidates who have successfully passed this examination. One scholar will be chosen for each state and territory to which scholarships are assigned.

The requirements of the Responses examination, as stated in the statutes of the University of Oxford, are as follows:

Candidates must offer the following:
(1) Arithmetic—the whole.
(2) Either Algebra or Geometry.
(3) Greek and Latin grammar.
(4) Translation from English into Latin prose.

(5) Greek and Latin authors.

Candidates must offer two books, one Greek and one Latin, or unseen translation. The following portions of the under-mentioned authors will be accepted:

Demosthenes: (1) Philippics 1-3, and Olynthiacs 1-3, or (2) De Corona.

Euripides: Any of the two following plays: Hecuba, Medea Alcestis, Bacchae.

Homer: (1) Iliad 1-5, or 2-6; or (2) Odyssey 1-5, or 2-6.

Philo, Apology and Crito.

Sophocles, Antigone and Ajax.

Xenophon, Anabasis 1-4, or 2-5.

Caesar, De Bello Gallico, 1-4.

Cicero: (1) the first two Philippic Orations; or (2) the four Catiline Orations, and In Verrem, Act 1; or (3) the orations Pro Murena and Pro Lege Manilia; or (4) the treatise De Senectute and De Amicitia.

Horace: (1) Odes 1-4; or (2) Satires; or (3) Epistles.

Livy, books 21 and 22. (After Michaelmas, 1903, books V. and VI.)

Virgil: (1) the Bucolics, with books 1-3 of the Aeneid; or (2) the Georgics; or (3) The Aeneid, Books 1-5, or 2-6.

Papers covering this range of study will be prepared by examiners appointed by the trustees, and will be sent to each centre, where, at a date publicly announced, the examination will be held under proper supervision, and the papers returned to the examiners.

A list of those who have successfully passed this test will, as soon as possible, be furnished to the chairman of the committee of selection in each state or province, or to the university making the appointment, and from this list the committee or university will proceed to elect the scholars.

The committees and universities making appointments will be furnished with a statement of the qualifications which Mr. Rhodes desired in the holders of his scholarships, and they will be asked in exercising their right to selection to comply as nearly as circumstances will permit with the spirit of the testator's wishes.

They will be asked to furnish to the trustees as full a statement as possible of the school and college career of each elected scholar, with the special grounds of his appointment, together with suggestions, if desired, as to the course of study for which he is best fitted.

It has been decided that all scholars shall have reached at least the end of their sophomore or second year work at some recognized degree-granting university of college of the United States.

Scholars must be unmarried, must be citizens of the United States and must be between nineteen and twenty-five years of age.

Where several candidates present themselves from a single college or university, the committees of selection will request the faculty of the college to decide between their claims on the basis of Mr. Rhodes' suggestions, and present to the committee the name of the candidate chosen by that college as its representative in the final election.

Candidates may elect whether they will apply for the scholarship of the state in which they have acquired the above-mentioned educational qualification, or for that of the state in which they have their ordinary private domicile, home or residence. They must be prepared to present themselves for examination in the state they select. No candidate may compete in more than one state.

Candidates for scholarships should, during the month of January, 1904, notify the chairman of the committee of selection in the state or territory for which they apply, or the head of the university appointing to the scholarship, of their intention to present themselves for examination. The decision of the committee of selection or of the university making the appointment is to be final as regards eligibility.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

A Number of Interesting Addresses Made.

Yesterday evening occurred the first of the meetings of the State Historical society, and a good-sized crowd was present in Memorial Hall, the place of meeting. The program consisted of papers and addresses on the general subject of "The Making of Nebraska Constitution," and were listened to with great interest and marked appreciation. Judge George B. Lake, of Omaha, gave an address on "The Making of the Constitution of 1866;" Judge Wakely of Omaha, on "The Convention of 1871;" Judge Broady of Lincoln, on "The Convention of 1875—The One-Night Constitution," and Judge W. M. Robertson, of Norfolk, on "The Convention of 1875—The Debate on the Separate Propositions."

This evening at 6 p. m. there will be a supper and social meeting for members of the above societies, and their visiting friends, at the Lindell. The meeting this evening will open at 8 p. m. in Memorial Hall, where there will be held a round table on the convention of 1875, conducted by Hon. J. L. Webster, president of the convention, and made up of surviving members of that body. The annual business meeting of the society will also be held.
