Campus Gleanings

Jesse Whitmore of Valley, visited old University friends over Sunday.

V. P. Gould and Ed Zimmerer are confined to their rooms by neuralgia.

The election of officers of the Junior class will be held a week from next Monday.

O. O. Snyder of Omaha, visited his daughter, Bess Snyder, at the conservatory Saturday.

Mr. Clark Mitchell, a Freshman in the University, entertained a friend from Frontier county last Sunday.

C. N. Catlin, of Peru, one of last year's Seniors, has registered for post-graduate work in the University.

A new incubator has been received by the zoological department for the use of the students in embryology.

St. Luke's Choir club will give a party at Walsh hall Thursday evening, this being the last until after Lent.

Mr. Frank Smith, who is attending the University, has been entertaining his brother, from Boulder, Colo., the last week.

Mrs. F. M. Johnson leaves today for Virginia, where she will make an extended visit at a health resort near Washington.

Professor Howe, instructor in mathematics at the Peru State Normal, and a former student of the University, spent Sunday in the city.

Miss Edna Bullock, instructor in literature at the agricultural college, and a former student of the University, visited the historical society rooms Saturday.

Tom Moore, of Bellevue, college, who played with that school against the University in the Nebraska-Bellevue game last fall, is visiting at the Sigma Chi house.

The department of botany has received a large package of plants from the herbarium of the New York botanical garden for addition to the University herbarium.

The class in the study of woods now numbers twelve. They are using Professor Snows book, "The Principal Species of Woods," a new work which has just appeared.

V. L. Strickland, now principal of the Geneva high school, and an old University man, visited in the city the latter part of last week. He expects to be back in school next year.

Professor Sheldon, of the American history department, is busily engaged in preparing the first copy of the history of our state constitutions and constitutional conventions. This promises to be an excellent and complete history of these documents and a highly commendable piece of work.

Dr. Ward leaves this evening on a lecture tour and will be gone several days. Tomorrow evening he will lecture at Warrensville, Mo., at the State Normal, and Thursday evening at the University of Kansas at Lawrence. His subject is "Mosquitoes and the Diseases They Cause." His lecture will be illustrated by fifty lantern slides, some of which were made in the department.

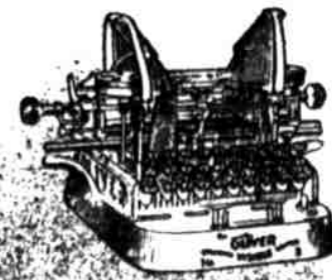

Jared G. Smith, '88, now of Honolulu, has issued the "First Annual Report of the Proceedings of the Farmers' Institutes of Hawaii," a copy of which he has sent to the botanical department. This report shows that he is as active as the director of the agricultural experiment station of Hawaii as he used to be when a study of botany in the University and a member of the botanical seminar in its early and somewhat frisky days. Valuable papers are published in this report, among which are "The Relation of the Experiment Station to the Farmer," "Pineapples," "Irish Potatoes," "The Pruning of Fruit Trees," "The Castor Bean," etc.
