The Gate of the Singing Winds.

Oh, it's far by the road of the Curving Downs,
A-scent with the fresh-plowed loam;
There lies the Gate of the Singing Winds,
Where April gets her home.

And it's merry, oh merry, the trooping winds,
That sing on the winding road;
And light of heart are the early winds
That dance with their flower bud load.

It's near, so near, to the shingled roofs,
And the cow that lows in her stall;
But never a man 'neath his own roof-tree
May measure, or find at all.

The baby comes back from his meadow play,
With a smile on his dimpled mouth,
And he tries to tell of his merry play
With the Singing Winds of the south.

The boy goes out in the dewy dawn,
Where the early violets hide;
And he comes with a strange, sly look
On his face,
But he tells not where they bide.

The seal of their kiss is yet cool on his lips,
And their breath on his mist-wet hair.
The Singing Winds of the south are sweet,
And follow him wherever he fare.

But it's merry, oh merry, the Singing Winds,
That dance on their misty way;
And light of heart are the early winds
That open the buds of May.

The Glee club will have a meeting this evening to elect a new executive, Mr. Buel Chessington not being able to act any longer.

The Palladian basket ball team will meet for practice Saturday afternoon. Their chief aim is to get into practice to play the Union fellows.

A number of the ex-students of the state normal, who are attending the University, spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. Geysers, in this city, last evening.

Nebraska's debaters are not doing any talking now-a-days in public. They will begin to do that in April. Meantime the "Nebraska system" is getting unlimbered once more.

The association of collegiate alumnae will hold its regular meeting next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. G. L. Taylor, 435 No. 25th St. There will be an Alice Freeman Palmer memorial program in charge of Mrs. H. H. Wilson. Mrs. Tuttle and Mrs. Hinman, who both knew Mrs. Palmer, will speak.

Another case of alleged plagiarism is up in the college world. This time it is over in Iowa. A. O. Knapp, of Coe College, has been charged with "cribbing" his oration, delivered in the recent Iowa state collegiate oratorical contest, on "Greater Britain." In trying him almost a day was consumed. He was acquitted by a vote of 21 to 20.

The Historical society has just received a photograph of Mark W.

Izard, who was territorial governor of Nebraska from 1855 to 1857, having first served as marshal for this district. He was a member of the state senate of Arkansas from 1833 to 1854, when he received the appointment from President Pierce to act as marshal of this district. There are not more than ten people of Nebraska who have seen this historic character or his picture, and it will add an excellent number to the collection of the society.

Assistant Lane Back Again.

Mr. Fletcher Lane of the physical department of the University, is slowly recovering from his illness. He was at the office yesterday for the first time after a week's absence. Mr. Lane wishes to thank his student friends for their thoughtfulness and kindness during his sickness. Their encouragement, he says, had more to do with his recovery than the doctor's medicine.

Miss Tyler at Chapel.

Miss Martha Tyler received a hearty welcome in chapel yesterday morning, when a large audience of students, conservatory friends and city folks awaited her appearance. She gave in beautiful style and an effective manner three short, well-selected numbers: "Love Me, If I Live," Fotte. "To the Moonlight," Bohm. "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," Nevin. That she was pleasing in the extreme was shown by the hearty applause and exclamations of delight. Certainly a crowded house is assured for tonight, when Miss Tyler will give an entire program under the auspices of the University Y. W. C. A. It is an opportunity which no one can afford to miss.

Record of Literary References

This book will be found of indispensable value to students and teachers in their study when they desire to take notes and references on important subjects.

The convenient and systematic arrangement of this record has been well commented on by eminent educators of this institution as a valuable adjunct in the student's library and study room.

The purpose of the book is to aid the student in systematically arranging his notes and references in Literature, History, Science, etc., in a way that will materially help him in his studies, and facilitate his work.

What some of our leading educators say concerning the usefulness and advantages of this record:

I have examined your "Record of Literary References" and consider it of great value to teachers and advanced pupils. It is a practical aid to the reader in systematically arranging his library study so as to make it available for future use.
