Amos Thomas, Will Hayward and D. E. Haggard, old University men, are here for the Phi Delt banquet.

Messrs. Howard Hansen, Harry Reimal, Buno Debler and Will Eccles, Beatrice men in the University, left yesterday for Beatrice on their bicycles.

The annual dance given under the auspices of the non-commissioned officers of the University cadet battalion occurred last night at Fraternity hall. The affair was well attended. A neat program done in scarlet and cream with 20 dances was used. Walt's orchestra furnished their usual enjoyable music.

The joint society party, which has become an annual University affair, was held in the art hall last night. The room was decorated simply but tastefully. At 9 o'clock a select crowd of about 150 people had gathered. They were met at the door by an introducing line consisting of the three presidents and one other person from each society. Each person was given twenty-five beans at the beginning of the evening and if found talking with one of his own society was fined a bean by one of the starred officers. At the end of the hour the beans were counted and prizes were awarded to the one having the largest number and the least. The first prize consisted of a bunch of carnations, while the booby prize was a toy whistle.

Each guest had brought small packages of something and passed a jolly half-hour trading. At the end of that time the packages were opened, much to the merriment of the holders. The packages contained everything that human ingenuity could invent from edibles to aesthetics.

The company now enjoyed a rare musical treat, consisting of the following program:

Cello solo Mr. Tullys
Piano Solo Miss D'Arnold
Recitation Miss Dunn

After the music ceased souvenir cards were given to each person. These contained parts of common quotations or proverbs so that the lady had one half, while the gentleman held the remainder. After all had found their partners by matching these quotations, light refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake and candy. The punch bowl stood at the north end of the room, where as many gathered as desired to so refresh themselves.

Mr. Clark and Mr. Tullys now took their posts at piano and cello respectively and led the company in a delightful grand march.

Midnight having arrived the crowd dispersed, pronouncing the 1904 party the best ever held.

This party and that of last year's when placed in contrast to the dance parties of a few years ago, conclusively show the superiority of the former. Every person in the respective societies is convinced that a large crowd can be entertained successfully and agreeably without the aid of dancing or cards, which are objectionable to many.

The guests of honor consisted of principally members of the faculty who were formerly affiliated with some one of the societies.

They were: Professor and Mrs. Caldwell, Professor and Mrs. Fossler, Professor and Mrs. Stuff, Dr. and Mrs. Ward, Dr. and Mrs. Pound, Dr. and Mrs. Almy, Mr. and Mrs. Dales.

State Farm Notes.

In the edition of the Twentieth Century Farmer for March 9th, there is an illustrated article on the recent excursion of agricultural students to the South Omaha stock yards.

Clarence E. Quinn, a Junior in the University, will leave early next week for the sub-station at North Platte. He will have charge of the sowing of the small grains; the laying off of the plats, and the taking of notes. He expects to be absent three or four weeks.

The department of agriculture is sending out seed corn to about 120 co-operative experimenters all over the state. The work is done under the auspices of the corn improvers' association, but the department of agriculture is supervising it.

The new horticultural building is completed, with the exception of the furnishing and office fixtures. It is not expected that any attempt will be made to hold classes in it this year, as the school of agriculture will close soon. The new building will be a great improvement on the present dark headquarters in the basement of the main building.

In the feed lots are about 50 head of range cattle, divided into five lots of 10 head each. Each lot is on different rations. Although the experiment has been going on but eight weeks it is easy to see the difference between those fed on a "wide" ration and those fed a "balanced" ration.

A GIRL HUNG about her lover's neck and pleaded with him to attend the meetings of the U. B. D. C.

The Smoot case will be discussed at the club tonight. It will incidentally include a discussion of the power of congress under the constitution to impose conditions upon which new states may be admitted to the Union.

Cases bearing upon the point will be found posted on the club's bulletin board.

Good speakers, an up-to-date question, and a good time. Everyone interested in parliamentary work and current topics is welcome.
