THE ROOTERS APPEAR

Many Men Turn Out Last Night to Join Squad.

The Rain Spills It.—Eight Men are Sent to the Training Table.

The announcement that the rooting squads would be organized at football practice yesterday afternoon brought out a large crowd, but the rain storm not only prevented any attempt at forming squads, but also compelled the men to abandon practice and seek safety in the gymnasium. While every day counts a lot at this time of the season, the men are still too soft to take any chances with a slippery field, which would probably cause a sprain or a broken rib for some unfortunate player. Before the rain began Booth amused the boys with a little tackling practice on the long-suffering dummy. Then the most promising candidates tried their skill at kicking goals from various different positions. This was a branch of the game in which we were very mediocre last season, and Booth doesn't feel that he can stand to lose a 6-5 game to Minnesota merely because he has no goal kickers.

The Grinnel game next Saturday will be a far better contest than the last two. While Grinnel has never shown championship form since defeating Minnesota six or seven years ago, she always puts a plucky and fast team on the gridiron, and Nebraska will have to win every first down she makes. Our last game with the Iowa lads was played two years ago on a muddy field, and resulted in six touchdowns for the Cornhuskers. The report is that Grinnel has a championship team this year and expects to take the state championship away from Iowa and Ames. If such is the case the game will be as exciting as any one could wish, and will give us a line on the outcome of the game against Iowa in November. In a game yesterday Augustana college scored two points against the Hawkeyes on a safety.

The training-table was started last evening at 410 North Twelfth street. Eight men go on at first, and others will be added as soon as they show up in particularly good form. The men who go on at once are Captain Benedict, ex-Captain Bender, Cy Mason, Glen Mason, Borg, Johnson, Mills and Eager.

Reserve seats for the Grinnel game go on sale this morning at Harley's Drug Store. Season tickets will be still on sale until Saturday, when they will be withdrawn. The price is still $3, which is a good investment for any one intending to see all the games.

A dispatch to one of the city papers says that Cotton, the big guard of the last two seasons, was being tried at tackle on the Yale scrubs, and that Captain Hogan had been unable to box him so that he could not break up the Yale offense. This is good news to Nebraskans, for it shows that a Cornhusker can hold his own anywhere. Under the eastern eligibility rules, Cotton will not be able to play on the Yale team during his first year there, but all of his well-wishers hope to see him get his Y the season after.

John Tobin, well known to Nebraskans as a former member of the Cornhuskers' team, and last year a member of Chicago University's team, left yesterday for the windy city, where he will again handle the pigskin.

CHORUS MEETS.

Adopts Elaborate Plans for the Year.

The Advanced chorus held its first meeting on Tuesday afternoon, and much enthusiasm was manifested.

This work has been very much enjoyed by those who have participated in it in past years, and a large attendance is anticipated this year.

An event of marked interest last year was the presentation at Christmas time of selections from Handel's great work, the "Messiah." This is the most universally loved of all oratorios and it is the purpose of those interested in this department to make its performance an annual occurrence. It is desired that all students who have previously sung this work, but who cannot attend chorus regularly, should occasionally come to rehearsals, and be ready to assist in the program, which will be given just before the holiday season. A Wagner program also is planned, which will attract many, while for the commencement concert it is probable that Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be given. This oratorio stands next to the "Messiah" in the hearts of the people, and its dramatic power never fails to rouse great enthusiasm. The following list of the works given during the past few years may be of interest: Handel's "Messiah," Haydn's "Creation," Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" and "Elijah," Cowen's "St. John's Eve," Coleridge Taylor's "Hawatha's Wedding Feast" and the "Death of Minnehaha," Mendelssohn's "St. Paul" and Verdi's opera, "Aida" in concert form.

The class meets three times weekly and members are given one hour credit each semester. The times of meeting are Tuesday and Thursday at 5 o'clock, and the same hour on either Friday or Saturday, as the class may decide. Students have the remainder of this week in which to register for this work and it is hoped that all who have good chorus voices will avail themselves of it.

The material already in the class is excellent, but the larger the number the better, as these large works need volume to make the best possible effect.

SWEeley PULLS OUT.

Assistant Base Ball Manager does Not Want Management.

Yesterday it was announced that J. F. Allen, Earl Eager and F. A. Sweeley, now assistant manager of the baseball team, were in the race for the management of the team. Since then Mr. Sweeley has withdrawn his name from the contest, leaving only two men to be considered at the meeting of the athletic board next Monday evening.

Mr. Sweeley's withdrawal created much surprise among those aware of it. His experience as assistant manager last year had made him a logical candidate for the management this year. Mr. Eager and Mr. Allen are, however, both excellent men for the place and either would doubtless contribute much to the success of the team. Mr. Eager is well known as halfback on last year's football team, and Mr. Allen is president of the class of 1905.

TROUBLE IS BREWING

Sophs Threaten to Interfere with Freshman Organization.

A Repetition of Last Year's Trouble is Imminent.

Constantly increasing indications point to a repetition this year of the class fighting that took place last year between the Freshman and Sophomore classes of the university. No meeting of the first year class has been announced yet and cannot be for over a week, on account of the chapel being engaged every day. In the meantime the Sophs, who have finished their own campaign are seeking a suitable opportunity to interfere with the plans of the Freshmen. At their class meeting last Tuesday a resolution was adopted instructing the president, Mr. Albert Wolf, to appoint a committee to take charge of the Freshman class meeting when it should be called, and to discourage as far as possible, any attempt the latter might make toward organization. This committee has not been appointed yet, but will be soon, and strenuous developments are hourly expected.

A representative of the Nebraskan interviewed several members of both classes yesterday. Without exception the Freshmen were calmly defiant of anything the Sophs might attempt, exhibiting considerable confidence in their superior numbers, while the Sophomores ridiculed the idea of the Freshies organizing at all, and declared that such a result would not be reached without something doing. What this will be, the future will show.

Among several names that have been already announced in connection with the presidency, are those of Mr. A. Swenson of Omaha, O. S. Shaw of Vesta, and A. H. Miller.

Before the class meeting, however, several names will doubtless be added to these, and an exciting contest is assured, whether the Sophs interfere or not.

Only one candidate for the presidency of the Junior class, which meets this morning, has announced himself at the hour of our going to press. This is Mr. Lawrence Sidwell of Omaha. Mr. Sidwell is very popular among his classmates and it is possible that he will be elected without opposition. Other candidates are expected to present their names this morning, however.

The men's lockers will not be assigned until the latter part of this week or the first of next. In the meantime the men desiring to use the gymnasium are at liberty to put temporary locks on lockers and use same until the regular assignment. Gym classes will not begin until next Monday at the earliest, and probably not until some time later.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes left yesterday afternoon for their home in St. Louis. They will be greatly missed by the girls of the University Woman's Building.

Mr. Hayes has done a great deal in making the building commodious and comfortable. A large gong has been placed on the second floor this week, as well as a long distance and an automatic phone. A grand Weber piano has been placed in the reception room.

OFFERS REPORT.

The College Settlement Board Issues Statement.

The convocation period yesterday morning was given up almost exclusively to the college settlement workers, who held a short business session in which they elected four student members to the board of directors. Professor Caldwell was then called upon for a report of the past year and he gave out the following:

Cash on hand Sept. 1, 1903.....	28
Debt, about	$ 60.00
Cash receipts for year Sept. 1, 1903, to Sept. 1, 1904.....	$524.93
Cash expenses for year.....	486.85

Balance Sept. 1, 1904.....	$ 38.36
----------------------------	----------

Donations—
Gas stove $ 18.40
Coal 60.00

After this report was given Dr. Bolton gave a very able and interesting talk on the purpose of the work at that institution. He said in part:

"We extend hearty welcome to all people who are interested in this kind of work. This settlement is not a charity organization but it is a laboratory for sociological experiments. It is a place to practice the theories that we have been teaching to find out whether or not they will be successful; it is an experiment station to try them before they are tried on the public."

He emphasized the point that it is important to teach people economy and that at the college settlement all these questions could be thoroughly tested.

The new student members of the board who were elected yesterday were Miss Lumry, Miss Woodsmall, John Foster and E. H. Willeford. The faculty members are Professors Grummann, Bolton and R. H. Smith, the latter being also chosen yesterday. The city members are J. E. Miller and G. W. Rhodes, with a third member to be chosen.

At drill last evening the men were assigned to companies. Company D has been revived this year, and it is expected that the organization will be made permanent, now that the system has been changed back to four semesters. Although no formal appointments will be announced until tonight, the four companies were in charge of the following men, who will doubtless be appointed captains: Company A, Lucian Eshelton; Company B, R. H. White; Company C, W. C. Ramsey; Company D, John Hyde. R. A. Town will probably be adjutant.

It is reported that two girls have made their appearance in the ranks of the Freshman law class.

A. H. Miller has been elected captain of the Academy football team to succeed John F. Dudgeon, who was compelled to resign because of very heavy work. Mr. Miller has held down the position of right guard on the team for the past two years and promises to make an excellent man for the captaincy.

Extensive improvements are being made in the law library room. New tables have been installed, and a new system of lights is being placed directly over them. An innovation in the way of a model court room in the room just opposite Dr. Pound's office is being prepared. It is equipped with judge's bench, witness stands and jury boxes, and fully fitted to initiate the embryo lawyers into the realities of actual practice.
