HAVE STIFF PRACTICE THE ENGINEERS MEET

Foot Ball Men Work Hard to Get in Shape Again.

A good stiff scrimmage practice was the order last night. After punting and catching for a short time the varsity was sent against the scrubs. The practice was very satisfactory to the rooters. Only one gain was made by the scrubs, while the varsity gains were long and consistent. Borg appeared in his old place at center and stood the scrimmage well. His ankle is rapidly getting into shape. Mills' arm still keeps him out of uniform, but he will be out today, probably. A telegram from Assistant Coach Westover, received last night, stated that Richardson was improving, but still weak.

It seems that the rooters' dearest ambition, the return of Billie Wilson, is not to be realized. Wilson's father was seen yesterday and said that he couldn't spare Billie from the farm. The rooters were more in evidence last night, as they should be. Some good, hearty yells came from the bleachers, but more men should turn out.

Last week Iowa rolled up 88 points on Cornell, Ia. The usual pluckiness of Cornell, together with the big score, has been giving Iowa's opponents of this season something to think about. The following is an excerpt from the Des Moines Register and Leader, which throws some light on Iowa's performance:

"Alumni of the University of Iowa are wrought up over the trick played by Cornell last Saturday in sending her second team to Iowa City to line up against the big varsity squad. Some of the other college men join in denouncing it as an unsportsmanlike act, while others laugh and take it as a huge joke. Cornell alumni maintain that Cornell has as good a right to send a second eleven to Iowa City, as Iowa has to send a second eleven to Mt. Vernon.

"If the Cornell coach, knowing that there was nothing but defeat for Cornell anyway, desired to send a bunch of subs for the Iowa team to run over, he had a perfect right to do so. If Cornell chooses to be represented by such a team it is not for Iowa to say otherwise. Of course Iowa was looking for a good practice game when the contract was made with Cornell. Iowa did not get a hard game—the score was 88 to 0—and that far the Iowa management has cause to be disgruntled.

W. R. Calvert of the '01 class has gone to Youngstown, Ohio, where he has secured work in an iron works as chemist.

Uniforms, chevrons and other equipment should be ordered at once in order to be ready by the last of the month. See our samples.—Paine's Clothing Store.

The Engineering Society Adopts Plans for Ensuing Year.

The Engineering society met for the first time this year, last evening, with a good attendance. Plans for the Engineers' Annual, which will appear some time early next semester, were discussed, and a committee appointed to select an appropriate name for the book. Mr. Warren is editor-in-chief, and R. H. White business manager.

A committee was also appointed to investigate the opening of the engineering library evenings. Owing to the provision in the constitution of the society, which sets the second meeting of the society as the time for the election of officers, no election was held last evening. It will take place on Wednesday evening, October 26.

ENGINEERING NOTES.

The first laboratory work of the semester in civil engineering 25 was done yesterday morning.

Arc lamps for the new city lighting company were tested in the electrical engineering laboratory yesterday.

Apparatus for standardizing metal chains and tape was installed in the civil engineering department yesterday.

"The Blue Print," the official publication of the Engineering society, will be issued some time in November. Mr. R. H. White is editor-in-chief.

The work in electrical engineering 3 has been somewhat retarded by the difficulty in securing enough copies of the text book, "Swoop's Practical Electricity," used in this course.

J. C. Holmes, who has been surveying for the Missouri Pacific in Kansas, was on the campus today. He will return Monday to take up work in the civil engineering department.

Charles J. McNamara, who has been doing civil engineering work in the Dakotas, visited his Kappa Sigma brothers here Tuesday. He hopes to be in school again next semester.

Owing to a scarcity of "Meriman's Hydraulics," the text book used in civil engineering 11, the class has been unable to do very successful work. The Co-op reports that the books will be here some time this week.

Athletic Board Chooses Popular Athlete Base Ball Leader.

Long Standing Contest Settled at Last.—Other Business.

The athletic board met in Doctor Clapp's office last evening and elected John Bender captain of the baseball team for the coming season. A report on the Omaha excursion was offered by Manager Davis, of the football team, substantially as already announced in The Nebraskan.

It was decided to take the band to Omaha, thus insuring good rooting at the Creighton game.

TO CONDUCT DEBATES.

The Debating League Will Meet Minor Nebraska Colleges.

The University League of Amalgamated Debating societies will meet in the Union society hall next Saturday evening for the purpose of organizing the old societies into a debating compact. Several of the men who are prominent in debating circles have determined that such an organization will be invaluable to them in their work.

The league will have no interstate work in view, but will conduct debates with some of the smaller colleges of Nebraska, as has been practiced in the past by the separate clubs.

Just how much enthusiasm is backing the movement is unknown, but it is understood that a large list of men who have taken argumentation under Professor Fogg, are interested and are anxious to make the proposed plans materialize.

There is little question but that this movement concurs in the sentiment of many students who are aiming at work that demands the ability for public speaking.

GOOD PROGRAM.

C. E. Bates Gives Pleasing Selections at Chapel.

One of the most enjoyable programs held in chapel this year was given yesterday. It was a Laurence Dunbar program given by Mr. C. E. Bates.

The selections given were taken from "The Home Life of the Negro." They were entitled "Encouragement," "A Little Brown Baby With Sparklin' Eyes," "Candle Lightn' Time," "The Old Front Gate," "When the Corn Pon's Hot," "The Signs of the Times" and "With the Lark." He also gave by request a selection from John Ross, entitled "Working the Young Uns."

Mr. Bates' work was exceedingly clever and was very well received by the audience.

Professor Fossler announced that a college song program would be given in the near future.

The initiation of Kappa Alpha Theta will take place next Saturday evening at the home of Camille Hall. After the initiation a banquet will be served to the new members and the alumni as well as the local members. Those to be initiated include Misses Emma Swezey, Helen Lawes, Silena Stuart, Stella Trimble, Agnes Langevin and Jessie Powers. Miss Hazel Davey, the latest pledge of this fraternity, will also be initiated.
