A $6,000 Y. M. C. A. building will soon be erected at the University of Virginia.

By the last state legislature $100,000 was laid aside in Minnesota for a new medical laboratory. Plans are now completed and the work will begin early in the fall.

A mine in Colorado will be leased by Yale, Harvard, the Colorado School of Mines and Columbia, in order that students may get the practical workings of the mine during the summer.

The faculty and alumni of Minnesota will erect a statue to President Northrup. This is the first instance of a statue being erected to a living president, in token of the esteem in which he is held.

In the annual Freshman, Sophomore scrap at Wisconsin, 600 students were ducked in Lake Mendota. The rush continued for three hours and a half and was one of the most strenuous in the annals of the university.

It is rumored that this year's registration for the Yale football squad is the smallest in ten years—only 35 men turning out. The registration at Harvard is 80 and at Princeton 70. The latter is having hard work to decide on the final make-up of her line.

It is no reflection upon Yale University that a man who last year played guard on its varsity eleven is now in jail for keeping a gambling house, while his wife has pleaded guilty to embezzling $2,000. It is a reminder, however, that the hunt for big and brawny athletics among minor elevens produces some queer results.—Providence Journal.

At Brown University it is planned to do away with gate receipts at athletic affairs. It is proposed that tickets be issued to the alumni and students of the university for the entire season, but the problem of dealing with the public has not yet been solved. Another plan suggests that the athletics be regularly endowed and the university students, as well as the public, be admitted free of charge.

Along the line of the anti-hat raising league at Wisconsin we have the sentiment of a prominent girl of that university, who declares that "too much time is wasted by dropping a chain of serious thought to smile upon young men. Consider, too," she says, "the sheer absurdity of smiling on the same young man a dozen times a day, as a girl is frequently compelled by politeness to do. This causes wrinkles and when continued during a four-year course, hastens old age. Cold weather is coming on apace and with the thermometer 80 degrees below zero a girl, no matter how healthy she is, cannot afford to waste heat by bestowing upon young men so many warm smiles, as a simple nod of the head suffices to indicate recognition."
