THE LAST PRACTICE

Cornhuskers Did Fast Work Last Night at Practice.

Speed in the Plays Increases.—Barwick May Not Play.

Last night's practice, the last before the team leaves for the north, was devoted to some punting and catching, but mostly to signal practice. Formation after formation was run through with speed and snap that looked good to those on the inside lines. Every man in the varsity squad was given a trial at the signals. The speed of the men has increased very noticeably and will be greater by Saturday, when Nebraska lines up for victory against the Big men of Minnesota. They are big, but weight can be overcome by speed. Their heavy players are hard to stop if started, but they won't get started. Coach Booth is quoted as saying that Nebraska will win and in this he voices the opinion of the university. Of course there are some afflicted with the "frigid feet," who balk at a stiff proposition and who say that Nebraska has no show, but these are few and far between. The team is going to Minnesota to win and if the railroads permit, the rooters are going en masse to cheer their team on to victory.

At present it looks as though Barwick, who had made good at quarter, will not be in the game Saturday. Monday at practice he wrenched his right shoulder severely and will be in poor shape by Saturday. This is a big loss, but Nebraska has faith in

CHARLES BORG, center. This is Borg's third year on the varsity. He first proved his ability to be classed with the best centers in the west in the Nebraska-Minnesota game, two years ago. Though practicing a good deal at guard, Borg will probably hold the pivotal position Saturday.

McDonald, who will probably take Barwick's place. As yet, the definite time the team leaves is not known, but it will be announced at mass meeting this morning and by bulletin. Last night Coach Booth had not decided just who were to be taken north, but they will probably be Benedict, Bender, Borg, C. Mason, G. Mason, Mills, Hunter, Johnson, Cotton, Shook, Barta, Speer, Standeven, Burns, Fenlon, Craig, Eager, Marsh, Barwick, McDonald and Weller.

The following list of names Minnesota sends as eligible to participate in intercollegiate football. From this list the team Nebraska meets Saturday will, of course, be chosen:

W. J. Bandelin, P. P. Brush, F. P. Burgan, G. L. Case, D. Clark, Earl Current, J. P. Cutting, O. N. Davies, J. L. Gleason, J. E. Hannon, F. R. Hunter, W. F. Ittner, J. E. Kremer, A. E. Larkin, Earl Luce, R. W. Marshall, A. G. Muessle, G. F. Oech, M. L. Ricker, O. E. Safford, C. R. Sanborn, D. D. Smith, F. A. Snyder, M. L. Strathern, C. A. Tschabold, A. R. Varco, Theo. Viat, M. Wiest, U. L. Burdick, Henry O'Brien, W. W. Thorpe—thirty-one men, in all.

ENGINEERS ELECT.

Short Business Meeting is Held Last Evening.

The Engineering society met last evening in Mechanics Arts Hall, room 211, and elected officers for the year. They are as follows:*

President, J. B. Gibbs.
Vice-president, L. W. Turner.
Recording secretary, O. F. Stevenson.
Corresponding secretary, A. Heimrod.
Treasurer, J. W. Miller.

No other business of importance was transacted. The society will meet again two weeks from last evening.

THE PEDAGOGICAL CLUB.

First Meeting Held Last Night.—Objects of Club.

The Pedagogical club has two objects—first, to give its members greater opportunities to meet one another socially, that is, to get acquainted; second, to give information and suggestions calculated to be helpful to teachers in getting and holding positions, and in the general work of teaching. The first meeting was held last evening.

After some preliminary remarks as to the exigencies which confront the university in recommending teachers, Professor Lucky gave one of his helpful talks, taking as his subject "The Double Life." Other addresses will be provided at succeeding meetings. They will give some hint as to what it is to be to a genuine teacher, and will describe some of the situations and conditions which the new teacher is likely to meet. The meetings of the club are open to all who are looking toward the profession of teaching. They are held each month on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Due notice will be given as to the date.

MAY MAKE A RATE

Somewhat Indefinite Assurance That Excursion Will Go.

Minneapolis Road Wants Job, Something Sure Today.

Up to the time of going to press no great cut in rates had been announced. A rate of $12.40 has been made for some time, but this is not low enough to be considered. Yesterday an Omaha-Minneapolis road stated that they would make a lower rate, but were not prepared to say just how low it would be.

If the rate is low enough every rooter in school owes it to himself and to his school to go and make the victory more glorious. But low rate or not, let everybody turn out this morning to mass meeting. Show that we're with the team right from the start, just as we've always been. Bring your voice with you to the mass meeting.

MAY PLAY BASKET BALL.

Game Possible With City Y. M. C. A. Friday Night.

It is possible that a game of basketball may be arranged for Friday evening between the university team and the city Y. M. C. A. Unusual interest is being taken in the game this fall, and the prospect is excellent for a champion team, in spite of the great interest in football just at present. Practice will be held in the armory this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Bess T. Dumont of the class '04, is physical director in the East Side High School of Rochester, N. Y.

W. M. Johnston, an old university law student, is practicing law at Billings, Mont.

Postal Cards—the latest thing in burned leather, hand colored, 10c each. "Cowgirl," "Mining Girl" and "Gipsy Girl" posters each 15c. Card board, mat board and all supplies suitable for room decorations. Matted and unmatted pictures 5c to 25c each. The Lincoln Book Store.

ZOOLOGISTS MEET.

An Interesting Program Tuesday Night. Several Papers Read.

The Zoological club meet Tuesday evening in the zoological library, instead of Monday evening, as announced. The program was as follows:

R. H. Wolcott, "Development and Nature of the Neuroglia," by Hardesty.
R. T. Young, "Early Development of the Cestodes," by Saint Remy.

I. B. Sturdevant, "Embryonic Development of Anoplocephala," by Saint Remy.

The papers were illustrated by diagram, and the program was a very interesting one, the members continuing until a late hour the discussion of the papers.
