Editorial Remarks

OUR FOOT BALL NUMBER.

With the consuming interest that is now being shown in football, the Daily Nebraskan believes that there is no time like the present to make announcement as to our plans for commemorating the present season.

At the Thanksgiving day game with Illinois we shall place on sale a splendid football number, which we believe will surpass anything of the kind ever before attempted at Nebraska. Plans for this number, although not finally shaped as yet, are now being worked upon, and although we cannot this early go into close detail on the matter, we think we can promise a souvenir that will fittingly record a season which we are sure will be one of the most successful the Cornhuskers have ever experienced.

One of the chief features of the magazine will, of course, be the illustrations. As an example of what we are planning to do in this line, we would call attention to the half-tone of Captain Benedict, which we publish in today's paper. Although the quality of paper used in the daily issue of The Nebraskan is not good enough to bring out the cut to the best possible advantage, we are sure that the illustrative features of the football number will assure it popularity, if nothing else accomplishes that result.

We shall make further and more definite announcements as to the literary, as well as illustrative, features of the football number as soon as our plans are a little more matured. In the meanwhile, if you have any suggestions which would be of aid to us, we should be very glad to receive them. We want the football number to be all that The Nebraskan's name signifies—a true representative of Nebraska.

In Swell Company

You'll never go anywhere in any company where you will not feel and be well dressed if you wear Armstrong clothes. That's the reason we tell you so much about them. They are worth talking about, worth wearing, and what is more, they are worth paying for. They are the kind of clothes stylish young fellows like. The most severe clothes critics in the world are the young men of today.

Our Suits and Overcoats Selling at $10, $12.50, $15, $18, $20 and up to $30 have made a wonderful hit among university men. Better garments were never made possessing the limit of style and good looks.

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS.

Adopts Plans for Raising Rest of Temple Pledge.

The Dramatic club held an important meeting at convocation period yesterday morning. In spite of the football rally a large number of old and new members were present.

The most important matter under discussion was the means of raising money to cover the club debt which amounts to $125. Two plans had been suggested—one to give a vaudeville in the chapel, the other to engage the company of "Everyman," now playing in the east, for one performance. If the latter plan were acted upon, it would mean the renting of the Oliver theater as the chapel theater, it was found, is about half as wide as the company requires. After much discussion it was finally decided that the play of "Everyman" be given about the 1st of December. The company giving the play is a very excellent one and they demand a large sum of money for the engagement, so that a full house is required to bring the necessary funds into the hands of the Dramatic club.

The play "Everyman" is a revival of the old morality plays and its production has caused much comment in the east for the last few years. Miss Howell is promised the aid of the English department in her venture, as well as the backing of many prominent Lincoln people. Each member has also pledged himself to sell a certain number of tickets or pay the delinquency, so the success of the affair is already assured.

The meeting closed with the signing of the constitution by the new members.
