Chancellor Andrews left last evening for Chicago, where he will attend the seventieth annual convention of Delta Upsilon, of which he is a member. Messrs. C. A. Davis, F. Day, M. P. Campbell and E. R. Walton of the local chapter, are also in attendance, the first two as delegates.

Among prominent men to take part in the convention will be Judge E. B. Sherman, honorary president of the fraternity; Hon. Charles G. Dawes, acting president; President Francis of Brown University; President Jordan of Stanford University; W. B. Chamberlin, editor of the Minneapolis Journal.

THE FIRST DEBATE.

Class in Argumentation Begins Active Work Today.

The first debate of the semester in rhetoric 17—the advanced course in oral discussion—takes place this afternoon in U. H. 106, at 2 o'clock. The speakers will be Charles A. Sawyer and Frank A. Brookings on the affirmative and Albert M. Levy and J. G. H. Hansen on the negative of the proposition that the direct primary system should be introduced into Nebraska. The debate will as usual be followed by criticism of it, the class meeting two consecutive hours. The debates in this course, as well as those in Rhetoric 15, are, as heretofore, open to visitors.

TO BEGIN SERIES.

Prof. Ott's Lecture Sunday the First of Many.

The first of a series of twenty men's meetings will begin next Sunday at the Oliver. Last year the interest of the men in them was exceedingly great. The character of the meetings could not fail to attract. This year even greater efforts have been put forth to make these meetings more successful and attractive. Men of national prominence and distinguished ability have been secured in advance.

Next Sunday Dr. Ed Amherst Ott, who made such a hit here some time ago in his lecture "Sour Grapes," will speak on "The Masculine Christ." He is a man of keen intellect and pleasing personality, inspiring those whom he addresses. Miss Maud Kendall will render some vocal solos.

There is no charge for admission and every man in the city is invited. The doors open at 3:30 p. m.
