A GREAT OVATION

Three Thousand Gophers Meet Cornhuskers at Train.

Bender Creates Sensation at the Big Mass Meeting.

Minneapolis, Oct. 28.

(Special to The Nebraskan.)

The team arrived this morning in excellent condition and is now busily preparing for the game. Without exception the men are in high spirits, and thoroughly believe in winning against the Gophers.

Minnesota received the team with open arms, and is treating them with a hospitality that will make Nebraska exert herself to equal. An enormous crowd of between two and three thousand students met the Cornhuskers at the train, and escorted them to their quarters. A great mass meeting was held on the campus shortly after, and enthusiasm was rampant. Johnny Bender was called upon for a speech, and responded with some witty remarks that completely took the hearts of his hearers.

The Gophers are confident of winning, but are preparing for the game of their lives. A tremendous audience is expected at the game.

F. A. SWEETLEY.

O'Loughlin, the well known football critic who saw Nebraska defeat Knox College last Saturday made the following statement to a Minnesota Daily reporter:

"Nebraska is not going to be the easy thing some appear to think. Booth has a lot of heavy men and the result of his Princeton play and practice is manifest. The team is quick to charge, on springs it looks like, and they play with considerable dash and ginger.

Borg, Mills, Hunter, Cotton, the Masons, Benedict, Eager, Bender, Johnson and others are all strong, husky young men and in splendid condition.

"Most of the stories sent out from Lincoln as to injuries and weakness were of the smoke order. Borg went into the Knox play in the second half Saturday and for a cripple has wonderful use of his legs.

Bender, to my mind, is the star man of the team, with Benedict a close second. The colored lad, Johnson, is a ground gainer and is amusing as he is protected from injury by a mass of padding and shields of every description. He looks like a preambulating football gear advertisement but it does not appear to hurt his speed in the least.

"Mills, the giant, about whom so much has been said, is nothing more or less in my opinion than a talking point about which Nebraska has spoken with genuine Platte fluency while attracting attention from the development of a scrappy, aggressive team. In the Knox game he did get through the Galesburg line once or twice but I think he fell through, more than pushed. He presents a broadside of rib, hip and shoulder to the opposing linemen and then waits for trouble to come to him. Cotton is a good looking player having size and weight but after all it drifts back to Bender. This fellow is going great guns at present and to me he looked fully as fast as Fred Hunter on burning up grass down the field. Benedict is not so fast a runner but he is a wonderfully effective dodger and outstrips his offense to rely on his own powers.

"The defense of Saturday was weakened by the absence of one or two linemen, Booth taking no avoidable chances of injuring men before the Minnesota game. Knox went over the line for repeated gains, but Booth declared that he would have the hole plugged up by Tuesday. He has kept his promise, as Hunter is in now, I see, in Shook's place. The Nebraska offense is faster than the defense and they have one or two toe specialists who punt from fifty-five to sixty yards without apparent effort. They did not undertake any goals from field and appeared a bit off on their goal kicking. If I made no mistake in sizing them up they will carry the fight right to Minnesota and will be dangerous if they get near the Gopher goal. It will take hard work to beat them.

"So, according to the above, this game will not be the cinch that so many people have been expecting.

"It will not be a repetition of the Ames game, nor any other game that has been played this season. Nebraska is working hard and intends to not only score on us, but to beat us.

"Our boys are going to try and prevent all this and want the rooters to turn out in full force with colors and noise and help them as best they can."

Here is another sample of what the cornhuskers will be greeted with this afternoon:

(Tune: "O'Reilly.")

"Minnesota, Minnesota,

It's a shame what you did to Dakota,

But there's Wisconsin, Lawrence, Nebraska, Grinnell,

Who stand no more show than a snowflake in

Minnesota, Minnesota,

We'll wipe up the earth with Nebraska

Others may talk, but we'll win in a walk,

It's a lead pipe cinch for Minnesota."

MANY BIG GAMES.

Championship Contests on Several Gridiron

Many games of considerable importance will be played on eastern as well as western gridirons this afternoon. The ones Nebraska will be chiefly interested in, next to the one in Minneapolis, are the Illinois-Chicago and the Iowa-Ames contests. Illinois is not expected to win against the Maroons, but some idea as to her strength may probably be gained from her showing. Iowa is expected to win from Ames, although the game, judging from Ames' work two weeks ago against Minnesota, ought to be a very close one. Since Nebraska plays Iowa next Saturday, interest in this game is second only to the game with the Gophers. The following is a list of the big games:

Minnesota vs. Nebraska, at Minneapolis.

Pennsylvania vs. Harvard, at Cambridge, Mass.

Yale vs. Columbia, at New York.

Princeton vs. Cornell, at Ithaca, N. Y.

Layette vs. Manhattan, at Easton.

Carlisle vs. Virginia, at Norfolk.

Dickinson vs. Lehigh, at South Bethlehem.

Syracuse vs. Dartmouth, at Middletown.

Chicago vs. Illinois, at Chicago.

Iowa vs. Ames, at Iowa City.

Kansas vs. Washburn, at Topeka.

FOLLOWS THE TEAM.

Jack Best Leaves to Join The Cornhuskers.

Owing to the decision of the football committee of the athletic board to cut down the expenses of the Minnesota game, Jack Best did not accompany the team on its northern trip Thursday. Realizing that it would be senseless to hope for victory with Jack not on the field of battle, a self-appointed committee of two, consisting of W. J. Woods and Frank Beers, took the matter up yesterday and in less than half an hour raised by popular subscription an amount ample for Jack's expenses. The latter left last evening to join the team. He will reach Minneapolis this morning. Victory is now assured.

Several Nebraska men left for Minneapolis yesterday in spite of the high rates. The vast majority of the students, however, still remain in Lincoln, and will watch the progress of the game by bulletin.

BERGE TO TALK.

Democratic Candidate for Governor at Convocation.

Hon. George W. Berge, democratic and populist candidate for governor, will speak at convocation Monday morning. The subject of Mr. Berge's talk is not known, but it is expected that a large crowd will hear him. Mr. Berge is a resident of Lincoln, and has many friends in the university. Governor Mickey spoke in chapel about two weeks ago, and made a good impression. Much interest is being taken in the campaign by university people, and the announcement that Mr. Berge will talk, will be greeted with much interest.

ACADEMICS TO PLAY.

The Lincoln Academy Will Show Omaha How.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the academy team will meet the team from the Omaha high school on the university campus. Much interest is manifested in the game, because it is the first time the two teams have met, and is the first time the academy team has played a local game this year. The teams will line up as follows:

| Omaha       | Academy   |
|-------------|-----------|
| Beers       | Morgan    |
| Fearle      | Miller    |
| Carey       | Bigelow   |
| Wilkins     | Walters   |
| Loring      | Moore     |
| Parkinson   | Emery     |
| Benson      | Evans     |
| Sounders    | Dunn      |
| Burnett     | Myers (c) |
| Stephen     | Birkner   |
| Shielus (c) | Hall      |

NEARLY FINISHED

Chemical Laboratory is Almost Completed.

The Building Has Been Changed Materially Throughout.

The extensive improvements which have been in course of installation in the chemical laboratory for several months are now practically completed, and the building will be ready for use in a very short time. The laboratory is now one of the best equipped in the west, and will add much to the efficiency of the department.

The remodeling of the laboratory involved extensive changes in all the rooms. The heating apparatus, ventilating, and plumbing have been replaced with new material. The general laboratory on the first floor has been removed to the third floor. The assay laboratory has been enlarged to almost double its former size, and the old store room has been made into a technical laboratory. On the second floor the old lecture room has been enlarged and will be used as an analytical laboratory. The offices on the east side of the third floor have not been changed materially. The qualitative laboratory has been converted into a large store room.

The new underground store room on the east side of the building was completed during the summer. It provides a room 16x65 feet in dimensions. It is to be used as a general store room supplementing the store room in the laboratory building.

The finish of the interior of the building has been carefully looked after. All the laboratory tables and hoods are of white oak, and the table tops and troughs of alabaster stone, which is practically acid proof. It is owing to the fact that some of this stone was broken that the building is not entirely ready for occupancy at the present time.

The laboratory walls and ceilings are of enameled steel—the enameling being for the purpose of preventing corrosion from gases. New floors have been laid throughout, those in the basement being of cement.

The building has been refitted from top to bottom with new plumbing, including gas, water and sewer pipes and additional sets of pipes for compressed air and acetylene gas. All the pipes are exposed, making repairs easy. For ventilating the building a large pressure fan in the basement has been installed which will draw in 23,000 cubic feet of air per minute. This air is passed, in the winter time, through large stem coils and heated to a comfortable temperature before it is forced through the building. Besides this all the rooms will be fitted with vents that will carry out the gases and foul air. The hoods in the laboratories will have a separate ventilating system of their own. Large fans will draw the foul air up through the attic and out through the roof. All these fans will be operated by electric motors. The heating apparatus has been entirely overhauled and renewed.

The changes in the laboratories have been modeled after the most practical appliances in the best laboratories of this country and of Europe. Superintendent of Construction Chovins and Prof. Nicholson were in communication with directors several months before the plans for the changes were drawn up.
