Editorial Remarks

The announcement made in another column of today's Nebraskan, that Nebraska is to be permitted another representative at Oxford, under a Cecil Rhodes' scholarship, should be productive of a hearty response from men students of the university who desire to complete their education at so famous a school as Oxford. Last year two students from the university of Nebraska qualified for entrance into Oxford, out of four who took the examinations. The fact that the examinations are to be held in January instead of April, as last year, should, however, be taken as a warning by those who intend to enter the race this year, to begin preparing for the examinations at once. From what the Nebraskan has been able to learn, these examinations are not hard, and the fact that one has already been held should furnish a good indication as to just what is expected of those taking them. A much larger number of men should try for the scholarships this year than did last year, for these reasons.

McCLARY TO TALK.

Men's Mass Meeting to be Addressed by Noted Man.

Next Sunday at 4 p. m. Dr. Thomas McClary of Minneapolis will give an address at the Olovir theatre on "The Evolution of the Spiritual Life."

Dr. McClary is a speaker of distinguished ability and great power. Wherever he has lectured he has won the approval of all and has been constantly in demand for lectures.

K. M. White of Boston, Mass., says in a letter to Dr. McClary "you seem to have touched the hearts of New England people and they want you back again. I am positive that I am going to fall short of your time. Believe I could book six weeks easily."

Dr. McClary lectured in Hartford, Conn., last year and the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. there, has this to say: "Dr. McClary, addressed the Men's Theatre Service in our city on Sunday afternoon, March 13, and on Monday evening lectured in our Lyceum course on 'The Mission of Mirth.' Dr. McClary was listened to by large audiences at both of these gatherings. His address on Sunday afternoon was scholarly, fervent and full of spiritual power. He spoke on the evolution of Spiritual Life," and the impression upon the audience was very marked, and splendid results followed. His lecture Monday night on "The Mission of Mirth" was one of the best in our course. He kept the audience in an almost continuous roar of laughter, but there was throughout an undercurrent of wisdom and instruction that will give the people who heard him much food for thought for months to come." The doors of the Oliver will open promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Special music will be provided. No charge for admission.

"The rooters were over confident - fortunately the team was not. What might have been the result if the team had shared in this too optimistic feeling is hard to say.

"Minnesota has no cause for disappointment. The Nebraska team has been trained for this one great contest and they put up a magnificent game.

"The Gopher team was barely past the half way stage in its slow development; two of its best players are little more than in condition; and for several of the men it was the first big game.

"That we won is enough; but we did more. We showed that we have a wonderful fast backfield, capable of gaining at will against a first class team. We demonstrated the strength of our line, even against as powerful a backfield as Nebraskas. And we showed that we had the spirit in the face of adversity, which, most of all is necessary to win.

"The Gopher team is a great team; in spite of our Chicago critics, it is a championship eleven and it is going to lick Wisconsin so badly that there will be no question of its position."

Rumor, emanating from the university of Chicago, has it that a break in the athletic relation between that university and the universities of Michigan and Wisconsin is imminent.

The trouble is based on the neglect or refusal of Michigan and Wisconsin to take on themselves the liability for the accident which happened during their game on Marshall Field in 1902. At that time a grand stand constructed by materials shipped from Madison collapsed and forty or fifty persons were injured, one person dying a week later.

In case such a rupture should occur Chicago would doubtless look to Nebraska for a game each year. As it is, Nebraska has grown too formidable for most of the Big Nine schools.

We are no longer a good practice for our larger neighbors, but we occupy a certain fixed position in the football world, abreast of the best.

We are not yet in the Big Nine and the conference teams have an aversion, and a reasonable one, to being beaten by a team not in the conference, and so Nebraska finds it difficult to schedule games with the Big Nine teams. Chicago, if deprived of the opportunity to play the two northern universities, would doubtless look to Nebraska for a game.

It is hardly probable, however, that any such break will occur. Its detrimental results to collegiate athletics would be far reaching. The universities in dispute will, of course, see this and will doubtless make every effort to fix things up amicably.

The Famous will give a special discount of 10 per cent to university students on all purchases of millinery, kid gloves, corsets, etc.

Magee & Deemer

Again not enough men turned out for basket ball practice to warrant opening up the chapel. Practice was good, passing and goal throwing being much improved over former attempts. More men, however, should turn out, as a few too few handicap the regular men, and make it impossible for all to get a chance at the game, while a few more will make it possible for everybody to get in the game.

Secretary Ringer of the Y. M. C. A. has received notice from the secretary of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian associations, announcing the week of prayer for young men to be held from November 13 to 19, inclusive. The meetings will be held at 12:20 to each day. The topics of each meeting may be had upon inquiry of secretary.
