Campus Gleanings

Ross Drullner, Law, '01, was a campus visitor yesterday.

Phi Gamma Delta initiated Clyde Bullock of Norfolk, and John Burkett of Lincoln, Tuesday evening. Among the older members present were Dr. Ross, Revs. Jones and Batten.

The members of Rhetoric 17, the class in advanced argumentation, will debate before the class in Rhetoric 13 in U106 this afternoon. The debate will be on the Initiative and Referendum. This question was debated by the class last week, and brought forth high commendation from Prof. Fogg, who considers that a repetition of it will be profitable to the members of the beginning class in argumentation. The speakers will be Hanlen and Sawyer, on the affirmative, and Brookings and Levy on the negative. This debate is open to all who are interested in forensic work.

DIRECTORY SOON OUT

Y. M. C. A. Directory Will Soon Appear.

The students' directory, containing the names of every university student, his address, home town, organization affiliations, and his telephone number, if he has one, will be out about Saturday. It will be a much more valuable book than any year previous, as it comes out early in the year instead of the second semester, as it has formerly. It will be of the same size and appearance as previous books, except that advertisements will appear on the cover pages only instead of occupying almost half the book. An improvement which will meet with much approval is the giving of the telephone numbers for all students who have them. Persons who live at fraternities do not have their telephone numbers given, as it is an easy matter to find the number of the frat. house, where the person in question is easily reached.

Mr. Hugh Wallace, chairman of the publishing committee, has charge of the work, and deserves credit for the book appearing so early in the season. The Daily Nebraskan will do the printing.

U. P. Timecard Changes.

The train for Omaha leaves at 9:55 a. m., returning from Omaha arrives at 8:45 p. m. The Stromsburg train arrives at 11:35 a. m., and will leave for Stromsburg at 6:20 p. m.
