Illustrated Lecture.
A break in the usual program will occur at the men's mass meeting at the Oliver Sunday at 4 p. m., when Mr. Gilbert McClurg of Colorado Springs will deliver his new lecture on "Panoramic Colorado." Mr. McClurg's lecture is illustrated by 200 rare and beautiful lantern projections. The New York Sun says of this lecture, "Fine historically, descriptively and pictorially." The lecture, last season, crowded the halls of well-known academies, chambers of commerce and universities of America. Mr. McClurg has a wide reputation as an intensely interesting and entertaining speaker, having the power of holding his hearers to the closest attention.

Another announcement of great interest is that Mrs. Lila G. English, soprano, will sing.

Notwithstanding the high merit of this program, no admission will be charged and every university man is invited to take advantage of it.

Doors open at 3:30 p. m.

Sophomore Play.
The Sophomore play committee have announced Saturday evening, February 25th, as the date on which they will present the class play. The play is an up-to-date comedy in three acts, founded on a romance of the Spanish-American war. It is most appropriate for amateur players and with the experienced and talented cast which has been selected cannot fail to make a "hit." The play proper will be seasoned with specialties between the acts. Two youthful students will add to the entertainment by entering into the sacred bonds of matrimony before the production.

A few more months and college days and associations will end for many. Do not neglect the opportunity afforded now to preserve for the future, portraits that will recall many happy reminiscences. Townsend is producing effects that surpass anything yet produced in photography. Studio 226 South Eleventh street.

Two more men turned out Thursday afternoon for a try-out at battery work and Captain Bender expects some good work from them. They are the Turner brothers of Grand Island, who played together for a number of years while attending college there.

A beautiful new pen and ink poster, drawn by J. P. Harrison, has been put up in honor of the Glee Club concert. The skill of Mr. Harrison as an artist is unsurpassed in the University and his new production has only added to his glory.

H. R. 169 that was presented before the house the other day and afterwards referred to the committee, has been favorably recommended back to the house. This bill will be taken up in the near future and voted upon by the house.
