NON. COM. DANCE

Last Regular University Dance Before Lent.

Arrangements Completed — Committee Expects Large Crowd.

The annual dance given by the non-commissioned officers of the cadet battalion will be held tomorrow night at Fraternity hall. As a partial return to the old custom the committee in charge have reduced the price of tickets from $1.50 to $1.25. The usual good crowd which always attends the Non-Com. is expected to attend this one which promises to be as good as the best. Walt's orchestra will furnish the music for a program of twenty regular and two extra numbers, as follows:

1. Waltz.
2. Two-Step.
3. Waltz.
4. Two-Step.
5. Waltz.

The committee to give the dance is: Q. M. Sgt. Mason Wheeler, Chairman.

Sgt. A. L. Lott, Master of Ceremonies.

Sgts. Lester Syford, Alfred Nye, Hal Roberts.

P. B. K. Selections.

The Phi Beta Kappa selections made from this year's senior class will be announced about the middle of March. It has heretofore been customary for the secretary of the society to announce them just before Easter, but owing to the fact that Easter comes so late this year they will probably be announced this month. The object of announcing the selections earlier is to give the newly elected members an opportunity to enjoy some of the benefits of the organization before they leave school. The rules of the society provide that from one-tenth to one-sixth of the class may be chosen according to the discretion of the committee. Eighteen students of the senior class were successful last year in securing the coveted honor. Those chosen last year all had an average of ninety or over and it is probable that some such standard will be set this year.

The reports of the various University professors are now being received by Secretary Clements.

THE MILITARY QUESTION

Debate Saturday Night Will be of Great Student Interest.

The Students' Debating club has finally decided to make a University event of their debate to be held Saturday evening. The chapel could not be obtained for that time, but U 106 will accommodate a good audience, and will doubtless be filled to overflowing for the question of military drill at the University of Nebraska is one in which every man in the institution has more or less interest. Instead of the usual Saturday night club debate the breadth and importance of the question as adopted has caused partial re-selection of the men to uphold the two sides. Messrs. O'Gara and Black will speak on the affirmative and Messrs. Thompson, Fenlon and King will defend the "military of it." A careful report is to be kept of the points made by each side in the debate, and will be placed on file where they can be readily referred to for future reference in case anything should arise in which such data might be needed. The question to be discussed is, "Resolved, That military drill as in vogue at the University is un-American." The debate will begin at 8:30.

Mrs. Stanford Dead.

News was received last evening that Mrs. Stanford, wife of the founder of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, was dead. This is sad news to all educational leaders in the United States as this woman has been the fostering mother of Stanford University since her husband's death some years ago. To her Stanford owes its standing as a University. All her wealth and energy has been used to promote the interests of this school in the past few years. Stanford now stands as one of the leading schools in the country and is the Harvard of the Pacific coast.

Pan-Hel. Committee.

A meeting of the various fraternity delegates to the Pan-Hellenic Hop committee has been called for this morning at 11 in U 110. The positions of chairman and master of ceremonies on this committee are sought after more than similar positions on any other social committee, and this year the fight for supremacy promises to be the bitterest for years. So far the two contending factions seem to be about evenly divided, but the exact strength of each is not known. For several years, almost without any opposition, one certain clique in school has had control of the Pan-Hel, but from appearances some pretty strong opposition will be encountered at the election today.

First Outdoor Work.

Yesterday afternoon the baseball fans had the first opportunity to see the men at outdoor practice. But little work was done, as no regular practice was ordered, but this afternoon all the candidates have been ordered out on the diamond at 2:30 for the first good practice of the year. One year ago the men had had the advantage of some two weeks of outdoor work and this lateness in starting will be made up only by the hardest kind of work. Yesterday the men practiced batting and throwing for a short time, and this afternoon systematic work will begin in earnest. Captain Bender urges that every baseball man in school put in an appearance on the field this afternoon at 2:30. Fielders are wanted, especially.

The first debate of Rhetoric 16 announced to have been held in U 106 yesterday afternoon was postponed because of the inability of Prof. Fogg to be present. The date of the debate has not yet been decided.

Owing to a conflict with Y. M. C. A. banquet tomorrow night the Palladian-Union basketball game has been postponed. The date of the game will be announced later.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

Big Association Event Comes Tomorrow.

Good Speakers, Good Menu and a Good Time to be Had.

The long looked for, much talked of Y. M. C. A. banquet will be held tomorrow evening at 7:45 at the Lindell hotel. As the list of toasts shown below will indicate the talks will be of interest to every University man, and every University man is urged to be present. This is a banquet given by the Y. M. C. A., but plates are not limited to members of the Association. Last year an eight course dinner was served, but this year two more courses have been added. The tickets are 75 cents.

Rev. Swearingen.

Rev. H. C. Swearingen, of the Presbyterian church of Lincoln, spoke at Convocation yesterday on the "Strength and the Weaknesses of an Age of Criticism." The speaker stated that the time is about upon us when a different type of mind will be necessary, that the work of tearing down in all lines of education was about over and that the construction must soon begin. He thought that the tending of the day was too much towards the development of brilliant men, rather than the man of a broad, deep, and constructive mind. He considered that the application of the mind twenty-five years hence would be along very different lines. That the demand would be for the man to construct, to organize, to systematize and to put the best thoughts together so that they will be adaptable to the present needs. He suggested that the students take the matter under consideration and prepare themselves for this kind of work. He said that they should choose work which would develop their power of generalization.
